WITHHOLD ACTION ON BRANDY TAX MEASURE IN CONFERENCE

Conferees Approve General Rates Provided On Liquor Schedule

ADOPT SUGAR RATES

Compromise May Be Effected On Tariff On Iron and Ores

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.— Democratic conferees of the Senate and the House today deferred action on the proposal to put the full internal revenue tax on brandies used in fortifying sweet wines, although the general rates on the liquor schedule were approved. This is taken to mean that the matter will re re-opened within the next few days and discussion entertained. The date for the hearing has not been set.

Rapid progress was made on the tariff bill as a whole, the conferees approving the earthenware and glass schedules with slight changes, the sugar schedule with its free sugar provision and for the new rates extended to March 1, 1914, the tobacco schedule, the wool schedule, and all of the agricultural schedule, with exception of the proposed banana tax and the countervailing duty on wheat. In the metal schedule the conferees struck the first snag, and after several hours discussion of the entire matter, was passed over to be taken up later. Majority Leader Underwood and the other House conferees were insistent that the Senate action placing ferro-manganese, pig iron, steel ingots, slabs and blooms on the free list should be receded from. They contend that too much revenue is sacrificed and there is a growing opinion that the Senate conferees eventually will agree to small revenue duties on the articles.

Contrary to the general exception little difficulty was encountered in the agricultural schedule, the House conferees agreeing quickly to free cattle. However, the dispute on the countervailing duty on wheat is yet to be settled. As to the banana tax, it is generally known that the President thinks it should be stricken out. This would mean a loss in revenue of approximately two and a half million dolars.

In all of the schedules slight changes were made, the Senate receding from amendments where decreases in rates were made. This policy, it is said, will be maintained through the conference. Underwood insisting that too much revenue has been cut out of the bill. In the earthenware schedules the Senate receded from some of its amendmetns, increasing the rates on higher grades of mica.

PARENTS FIGHT FOR DEAD BODY OF BABE

Police of Two Towns Called To Guard House Where Child Lies

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—The police of Newark and of Irving, a suburb, guarded today the front and back doors to the home of Allen Krichman, a house built on the dividing line, where lay the dead body of Krichman's seven months' old child. Meantime, Krichman and his wife each with a retinue of supporters, planned to bury the baby in different cemeteries. Practically the entire neighborhood has taken one side or the other.

The child was to have been buried in Irvington but the funeral was postponed because Mrs. Krichman feared her husband would steal the body.

He wanted the baby buried in a cemetery in East Orange. When refused admittance to the house, Krichman chopped down the door and the police of both towns were summoned.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES BECAUSE OF ARREST

Kern County Man Sues Grand Jury, Jastro and Several Others

(Special to the Republican.)

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 12.—As a result of an indictment for perjury by the last grand jury, Dennen today tired farmer and Progressive leader, by the last grand jury, Dennen today filed a suit for two hundred thousand dollars damages against twelve members of the grand jury, Supervisor H. A. Jastro, E. M. Roberts, Chairman of the County Central Committee, Alfred Harrell, editor of the Democratic paper, and district attorney Rowen Irwin, alleging malicious prosecution.

The charge against Dennen was based on his verification of a complaint contesting the election of Jastro as supervisor and was later dismissed by Judge Murphey of Mono county on demurrer on ground that Dennen swore to the compliant on knowledge and belief, and that an indictment for perjury could not be sustained.

SAYS TROUSERS ARE MORE MODEST THAN SLIT SKIRT

OAKLAND, Sept. 12.—Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Decoto drew a comparison between the slit skirt of present day fashion and plain army trousers in an address he made before Police Judge Mortimer Smith today and upholding the trousers, figuratively he sought and obtained the release of Miss Florence Leshker, who had been arrested for wearing a khaki army uniform on the streets.

"Compare the costume of that girl with the slit skirts and the X-ray gowns you see on the street every day," urged Decoto. "I wish that every woman would wear men's clothes if they feel that they must expose themselves to the general public. In trousers the actual skin and flesh and muscles are not displayed, but I have yet to see a slit skirt or an X-ray gown that doesn't give a pretty good idea of what is underneath."

TELL OF ABUSES IN CHICAGO JAILS

Startling Disclosures Are Made By Charities Commission

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Sensational disclosures of conditions in Chicago jails which have been attacked recently by civic bodies and individuals, came from state sources today when the state charities commission made public a report of an inquiry conducted by its investigators who visited all the penal institutions in the state. The cells in Chicago's jails are described as "dungeons" and unfit for the housing of animals."

Some of the abuses found by the state investigators are:

Cells under water from backed up sewers.

Four to ten men lodged in one cell room.

Children and minors placed in cells with hardened criminals.

Dirty roller towels used by both diseased and clean prisoners.

Boards used for beds in most of the police stations.

Filthy mattresses filled with vermin used in many of the police stations.

Cells facing blank, solid walls, with only a few bars on the front to admit light and fresh air.

Cells used at times for the detention of stray dogs.

Rats and vermin found in abundance.

DIGGS AND HARRIS DENY CONSPIRACY

Admit Visit of Barton Girl; Declare Conspiracy Not Thought Of

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Both Maury I. Diggs and Attorney Charles B. Harris denied today, the main points in the testimony of Nellie Barton who carried a message from Diggs to Marsha Warrington and upon whose testimony, the prosecution bases its charge against Diggs and Harris of conspiracy to suborn perjury.

While admitting that Miss Barton was summoned to Harris's office, talked with the defendants there and later carried a message to Miss Warrington, the defendants claim that the conversation contained nothing that savored of conspiracy.

Upon the announcement of counsel for both sides that the case would be in the hands of the jury by Tuesday night, Judge Van Fleet agreed to postpone the sentencing of Diggs and Caminetti on the white slave traffic convictions until Wednesday morning. The order was not formally made owing to the absence of Caminetti from court but will be granted Monday. One hour each will be allowed the government and defense for argument of the Diggs-Harris case Tuesday afternoon. The defense has but one more witness to place on the stand.

Maury I. Diggs proved a thoroughly willing witness when he took the stand in his behalf and the dignity of the court room was several times endangered by laughter resulting from his replies to Prosecutor Sullivan. Diggs flatly denied that he has said anything to Nell Barton about what she was to tell Marsha Warrington regarding the purchase of Pullman tickets. He also denied that the message included instructions as to what the girl should say on the stand.

"The word testimony never was mentioned in the conversation," he said. He denied that Attorney Harris even knew the circumstances of the Reno trip at—that—time.—He—never heard of the Mann white slave act then and did not realize what a mess I was in" he said. He testified that after Nell Barton saw Miss Warrington she told him that Marsha was "still crazy about him." Asked why he had stopped in at the market where Nell Barton worked, on his way home, Diggs replied:

"To get some pickles and bread." The reminiscence of the "dear pickles" letter, he laughed.

Attorney Harris' denial of the charges against him was more emphatic than his codefendant. He testified that he had been in and out of the room while Miss Barton was there and not heard any of the conversation she detailed and did not know then the facts about the Reno trip.

Miss Barton told her story during the morning session.

She told of her visit to Harris' office where the lawyer and Diggs asked her to carry a message to Marsha Warrington. She declared that to the best of her recollection Harris was in the office all the time during the conference. Her testimony was, in brief, that Harris and Diggs wanted her to tell Miss Warrington to say, when questioned, that the girls brought

HOUSE VOTES TO GIVE $100,000 TO RELIEVE AMERICANS

Emergency Appropriation Bill Passed; Requested By State Department

SENATE ACTS MONDAY

Funds Will Be Used for Destitute and for Transportation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—In response to an urgent demand from the State Department the House adopted tonight a joint resolution of making an emergency appropriation of $100,000 to be used for the relief of destitute Americans in Mexico and for their transportation to the United tSates.

Major Leader Underwood presented the emergency resolution and read a personal letter from Secretary Bryan asking immediate action. The secretary said the department was using $2,000 a day to aid Americans in Mexico and that but $12,000 was available for that purpose. The resolution will go imediately to the Senate where it probably will be passed Monday.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Rodolfo Reyes, son of the late General Bernardo Reyes, who was one of the first victims in the February revolt against Madero, resigned today from the ministery of justice in the Huerta Cabinet, explaining his withdrawal by saying that the "policy of the president demands my separation."

It is said in some political circles that Senor Reyes' name may be substituted for that of Jose Luis Requena as the running mate of General Felix Diaz in the coming presidential race.

APPEAL FOR BOAT

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 12—Forty Americans in the State of Tabasco have been forced by rebels into the town of Frontera and are appealing for a boat to take them away. The rebels are reported to have captured towns a short distance from Frontera to a considerable distance into the interior of the state.

Official dispatches from Tampico say that three hundred Americans in that district have departed as a result of the warning of President Wilson. The exodus through Vera Cruz is diminishing.

REFUGEES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. — Sixteen American refugees reached here on the steamer Esperanza which arrived tonight from Mexican ports by way of Havana. Harry Berliner, a resident of Elizabeth, N. J., one of the party, said the Mexican government was doing everything possible to protect Americans and American property. He and the majority of his fellow passengers he declared came up from Mexico more for a vacation than because of fear of injury to themselves or their property.

TRAIN FOR BORDER

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 12.—A special train bearing Americans and other foreign refugees from Chihuahua City to the border left Chihuahua this morning without troop protection The train is flying white flags in the hope that rebels will not molest it. By request of the Americans on board, no federal troops accompanied the train.

FEDERALS WIN BATTLE

EL PASO, Sept. 12.—General Antonio Rojas and 1,000 federal troops from Chihuahua defeated 1,200 constitutionalists comanded by General Francisco Villa today at Bustilos, Chihuahua, according to advices received tonight by General Francisco Castro at Juarez from General Mercado of Chihuahua. The message did not give the details of the fight but said Villas troops were almost annihilated.

"And American cannot walk down the streets of Mexico City without being insulted by natives," said James T. Black, a mine owner in the state of Oaxaca, who arrived here today from Mexico City. "They push Americans into the street and when protest is made they laugh at them and often spit in their faces. It is unsafe for an American woman to go on the street even with an escort without fear from insults from the Mexicans. The Americans are helpless as the police will do nothing to assist them."

Black left Mexico in obedience to President Wilson's orders for Americans to leave the republic.

TROOPS SACK TOWN.

PIEDRAS-NEGRAS, Sept. 12.—Federal troops several days ago occupied the town of Cuatro Cienegas, sacked the town, burned part of it and executed a number of persons suspected of sympathizing with the revolutionists, according to refugees who arrived here today.

GOVERNOR LEAVES.

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 12.—On board the Ward line steamer Mexico, which sailed yesterday for Tampico, Havana and New York was the constitutional governor of the state of Hidalgo, Ramon Rosales. Senor Rosales had been summoned to Mexico City and told to ask for leave of absence in order that a millitary governor might substitute for him. He said he explained to President Huerta that he had been elected to office legally and asked time to think the proposition made to him over. He is one of the richest men in his state.

The fact that Senor Rosales had come to Vera Cruz from the capital and had taken passage on the steamer did not become known until today. While here he told an intimate friend he was not a revolutionist but feared he might be forced into the rebel ranks. He also said that the Mexican government in his opinion would be badly off financially as soon as the recent $12,000,000 loan was exhausted.

WOMAN IN WANT OFFERS TO GIVE BODY TO SCIENCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Nellie B. Morse, a widow, 21 years of age, with an infant son sixteen months old, appealed to a San Francisco newspaper today and after relating a story of privation and struggle, brought the paper to publish an announcement in which she offers her body for medical experiment in return for a living for herself and child.

"I know that physicians need living persons to experiment with," Mrs. Morse said, "If any one would give my child a home and help me I would gladly in return offer myself for experiment. My mother was a trained nurse and I know that doctors often experiment with people in the use of new toxins and other drugs."

The newspaper to which Mrs. Morse told her story printed her appeal.

TELLS COMMITTEE OF SULZER DEALS

First Testimony Is Given In N. Y. Impeachment Proceedings

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Governor Sulzer's transactions in Wall Street from June 27, 1910, till they ceased—at least so far as one firm of brokers was concerned—on July 14, last, were described under oath today by Melville D. Fuller, who said he was Sulzer's broker, in a hearing held by the nine impeachment managers appointed by the assembly.

Fuller, who before the Frawley investigating committee refused to testify concerning certain matters, answered all questions today. He testified that Sulzer had paid him $16,000 in person within a month and a day after the last election and that he (Fuller) had had no dealings with Mrs. Sulzer.

According to Fuller's testimony, Sulzer, while a representative, opened an account with his firm, Harris and Fuller, June 27, 1910. In September, Sulzer borrowed $23,000 from the firm, giving as collateral 400 shares of Big Four stock. In Novemebr of the same year Sulzer added American Smelter stock to his collateral held by the brokers.

"Big Four declined from 80 to 57 within a year," Fuller continued, "but Mr. Sulzer bought some more of the stock and added Southern Pacific to his holdings."

On November 13, 1912, a few days after he was elected governor, Fuller continued, Sulzer walked into the office of Harris and Fuller with ten $1,000 bills in his hand. These he paid on his account. His indebtedness, owing to other transactions, having increased to $30,612. On December 8, Fuller said Governor-elect Sulzer paid in person $6,000 more in cash on his account.

On June 16 of this year Sulzer's debt to the brokers had been further reduced. One of the checks, Fuller said, was from A. E. Spriggs, a former governor of Montana.

Lieutenant-Commander Josephthal, of Governor Sulzer's staff, visited the office of Harris and Fuller on July 15, last, Fuller added, and closed the account by paying the remainder, $26,739.

Josephthal received the stock left by Sulzer as collateral. Josephthal presented an order which was produced today. It was signed "William Sulzer for Mrs. Sulzer."

Fuller could give no explanation of the words "for Mrs. Sulzer," he said, as neither he nor his firm ever had any dealings with her.

SEEK TO REFORM HOUSE PRACTICES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Representative Anderson (Republican) of Minnesota followed up his sensational resignation from the ways and means committee last night by introducing today a resolution to have a committee of nine investigate and reform the legislative practices of the House. He announced his action was the beginning of a campaign against secret caucus and secret committee work.

LONG BATTLE IS EXPECTED FOR THAW IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

New York Sheriff Coming With Papers Asking for Requisition

ATTORNEYS ON HAND

Both Sides Fear Principal May Be Kidnaped; Watch Closely

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 12.—The protracted court battle denied Harry K. Thaw in Canada by his sudden deportation on Wednesday promises to be waged in New Hampshire. His newly raetained counsel hopes to have a personal hearing before Governor Felker on the matter of extradition, and should extradition be granted, to carry the matter to the State Supreme Court on writ of habeas corpus. Three of those attorneys—N. E. Martin of Concord, H. Olmstead of New York and Merrill Shurtleff of Colebrook—hurried to the capital today.

Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county, N. Y., wherein is located the Matteawan asylum from which Thaw escaped, was enroute here tonight with requests upon papers signed by Acting Governor Glynn.

As the document first must be laid before Governor Felker, the New York lawyers are chagrined at the sheriff's mistake in heading for Colebrook. On Wednesday next, according to Thaw's lawyers, they expect to have their hearing before Governor Felker. They estimate that three days will elapse before he can render a decision. If this is adverse, they will apply at once for a writ of habeas corpus. Argument on this probably would be postponed for another week.

LOOK FOR COUP

This would mean days of weary waiting unless Jerome could engineer some coup. He has in mind now a plan instantly to seize the fugitive in case his deportation is ordered, thus blocking the efficiency of the habeas corpus writ concealing from Thaw's counsel the identity of the individual to whom Thaw would be given in charge. The movement would have to be directed against the prisoner's custodian at the time, and if Jerome could work quickly enough and with sufficient secrecy his plan might be successful.

Thaw left his hotel room for out of doors but once today to go to the barber shop. The sheriff and ten special guards accompanied him. Rumors of kidnaping would not down. The citizen of Coatecook who was denounced yesterday by Jerome as the leader of the anti-Jerome movement which resulted in his arrest on a charge of gambling remained in Colebrook today in spite of the ill feeling his presence has engendered. He whisked about in a motor car a good part of the day and this fact prevented Thaw from being taken for an airing this afternoon.

The sheriff had agreed to accompany the prisoner on a ride and Thaw and his lawyers were about to climb into the machine when the report spread that two cars bearing Canadians were stationed a half mile or so out of town toward the Canadian frontier. There has been so much feeling shown in the Thaw matter by the Canadians and so many of them have trailed after him here that Jerome put his foot down on the motor trip at once. Through his detective aide, John Lyon of New York, he impressed the sheriff with the inadvisability of such a trip for the prisoner and Thaw returned disappointed to his room.

FEAR KIDNAPPING

On Monday next he was to have been produced before the Kings bench in Montreal on a writ of habeas corpus. This was rudely upset by his ejection from the Dominion under orders from the minister of justice but the writ will come up for argument nevertheless. It was said today that some of Thaw's Canadian adherents were planning to spirit him away to Montreal if possible, in hope that the writ would be sustained after all. Failing in this so the story ran, they purposed to put him aboard a yacht and eventually get him to Pennsylvania.

Thaw's lawyers one and all denied knowledge of such a plan and repudiated any attention of resorting to strong arm work. Jerome on his side, said he was just as anxious to avoid anything irregular in connection with New York states endeavors. Thaw himself, it is understood, has refused two offers to aid him in another break for liberty.

Apparently he got more than enough liberty of that kind in his wild ride on Wednesday and places his hopes in the court. It is reported that he was again trying to dominate his lawyers. This they denied. Ex-Governor M. A. Stone of Pennsylvania came today personally to represent the Thaw family and with his coming, the lawyers here unused to Harry's ways and moods, seemed to breathe easier.

EXTRADITION PAPERS SIGNED

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Papers calling for the extradition of Harry Thaw from Colebrook, N. H., to New York sate, were signed today by Acting Governor Martin H. Glynn. Sheriff Hornbeck left at noon for Concord to present the papers to Governor Felker.

Thaw is charged with being a fugitive from justice and among the papers are the affidavits of various officials and residents of Dutchess county, reciting Thaw's commitment and escape from Matteawan hospital, the flight into Canada and his arrest in New Hampshire.

GAYNOR'S BODY LIES IN STATE IN TOWN HALL OF LIVERPOOL

Unprecedented Honor Paid Dead New York Mayor; Journey Homeward Starts Today

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12. — The body of William J. Gaynor lay in state tonight at the foot of the grand stairway of the town hall of Liverpool.

It was an unprecedented honor that Liverpool paid the dead executive of the American metropolis for never before had anyone lain in state in the historic edifice. Covered with the Stars and Stripes and with the British Jack draped over its foot, the casket rested on a catafulque sent here from Westminster Abbey, London, on which have reposed the bodies of many of England's most famous men. It last was used at the funeral of Field Marshal Lord Wolsley in St. Paul's cathedral last March. Candles in the great golden candelabra from Westminster Abbey cast a subdued light up the wide stairway over the detail of picked men from the Liverpool police force who stood guard all night about the catafalque. John Sutherland Harmood-Banner, Lord Mayor of the city, who is absent on a vacation, had telegraphed the city of Liverpool to do everything in its power in honor of the dead mayor of New York and the officers carried out their instructions in minute detail.

When the steamer Baltic, on board which Mayor Gaynor died at sea last Wednesday, docked at 8:30 o'clock this evening the docking stage was cleared of all persons except holders of tickets. A great crowd had assembled outside the dock gates. As soon as the gang plank was run out, Horace L. Washington, the United States consul, accompanied by a delegation from the White Star line, went aboard the ship. In the saloon Washington met Rufus Gaynor, son of Mayor Gaynor, and expressed condolences on behalf of himself and the Lord Mayor of Liverpool.

pool in doing exceptional honors for Mayor Gaynor of Liverpool in doing exceptional honors for Mayor Gaynor, has been followed generally throughout Liverpool. Flags on the town hall and other public buildings and on private buildings were lowered to half mast today.

The Cunard line tonight detailed the superintendent of the port, Captain Dodge, to take charge of the reception of the body of Mayor Gaynor on board the Lusitania tomorrow.

Rufus Gaynor and the nurse who accompanied the mayor will return to New York with the body.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE MADE FOR FUNERAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—While all New York mourned today for William J. Gaynor and signal honors were being paid the dead mayor in Liverpool, tentative arrangements were being made for the obsequies planned to constitute a final and striking tribute of his home city to the memory of its late executive.

Mayor Gaynor's funeral will take place in Old Trinity church in Lower Broadway at 11 o'clock in the morning of September 22, with Bishop Greer of the New York diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, officiating. His body will be laid at rest in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

The funeral will be preceded by various distinctive tributes to the dead executive. On the arrival, probably next Friday forenoon, of the steamer Lusitania, the mayor's body will be taken from the steamer to the Gaynor home in Brooklyn, there to remain until Saturday evening when according to the plans, it will be removed to the city hall in Manhattan to lie in state on the scene of the late mayor's activities until the hour of his funeral Monday.

The coffin will be borne from the city hall to the hearse and from the hearse to church on the shoulders of uniformed men of the fire and police departments. Captain Thomas H. Barry, commandant of the Department of the East has offered an escort of soldiers from Governor's Island for the body of the mayor from the time of its arrival in the city until the burial.

MRS. GAYNOR TO ARRIVE

The arrangements for the funeral will be submitted to Mrs. Gaynor at St. James tomorrow, for her approval. At the same time, it is expected the pall bearers will be selected.

Meetings of various bodies at which resolutions of regret at the mayor's death and tributes to his career as a man and official, were adopted, marked the day.

That Mayor Gaynor's family will be found to be well provided for when his will comes to be probated, seems the general belief. Friends of the family estimated today the value of his estate as from $500,000 to $3,000,000, most estimates ranging around $1,500,000.

Among the many messages of condolence that came to the city hall today was a cablegram from the mayor of Tokio which said:

"City Hall New York:

"Please accept deepest sympathy with your citizens for demise of your beloved Mayor Gaynor from myself and citizens.

(Signed) "BARON SAKATANI,
"Mayor of Tokio."

At St. James, the mayor's country home, a public meeting was called for next Monday evening to take action on the mayor's death. So many messages of sympathy for the Gaynor family have been sent there that the telegraph company has sent an extra operator to the village to receive them.

FAIL TO SECURE NEW CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED GAYNOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The striking event of the day in connection with the political complication which have arisen through the death of Mayor Gaynor, who was an independent candidate for re-election, came when the Gaynor-campaign managers designated George McAneny, fusion candidate for president of the board of alderman, as their candidate for mayor to take the vacant place on the ticket. McAneny, however, promptly declined the honor, declaring he would not accept any nomination in opposition to John Purroy Mitchel the fusion nominee.

There existed tonight the impression that the Gaynor managers would persist for a time at least in their plan of putting an independent ticket in the field. William R. Wilcox, former chairman of the public service commission was mentioned as another man whom the Gaynor leaders had urged to accept a place on the independent ticket.

SUMMARILY REMOVES CUSTOMS OFFICER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Surveyor of the Port Justus S. Wardell demanded and received the resignation of Special Deputy Surveyor of Customs Charles A. Stephens today. No reason for the change was announced and no new appointment was made. Stephens has been in the customs service sixteen years. He had held the place he leaves for a year and prior to that was chief boarding officer for five years.

PRICE OF PRUNES IS HIGHEST IN YEARS

Banker Declares They Are Worth 6 Cents; Heavy Shortage

(Special to the Republican.)

SAN JOSE, Sept. 12.—W. S. Clayton, banker and a large prune grower, declared today that prunes produced in the Santa Clara Valley are worth a six cent basis. A better price than the growers have received in several years. A short crop has forced local packers to go into the market for prunes in the Napa Valley.

It is said that there are few unmarketed prunes in this valley, but the growers who were able to hold them will realize large profits.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The nature of the reception that awaits Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, when she arrives here from Europe next month, will depend on the outcome of an investigation of her actions in England now being made by the immigration authorities of the United States.

Here's a Real Example.

In the city of Providence, Rhode Island, is a store that does the second largest retail men's clothing business in the world.

Take the ratio of its sales to the population of the city and its volume is almost unbelievable.

This business has been built up on Nationally Advertised brands of clothing—largely through daily newspaper advertising.

The merchant saw the advantage of co-operation. While the manufacturers made known the merits of their brands, the merchant used his home newspapers to emphasize the fact that he "Kept them."

A dozen other instances of this same kind could be cited.

Mr. Manufacturer, dealers are anxious to co-operate with you.

They will help you if you help them to create a demand by advertising in the mediums they use—the newspapers.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, World Building, New York, will be glad to give you data in regard to a co-operative newspaper campaign.

Mrs. Hurryup—"I always put my clothes to soak on Sunday night. Then I get an early start on Monday and get through washing by noon. Cleanliness is next to godliness, you know."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, but godliness comes first, my dear. And you should keep the Commandments. Get a cake of Fels-Naptha Soap and you won't have to soak your clothes overnight, and your washing will be all done by noon."

"I don't mind the work if I could only keep my hands nice," sighs the young woman.

You will have less work and nice hands at the same time if you use Fels-Naptha Soap. Hot water chaps the hands; hard rubbing on the washboard swells the knuckles. Using Fels-Naptha Soap in cool or lukewarm water, you have neither hot water nor hard rubbing. But Fels-Naptha Soap must be used the right way.

SEEK SMUGGLERS.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 13.—Acting on orders from General Bliss, all troops stationed on the border between Eagle Pass and Laredo have taken the field in an effort to capture the band of Mexican gun smugglers who fired on Dimmit county officers yesterday. The soldiers are co-operating with citizen posses which are closing in on the bandits.

The Mexican outlaws are reported to be commanded by an American. Residents on the border are aroused over the killing of Deputy Sheriff Ortiz and the treatment given former Sheriff Buck, who was beaten and then released. The ranchmen declare they will lynch the outlaws when captured.

REBELS CAPTURE TOWN.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—The rebel General Panfilo is reported to have taken Presnillo, state of Zacatecas, and to have scattered the federal garrison, capturing 300 prisoners, two gatling guns and much ammunition. The rebels have opened telegraphic communication between Durango and Gomez Palacio, a suburb of Torreon, and are operating the railroad to Jimines and Chihuahua.

Conger says that in his opinion the ends of justice require that Thaw be brought back to New York for trial at public expense and that he is willing that such expense be borne by the county of Dutchess. He says he believes he has sufficient evidence to convict Thaw on the charge of conspiracy.

No indictment against Thaw has been found, the district attorney explains, because no grand jury was in session from the date of Thaw's escape until Sept. 8. A grand jury is now in session but Conger says it will be unable to hear the Thaw case for some time and will not make a report of its findings for at least two weeks.

their own tickets to Reno, slept together there, and that she did not know who purchased the Pullman tickets on the train.

"They told me nobody would know that I had taken the message, and convinced me it was all right," Miss Barton testified. "When I told Marsha what they said, she told me to keep out of the affair altogether and said she was going to tell the truth, as she was tired of lying about it. Later in the day Diggs called me up and I was very much annoyed. I told him not to keep bothering me about it. I had taken the message for Marsha's sake."

On cross examination the defense found it difficult to shake Miss Barton's testimony.

TORTURED BY UGLY ITCHING ERUPTIONS

Doctor Recommended Resinol. Half of a 50c Jar Cured It.

Baltimore, Md.—"My little daughter was taken with a very small spot on the back of her hand. It grew larger and caused her more trouble. When she would scratch it, it would bleed and get very ugly looking, so I doctored it myself for about a year, and at last it broke out on both knees, and when she would go to bed she would scratch, and was so tortured and suffered so from the itching, that I took her to our doctor, who recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment.

Improved with first application.

"I sent for samples and after the first application the itching and inflammation was improved, and I kept it up night and morning, and by the time the sample was gone she complained very little, so I got a fifty-cent jar, and before that was half gone the trouble had entirely disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. Maud Schmechel, 2737 Frosbury St., Nov. 5, 1912.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Mrs. Schmechel, say of it. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. The nearest druggist sells them, or write to Dept. 20-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample.

WAGES FOR LABOR STEADILY INCREASE

Bakers Show Advance of 22 Per Cent In Six Years; Shorten Hours

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — There was a steady increase in the scale of wages paid to labor in this country in the last six years and this was accompanied in the face of a steady reduction in the working hours of labor.

Statistics published today by the department of labor indicate that labor now is receiving more remuneration for fewer hours of toil than ever before. The figures are based on comparisons of union wage scale agreements, trade union reports and working compacts in central cities throughout the United States from 1907 to 1912.

The bakers appear to have carried off the cake in the distribution of good things, for their wages were increased 22 per cent in the six years while their working day was shortened nearly one-fifth. Stone cutters and newspaper compositors are the lowest in the scale in the matter or reduced hours. The stonecutters also received the lowest rate of increase, a fate not shared however, by the compositors.

The inquiry was an elaborate one and the result is the most comprehensive document of its kind yet issued by the government. It was prosecuted by segregating the trades under the general divisions of baking trades, marble and stone trades and printing trades.

OUTSIDE JUDGE TO HEAR BIXBY CASE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, of San Bernardino county will come to Los Angeles to hear the trial of George H. Bixby, the Long Beach millionaire, indicted on charges of having contributed to the dependency of young girls.

That announcement was made today after a conference of Los Angeles county judges and attorneys representing Bixby and the prosecution. It also was decided to continue the beginning of the trial until next Tuesday when Judge Bledsoe will come here.

The trial had been set to begin yesterday before Judge F. F. Oster, of San Bernardino county, sitting in the Los Angeles criminal court, but the Bixby defense objected to him because he had sentenced Emma J. Goodman, alias Josie Rosenberg, proprietress of the resort where Bixby was alleged to have met young girls, to serve a year in the county jail and to pay a fine of $1,000.

FLOUR MILL AFIRE; MANY MEN MISSING

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—An explosion followed by an outburst of flames occurred in the Clover Leaf Milling Company's plant here at 3 o'clock this morning while between twenty and forty men were at work in the mill. When the firemen arrived shortly afterward it was reported that several men were missing and a number of the workers had been removed to hospitals with painful injuries.

SACRAMENTO TO HAVE CITY NEWSPAPER

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—The city commission voted today to publish a weekly newspaper beginning October 1. The proposed publication will contain news of city improvements, tables showing the expenditures and receipts of each department weekly and anything of interest pertaining to city government. It is estimated the cost will be $1500 a week. D. J. Desmond, city clerk, will be the editor. No department is to be given credit and politics will be tabooed.

HAS NO DUTIES AS CITY MARSHAL RESIGNS OFFICE

KINGSTON, Mo., Sept. 12.—Lante Oliver, city marshal of Kingston for fifteen years, resigned today because, as he said, "there are no more duties for a marshal to perform in this town."

Since Marshal Oliver was a boy—note: Three drug stores did a saloon business without a bar. There were two pool halls and a bowling alley. But times changed, dry sentiment ran out two of the drug stores. There is only one now and it is law abiding. Pool halls and bowling alley were closed up. Arrests were so few that the town council sold the calaboose at auction. Bole Brown bought it for a hen house.

Oliver said his patriotism made him ashamed to draw his salary, and besides, if he ever found any one to arrest he would have no place to put him, so he resigned.

NEGROES AND WHITES BATTLE; ONE DEAD

CAIRO, Ill., Sept. 12.—One negro was killed and another is believed to have been fatally wounded by a posse of citizens near Tamms, Ill., today, following an attempt yesterday by the negroes to force a merchant of Tamms to accept a bill which had been raised from one to five dollars.

When the clerk refused to accept the bill in payment for a small purchase, the negroes drew revolvers and began firing as they backed out of the store. The clerk was not injured but citizens formed a posse and pursued the negroes.

STATE MAY SECURE SUTRO LIBRARY YET

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—Plans are under consideration by the state board of library trustees to take over the maintenance of the Alfred Sutro library in San Francisco and make it a state institution.

The library trustees have not given up hope of acquiring the library even though the $70,000 appropriation passed by the last legislature was not approved by the governor.

RELEASE ON PAROLE FAVORED FOR LARRIE

Theft of Automobile Reported Freakish Act While On a Carouse

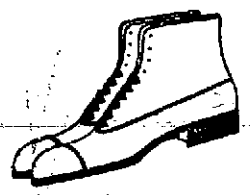

Probation Officer Sessions made report to Judge Church yesterday recommending for parole William Larrie, who had pleaded guilty to the larceny of J. N. Crews' automobile on the 10th of last June. Sessions finds that Larrie and Delmar Evans were drinking on the day in question and to wind up the night's entertainment rode off to San Francisco in the machine of Crews, who earlier in the evening had been celebrating with them. The probation officer was of the opinion that Evans was the ringleader in the affair, reporting further that Larrie left home at the age of 13 because of his stepfather, came to California in 1900 and five years later married Annie Butler in in San Francisco, but separated one year later without divorce. Larrie claims not to know where his wife or child may be. He is without a trade, has only had four years of schooling and since battling with the world has been working in pool halls.

INJUNCTION REVIVAL AGAINST POLICE CHIEF

Mar Chung Wants Restraining Order to Save Value Of His Lease

Attorneys Harris and Huyhurst revived yesterday the Chinatown injunction campaign by bringing suit against Chief of Police Thomas Coyle and Policemen Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10 to forbid them from breaking in doors to gain entrance to the premises at 912 China alley, as they have done on the 13th and 15th of last month, with threats as claimed that they will continue to do so. Mar Chung, the plaintoiff, says he keeps the storeroom and basement at the number named "for various business purposes," including lodgings, and that Coyle and his men assert the right to forcible entry to ascertain whether gambling is going on. These police visits, affirms Chung, will unless restrained, make his leasehold interests valueless.

Sing registered at the Iwata lodging house. During the night the room was entered and among other things the papers were stolen.

BANK DIRECTOR ENDORSES THIS

Business Man of This City Has Opinions of His Own and Expresses Them

Among the many prominent and influential men of California who have testified to the virtues of Plant Juice, there are none we take more pride and pleasure in publishing than the following from Mr. Fred J. Dow, director of the Union National Bank of Fresno and owner of several large business interests in this city. Mr. Dow said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion for years and have tried many things, but never had any real relief until I began taking Plant Juice a short time ago. I think this remedy is one of the greatest system builders I ever heard of. It has done me worlds of good. It is almost a miracle worker and I am glad to recommend it to anyone."

It is not what we say, but what the people who live in your own home town say that makes Plant Juice so popular, it is the one remedy that never disappoints you. If you are worn out and run down from overwork or worry, have indigestion, bloating after meals with a feeling of distress, hot flashes, dull puffy eyes, a feeling of numbness, touches of rheumatism or neuralgia, try Plant Juice. It will put you right in the shortest possible time. It has no equal as a remedy for all ailments of stomach, kidneys, liver or blood. It clears the liver, cleanses the blood and tones up the system and puts it into normal, healthy condition. The San Joaquin Drug Company sells it.—Advertisement.

MARRIES AT 16 ON ACQAINTANCE OF ONLY FOUR DAYS

Mother Sues for Annullment —Mrs. Mugg Asks for Divorce

Miss Zaida M. Downer married Arthur E. Crabbe, a telephone operator of Los Angeles, on November 16, in that city after an acquaintance of only four days. She was under age and the marriage was without the consent of her parents, so the mother, Mrs. Josephine F. Downer, brought suit here yesterday to annull it. She also asks that the defendant be required to pay $50 to prosecute this case. The daughter was 15 years old at marriage and the separation to return to the maternal roof followed on the day after the wedding. It appears also, as a side light in the case, that Crabbe, who is a young Englishman, was engaged in marriage to a cousin of Miss Downer but meeting the latter at this cousin's home where he boarded, prosecuted his second courtship with such ardor that he brought about the Downer marriage in four days as stated. Miss Downer's father, a contractor, has not joined in the local action to annull the marriage because he has not been a resident for one year in California since coming here from Colorado.

Mrs. Mary F. Mugg sued yesterday through Attorney W. A. Conn for divorce from W. T. Mugg, because of desertion. Mugg was a well known local real estate agent who suddenly left June 24, 1912, and is said to be in Arizona. Domestic infelicities are given as the reason for his sudden departure.

Suits for divorce were entered by Elsie Mortensen against Niels Mortensen and by Anna Clark against Allen R. Clark, both through Attorneys Crichton and Bonestell.

Publication of summons was ordered in the divorce case of Josephine Harley against David H. Harley, who is said to be in the land of the revolutionists at Tampico, Mex.

WILL INVESTIGATE SLEEPING CAR RULES

R. R. Commission Also Plans To Find Out About Wages Of Porters

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The state railroad commission acting today on the complaints of many travelers ordered the Pullman company to appear before it November 19 and explain its "practices, rules and regulations."

Rates will not figures in the investigation, but its scope in other directions will be wide. These are some of the things the commission wants to know:

"How much the company depends on passengers' tips in figuring porters wages.

"Why upper berths are pulled down when not occupied, making lower berths stuffy and cramped.

"Why the answer 'no lowers' so often proves to be a mistake the next morning.

"Why a passenger can't get his berth made up when he wants it, but must wait the porter's pleasure.

"Why berths are so often sold to more than one passenger with resultant confusion and annoyance."

RAILROAD EMPLOYE KILLED EVERY HOUR

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A. B. Garretson, representing the Order of Railroad Conductors, testified today that a railroad employe is killed in the United States every hour and seven minutes of the day and that every nine minutes a man is maimed. Mr. Garretson was a witness before the arbitration committee in the controversy between Eastern railroads, their conductors and trainmen, over the employes' demands for more pay and shorter hours.

Garretson's statement was challenged by Elisha Lee, consuel for the railroads. The witness asserted, however, that he could prove his declaration and would do so in subsequent testimony.

The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the year ending June 30, 1912, says that 3635 railroad employes were killed during the year.

DEATH FROM CANCER IS ON INCREASE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 12.—Statistics showing that the mortality from cancer increased from 67.9 per 100,000 population for the average of five years ending with 1905 to 74.3 in 1911 were cited by Dr. F. L. Hoffman of New York in an address before the American Public Health Association here today. Early and radical surgical treatment, Dr. Hoffman declared, is the only cure thus far discovered for any forms of internal cancer.

The convention closed this afternoon with a program which included several papers on technical subjects.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Albert I. Prince of Monaco, left New York today for a hunting trip in Wyoming. He took with him an elaborate camping outfit.

SACRAMENTO UNION NOT IN BAND CASE

Secretary Writes Fresno Is Kept Away Because of International Law

Editor Republican:—

This morning's issue of your paper has it that it is owing to a disagreement with the Sacramento Musicians Union that the Fresno Band will not go to Sacramento, either to enter into the Band Tournament or open up the State Fair. It devolves upon me as Secretary of the Fresno Musicians Union, and in fairness to the Sacramento Local, to deny that there has ever been a word of dispute or an iota of disagreement between us in the present matter. As all the negotiating was done through me as Secretary, I know whereof I speak.

The opening of the state fair by the Fresno Band always hinged on the proviso that we went to Sacramento as a contestant in the Band Tournament. Our expenses in that case were to have been defrayed by the local Fair Directors—in pure public spirit; the money, however, to be refunded them in the event that we won one of the prizes. In my negotiations over the 'phone yesterday with the Sacramento secretary, I found, thanks to him, that in having entered and about to participate in the contest, the Fresno band men and members of the American Federation of Musicians were unwittingly on the point of violating a law of our International, as Par. B of Section 23, Art. VI, specially prohibits entering contests with non-union bands. Naturally we dropped all thought of the contest, as to have persisted in the face of this law would simply have subjected each of the delinquent members to a fine of not less than $25 at the hands of the National Executive Board. Naturally too, with this falling of our castle fell also the honor of playing for the opening of the Sacramento Fair. The question of price, though led to infer to the contrary by this morning's article, never really appeared in the matter. But had it, and Sacramento had insisted on its higher price for Agricultural Fair work, it would have been wholly within its rights, and any differences of opinion that individual members of the Federation may have on this point should not have found designation as "disagreements." Personally I question whether Sacramento had any discretion in the matter at all, for a law of the International provides that where members of different locals or branches of the Federation compete for certain work, the highest price—if there is any,—for this certain class of work among the locals involved must prevail.

Respectfully
C. H. B. KLETTE
Secretary Local 210 A. F. of M.

BOYS GAVE BEER TO REDMEN; FINED $20

For selling liquor to Indians, two youths, Tony Nunes and Charles Wheeler were yesterday morning sentenced to serve twenty days in the county jail or pay fines of $20.

Nunes and Wheeler put forth the defense that one of the Indians told him he was a Mexican and that he spoke to them in Spanish.

On the stand the Indian denied he told the men he was a Mexican. Judge Briggs also informed Nunes and Wheeler that it might not be amiss to study the physical features of the California Indian so they would not confuse the redmen with another race.

EVEN SAN FRANCISCO

Whatever may be said of the motives of the Hearst newspapers, at least their sense of the drift of events is unerring. If they do not know which way is down stream, nobody does. So, when the San Francisco Examiner, during a time when its proprietor is personally in town, participating actively in its management, comes out in a full-page broadside against the Barbary coast and the segregated tenderloin, we may be sure that the time is ripe for such a crusade, even in San Francisco.

"Even in San Francisco"—in San Francisco, where fun and fornication have been treated as synonymous terms, where the most jealously guarded industry has been the traffic in women; where, at this moment, a recall petition is being circulated against Senator Grant, on the charge that he misrepresented his constituents by proposing to make it unprofitable to devote property to prostitution; where the referendum to hold up the red-light abatement act received most of its support, and where legislators were elected who seriously moved that the law deprive the women of San Francisco of the protections thrown about them elsewhere; in San Francisco, where newspapers and politicians have been taught that the support of commercialized vice was the sure road to popularity—there, "even in San Francisco," the most sensitive weathervane of them all has already turned, head up, toward the rising breeze of decency.

Some years ago the Republican undertook to give some currency to the slogan, "It is now respectable to be decent." The reference was to political affairs, in which common honesty and independence were beginning to be recognized as respectable. Evidently the sentiment has spread to other spheres. Those who advocate the suppression of segregated and organized prostitution and the general decommercialization of vice, are no longer freaks and exceptions. A law embodying this last principle passed the last legislature and will go into force as soon as the people can vote to confirm it. Then the segregated districts and the organized resorts of vice will be broken up everywhere. Meantime the Examiner advocates anticipating the law, by closing up the tolerated resorts at once.

Is it not time for the same thing to be done in Fresno, too? There has been a constant improvement in condition in Fresno, until what was once the show-place of the town is now a half-concealed and rightly restricted plague-spot. A large share of the frightful industry has got into the possession of Japanese ,and now the Federal Government is deporting these. Their fow white companions who are left can very well be spared. If the state law had not been held up by referendum the policy of total suppression would now already be compulsory. There is no reason why a city like Fresno should wait for the slow process of the state law, when the whole thing can be accomplished by a police order, in a day, and stay accomplished as long as the police really mean it.

WINE JOKER

The introduction, at the last minute, in the Senate, of a joker in the wine bill probably increases the chances of defeating it entirely, in conference, and if so, it is a fortunate thing. But the probability of doing it illustrates two things. One is that the Senate, including the finance committee itself, is so totally ignorant of the wine business that no intelligent consideration of the question can be got from this, our highest legislative tribunal. The other is that the issue has become a desperate struggle on the part of the Eastern wine makers for increased liberty to make wine, which by the world's standard, is not wine.

If the bill as it has now passed the Senate, becomes a law, the wine makers of Ohio will be permitted to produce sweet wine in which all the sugar, most of the alcohol, and much of the water is introduced from the outside and is not derived from grape juice. All this they will do with the payment of no tax except that which they pay upon the small quantity of potato spirits or corn whisky which they have introduced into the wine after its completion. On the majority of the alcohol in the wine, which is produced by the fermentation of cane sugar and is therefore properly speaking, not wine, but rum, they will pay no tax at all. As against this, California will manufacture sweet wine in which all the alcohol, all the sugar and all the water, in fact, the entire wine, is derived from grape juice and will be compelled to pay the full whisky tax on that portion of the alcohol which is derived from one set of grapes by distillation, and introduced in order to preserve against fermentation the sugar derived from another set of grapes. The gross discrimination is apparent instantly to any person who has the most elementary knowledge of the making of wine. But the ordinary senator has no knowledge at all of wine, and has a very expert knowledge of the number of votes which are cast in New York, Ohio, Missouri and the South, as against the number of votes which can be cast in California.

Our best hope is that the whole matter may be thrown into such confusion that nothing will be done. If we had an intelligent system of making tariff and revenue bills, no such proposal could ever have been submitted.

FREE IGNORANCE

One "Dr." W. F. Gearheart, president of the Juvenile Court Association of San Diego county, in an address before the "Open Forum" of San Diego the other day, denounced the medical laws passed by the last legislature on the ground that "they deprive our citizens of the right to select the physician of their choice." The true standard, according to "Dr." Gearheart, is that any person, no matter how ignorant, if he can show persons who got well during his treatment, shall be permitted to practice anything which he may choose to call medicine or the healing art, on anybody who can be induced to submit to it. "Any law," says this advocate of medical anarchy, "that demands physicians to acquire false learning is opposed to the principle of justice and common sense, and any person of good moral character who can demonstrate his ability to heal disease is morally, and should be legally, entitled to practice healing."

"Dr." Gearheart, however, has not quite the courage of his own logic. Why should he confine the healing art to persons of good moral character? Suppose some citizen wishes to employ a physician of bad moral character. Would not this requirement deprive the citizen of his liberty to select the "physician of his choice?" As a matter of fact, bad moral character is not anything like so dangerous a quality in a physician as ignorance. A hospital physician who had eloped with the head nurse and embezzled the funds of the hospital would certainly not be a person of good moral character. But it might be far safer to employ him to set a broken leg or diagnose a case of diphtheria than it would be to trust to an ignoramus of the most impeccable personal character. The requirement that the applicant shall "demonstrate his ability to heal disease" is also much too restrictive. To whom shall he demonstrate that ability and by what standard? As a matter of fact, we do not know of a reputable physician in the world who claims the "ability to heal disease" or who would know what constitutes a "demonstration" of that ability. We can think of only two such possible demonstrations. One would be a demonstration by examination of the possession of that scientific knowledge and expert training which would qualify one intelligently to direct the course of treatment during disease so as to give the patient the best chance of recovering. This is the exact standard of education required by the law to which "Dr." Gearheart objects. The only other standard would be to present patients who, having been sick, and having been under the treatment of the alleged healer, had got well. By this standard every voodoo doctor in existence could demonstrate his ability as a healer. Thousands of persons in our own Southern states, suffering from symptoms which the negro mammy diagnosed as indicating "falling palate," have been treated by tying the hair tightly across the top of the head, sticking a skewer in it, and twisting it tight so as to hold up the palate which was supposed to have fallen. Most of these persons have in due time recovered from the symptoms from which they suffered, and the skill of the negro mammy as a healer is thereby conclusively demonstrated.

MISS ELEANOR WILSON, STAR IN BIRD MASQUE

President and Mrs. Wilson Are Spectators; Given In Pine Grove

MERIDEN, N. H., Sept. 12.—President Wilson sat in a grove of pine trees tonight and saw his youngest daughter, Miss Eleanor, play the star role in a pastoral masque symbolizing the protest of the naturalist against the slaughter of birds for millinery purposes.

With a dramatic skill which surprised her closest friends, as it was her first attempt, Miss Wilson voiced in soft and appealing tones the spirit of the bird lover exhorting the hunter to forsake his rifle.

The sharp crack of a gun, followed by the sudden fall of "Ornis" the bird spirit," Miss Wilson's role, marked the climax of the piece. Wounded and sobbing "Ornis" is consoled by the fauns, poet, dryad and naturalist, who dissuade the repentent plume hunter and make of him a bird lover. The President's daughter spoke her lines with careful expression and was enthusiastically applauded.

The setting was both unique and picturesque. Those in the audience composed entirely of artists, poets, playwrights and literary folk from Cornish and surrounding hills, were costumed in vari-colored gowns and cents and sat on rough wooden benches fixed on the slope of a hill at the colored footlights threw a shadowy light on the encircling pines. Bird whistles and the incidental strains of an orchestra concealed in the trees and an occasional dance by the players lightened the piece which was written by Percy Mackaye.

As a prelude to the performance Miss Margaret Wilson, oldest daughter of the President sank the "Hermit Thrush." At the conclusion of the play, Herbert Adams presented, on behalf of the artists and members of the Meriden bird club to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, patroness of the performance, a parchment scrol in dedication of the bird sanctuary where the play was given.

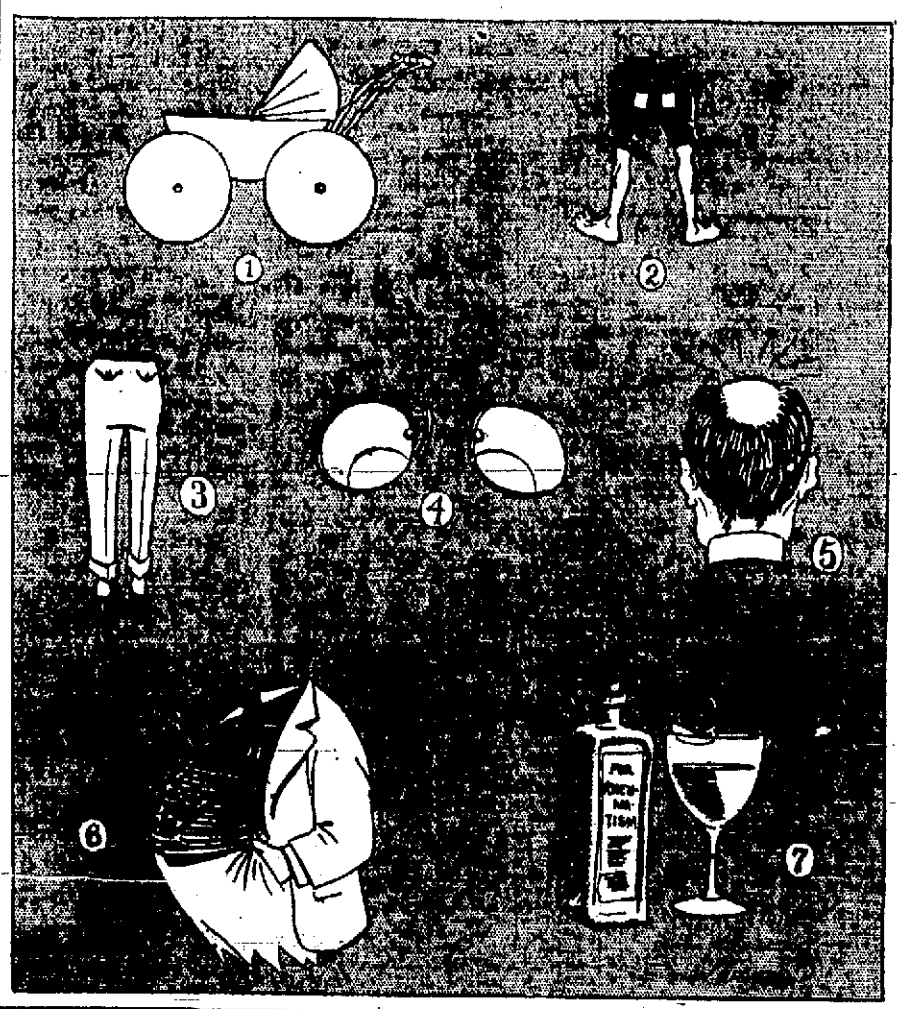

Besides the President and Mrs. Wilson the presidential party consisted of Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter and her fiance, Francis B. Sayre and several home guests.

ANOTHER AVIATOR KILLED.

MIENSTER, Germany, Sept. 12.—Aviator Hans Lorens was killed here today as he was completing a two hours' flight. He steered the machine downward too sharply and the wings buckled, the aeroplane falling to the ground. The gasoline tank exploded and the pilot's body was badly burned before the fire could be extinguished.

The WORLD'S MYSTERIES

MYSTERIES of CRIME

WAS LEICESTER POISONED BY HIS WIFE.

Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, came within an ace of being the Prince Consort of England, and husband of Queen Elizabeth, and if the laws could have been juggled to fit the case, even King, of the score or more of flames of the Virgin Queen, Leicester was most nearly her ideal, and retained her friendship the longest, even up to his death.

Dudley is accused of having killed his first wife Amy Robsart. He may have been implicated in the plot with the view of getting rid of the only obstacle he felt that stood in his way to the highest seat that could come to an Englishman. But there eventually occurred something to destroy Leicester's hopes and in a pique he married the Countess of Essex, whose husband he was suspected of poisoning.

Elizabeth could not bear to have her courtiers look at any other woman except herself. She flew into a mad rage at Leicester's marriage and swore he should die in the Tower of London. But she soon forgave him and ever offered him new chances for official incompetency. When in 1588 the country was preparing to resist the Spanish Armada, Leicester was constantly in Elizabeth's company, and when he joined the camp at Tilbury on July 26th, and the danger was all over, the Queen visited the camp and rode with him down the lines.

Leicester withdrew from London at the end of August, and while he was on his way to Kenilworth Castle, which Elizabeth had presented to him, he stopped at his house at Cornbury, Oxfordshire, and there he died on September 4th, at the age of fifty-six. It was reported that his death was due to "a continual fever." Was this the case, or was he poisoned by his wife?

Ben Johnson tells the story that he had given his wife a bottle of liquor which he requested that she should use when she was attacked by one of her fainting spells. The wife not knowing it was poison, gave it to the Earl, causing his death.

Bliss, in his notes to the "Athenae Oxon," first printed a contemporary narrative to the effect that the countess had fallen in love with Christopher Blount, a gentleman of the horse to Leicester; that Leicester had taken Blount to Holland with the intention of killing him, in which he failed; and that the countess, suspecting her husband's plot, gave him a poisonous cordial after a heavy meal while she was alone with him at Cornbury.

It looks as if the story might have some truth in it, for the countess married Blount shortly after the Earl's death. The narrator of the story gives as his authority William Haynes, Leicester's page and gentleman of the bedchamber, who said he saw the fatal cup handed to his master.

The gossip regarding the earl's having been poisoned brought out a post-mortem examination, the report of which states that there was no show of poison. The widow, after marrying Blount, sought in vain a reconciliation with Elizabeth. She remained, however, on friendly terms with Robert, Earl of Essex, her son by her first husband, till his execution in 1601. She took some part in the education of Robert, the third Earl of Essex, her grandson, but she resisted the efforts of Leicester's son, Sir Robert Dudley, to prove his legitimacy. She died vigorous to the last, on December 25, 1634, at the age of ninety-four years.

Love of display and self-indulgence was the most striking characteristics of Leicester. He was best known by his contemporaries by his extravagant dress, his gluttony and his cruel treatment of women. That he was an accomplished poisoner has been repeatedly said, but the evidence is inconclusive in all the charges of murder brought against him. There are many suspicious circumstances, however, that are hard to explain away by his contemporary biographers. "A continual fever" seems to be a rather indefinite way of diagnosing the cause of his death, and the verdict of the post mortem examination would have little weight when considering the many peculiar statements made following such conditions in the period in which Leicester lived. It would seem that the Countess of Essex was just as likely to have poisoned her husband as the earl was of having poisoned Amy Rousart, for there is a good reason assigned for either wanting to get rid of the other.

THE HOUSE IN ORDER

I admit I am not comely!
Fact is, I am more than homely,
But behind my phiz so fey—
Well, it's not for me to say
What you'll find inside of that
Lurkin' here beneath my hat.
But I've tried to make the place
Somewhat better than my face:
Orderly, and clean, and neat,
Sunny, cheerful, fresh, and sweet.
Beauty's sure worth having, but
Joy can dwell inside a hut,
And I've found true happiness
Hid within the plainest dress.

VALLEY DOCTORS MEET IN OCTOBER

Papers on Tuberculosis Will Be Read By Eminent Specialists

Papers on tuberculosis by specialists will be one of the many important things that will be given at the meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Medical Association which convenes in this city October 14. The sessions will likely be held in the council chamber at the city hall, although the complete program has not yet been made out. Dr. H. O. Rose, secretary of the association, is in touch with Dr. Max Rothchild of San Francisco and he has consented to come to this city on the day of the meeting and read a paper on tuberculosis. Dr. Ross has also written Dr. Jarvis Barlow of Los Angeles, but has received no reply. It is hoped to bring the six specialists to Fresno. The meeting will be brought to a close with a banquet. Dr. Henry Mildreth of Delano is president of the organization.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF FAIR DISCUSS PLANS

Judging Will Take Place In Front of Grandstand; Plan for "Kids"

Superintendents for all the divisions and departments for the Fresno District Fair met yesterday afternoon in the offices of R. A. Powell, general superintendent, and discussed the work that had already been accomplished and that which was to be done. About twenty superintendents were present besides President Dickinson, Secretary Cooper and many of the directors. Following the meeting the superintendents went out to the fair grounds. It was decided to hold a meeting of the fair directors Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

As the majority of the judges have been selected it was decided yesterday to hold the judging for the premiums in front of the grand stand whenever convenient. It was also decided that on the different valley days the children of that particular town would be admitted to the grounds free. The children will be designated by a badge or ribbon.

While Friday will be Fresno day the superintendents decided that Fresno children would be admitted free on Friday afternoon. Plans will be taken up with the Board of Education to have Friday afternoon declared a holiday so that the youngsters will not be tempted to play "hooky."

Robert M Roberts, who has charge of the agricultural exhibit, reported at the meeting that everything was in good condition and that he was getting his specimens together.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Harry J. Crayeroft is to formally open the commencement of the fall social season on next Thursday afternoon, complimenting Miss Iona Dickinson, a popular bride-elect, with a pretty luncheon. Rumor has it that the nuptials of Miss Dickinson and her fiance, Carl Walters, are to be solemnized at a not far distant date, and so Mrs. Chayerofts party will probably be but the forerunner of a series of pretty social attentions. Miss Dickinson and her mother, Mrs. J. E. Dickinson, are at present in San Francisco, but are expected home some time next week.

Mrs. George P. Beveridge and her daughters, Misses Constance and Margherita Beveridge, are expected to return to Fresno on Monday, after a lengthy sojourn at Seabright. Misses Annie and Betty Beveridge re-entered the Dominician convent at San Rafael at the beginning of the fall semester, several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cochrane and family have returned from Santa Monica, where they have been spending the summer. Their sons, Reginald and Victor Cochrane, returned to St. Mary's college in Oakland last week.

* * * *

Mrs. M. K. Harris returned last night from an extended summer sojourn at the coast. The Harris summer cottage at Santa Cruz was the rendezvous for a large number of her relatives and friends who enjoyed little visits under the hospitable roof tree. Mrs. Harris has been spending the past fortnight in San Francisco.

Lewis and Sidney Tupper returned last night from San Francisco, accompanied by their brother, Dr. Roland Tupper, who will spend the week end under the parental roof tree on H street. Mrs. H. C. Tupper is expected to return from a several weeks' outing in the Bay cities, at the end of the week.

From the San Francisco Chronicle the following item is culled, which will interest many Fresnans among whom the popular bride to be claims a warm friendship:

Miss Sue Uridge has named September 26th as the date for her wedding to William Salt of Sacramento. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbons Uridge, on Hillside avenue, and about 300 guests will be present. Mrs. L. D. Byrne, sister of the bride-elect, will be matron of honor at the wedding, which will be followed by an elaborate reception. Miss Uridge is a graduate of Miss Ransome's school, in Piedmont, and is a gifted musician. She is a pianist of ability and also possesses a beautiful voice. Since the announcement of her engagement, a month or two ago, she has been complimented with several social affairs by her young friends in society in the Hillside district. Salt and his bride will reside in Sacramento.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT GIVES WORK PERMITS

New Labor Law for Children Demands Grammar School Training

Whereas previously it was sufficient for the issuance of permanent "Permits to Work" or "Age and Schooling Certificates" for children under sixteen desiring to work during the school year to "read and write simple English sentences," the amendments to the Child Labor law, which took effect on August 10, raises the educational requirements to completion of the prescribed grammar school course or attendance at night school. Moreover the age of those requiring schooling certificates is raised to 16 years. The issuance of these permits and certificates is now taken from the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and all are granted by the school department in Fresno, Jules M. Fontaine business agent of the school department, being delegated by Superintendent C. C. Starr to these duties.

Quite a number of students have already applied for these permits and the new laws are not generally understood. The amendments provide for the issuance of a "Permit to Work" for graduates which will be issued to minors, between 12 and 15 years of age, who have completed the prescribed grammar school course and are physically fitted for the labor contemplated.

A "Permit to Work" will be granted for a period of only six months by the department to minors between 12 and 15 years, upon sworn statement by parents, foster-parents or guardians of such minor that the earnings of the minor is necessary to the support of the family and that sufficient and cannot be secured in any other manner.

An "Age and Schooling Certificate" will be issued to minors between 15 and 16 years of age, who have completed the prescribed grammar school course or who are attending night school.

All children over 16 are beyond the authority of the school department but are subject under state law up to 18 years to work no longer than eight hours a day and not between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.

No child under 12 years of age may be employed at all, according to the child labor law, and no child between 12 and 15 years may work at any time without a permit from the department, with the exception of employment at agricultural, horticultural, viticultural or domestic labor during the period that the school is not in session. Horticulture includes the curing and drying but not the canning, of all varieties of fruit.

The three certificates, an age and school certificate, a permit to work for graduates, and a temporary permit to work may be secured only from J. R. Fontaine at the Fresno high school building, neither the probation officer for the juvenile court issuing such.

THINK RAINS RAISED WATER LEVEL IN KINGS

No Definite Reports Received; No Water In Fresno System After Sept. 20

As no definite reports could be received last night as to the amount of water that has fallen in the mountains along the tributaries of Kings river, I. Tellman, manager of the Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company, was unable to make an estimate of the water that would be flowing in the river this morning.

It is believed that the river went up a few hundred second feet as word was received through the San Joaquin Light and Power Company that it rained in several sections of the mountains yesterday.

Yesterday the water level in Kings river was around the 550 second feet mark, which was about 50 feet lower than it was ten days ago. The fall in the water level of the river during this time has been slow and gradual, there being but little change in any one day.

Tellman said last night that preparations were being made to shut off all the water in the Fresno system September 20, so that the ditches could be cleaned and repaired.

IN THE LODGE ROOM

ODD FELLOWS.

At the meeting of Fresno Encampment No. 78, I. O. O. F., last evening, the patriarchal degree was conferred upon Ross B. Watson. A circular was received from the grand encampment secretary giving full information in regard to the grand encampment which will be held at Riverside on October 7. H. Ahrensborg was elected mileage delegate from Fresno Encampment. Reports were heard from the new Encampment at Madera which was instituted recently by Grand Patriarch G. E. Davis.

Fresno Canton No. 30 will send a team to Riverside to compete for the prize money offered.

At the meeting next Friday night the golden rule degree will be conferred.

Fresno Lodge No. 186, I. O. O. F., will confer the first degree Monday night.

Mrs. Pearl Kandarian, wife of N. Kandarian, died last evening at her home on Blythe avenue. She was aged 24. She was a native of Armenia, and came to California five years ago. Funeral services will be held today at 4 o'clock from Stephens & Bean's.

DOCTOR EXAMINES PORTER CHARLTON

COMO, Italy, Sept. 12. — Dr. Sala, whose duties in connection with a visit to the prisoners in the Como jail every two weeks, today examined Porter Charlton, the young American charged with the murder of his wife at Lake Como.

Dr. Sala said it would be necessary to make a further examination of the prisoner before he could give definite opinions concerning his mental and physical conditions. Charlton, however, seems perfectly well.

Dispatches from the United States have hinted that Charlton's defense will include an allegation of insanity. The trial probably will go over until April.

PREPARE PROGRAM FOR REALTY MEN'S CONVENTION

State Federation of Dealers To Meet At Del Monte October 16-19

Experts to Outline Plans for Developing Opportunities Of California

Program of the Ninth Annual Convention of the California State Realty Federation, Del Monte, Oct. 16-19, is rapidly being shaped up, minor details only remaining to be completed. Experts on the several phases of the Real Estate Business, Advertising, Writing, Immigration, Rural Credit, Colonists, and low railroad rates, etc., and etc., will appear on the platform of the convention, and outline the ways and means the business of developing the great opportunities of California is being handled.

Immigration will be a topic on which Robert Newton Lynch, vice president of the California Development Board, viewpoints will be handled by land experts, and officials of the State Agricultural department.

The technical details of real estate business, taxation reform, advertising and selling, and the handling of customers most efficiently to assure of investment in California Lands, and the satisfaction and protection of that investor from unscrupulous and dishonest promoters form another group of topics to be given considerable time at this great realty meeting.

In addition to the "work" of the Convention sessions, there are a number of pleasing and attractive entertainment features promised by the hosts of the convention, J. P. Pryor, mayor of Pacific Grove, representing the Pacific Improvement Co., and Benj. F. Wright, of Monterey. As all the delegates will be cared for at Hotel Del Monte, informal gatherings where old friendships will be renewed, and new ones created will occur during the three days of convention business. The evenings will be given over to a ball one night, the annual banquet of the federation on another, and a general get-together, hand-shaking affair another evening. Sunday, the 19th, will give opportunity for viewing the scenic beauties of the Monterey Peninsula, and a Spanish luncheon at Pebble Beach. Many of the delegates are planning to go on to San Francisco to have a look at the California Land Show, and attend the Portola Festival at the Bay City, during the week ending October 25. Special railroad rates have been arranged of a fare and a third on the certificate plan.

LETTER TO MEMBERS.

Sept. 12, 1913.

Mr. Federation Member,
Anywhere in California.

Dear Sir:—It's time to begin planning your trip to attend the ninth annual convention of the California State Realty Federation at Hotel Del Monte, October 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Three days of live wire work at the convention, and an entire Sunday given over to play. Oh, yes, there are other entertainments arranged for the three evenings.

But those three days of convention business will be full of meaty discussions on the very subjects you want to know about—How the Other Man Gets Business, Why Did This Firm Make Such a Success, What Sort of Advertising is Most Resultful, Salesmanship, Office Efficiency, Discussions on the very subjects that will help you to do more business when you return to your office.

Business building ideas, Opportunities for making the acquaintance of other successful men in the realty business, Renewing old friendships, Creating new ones,—these are the opportunities of a convention, and all these and more are offered you at Hotel Del Monte, October 16th to 19th.

So plan your trip now. Fare and a third on all railroads for the round trip on receipt certificate plan. We are making special arrangements to have a ten day extension granted certificate holders to permit attendance at the Portola Festival, at San Francisco, October 22, 25, and the California Land Show, open all the week following the convention.

Hotel Del Monte has granted special rates for convention delegates on the American plan. Full information and reservation blanks will be sent you shortly.

But now, right now, is the time to arrange for going. So plan your trip and be at Del Monte, Oct. 16-19,

For a Big Convention,
JAMES G. STRATFORD,
Executive Secretary.

SEVERAL SALES MADE BY EWING-M'DANIEL

B. J. Steinpel of the State Highway Commission has commenced work on his new bungalow in the Woodlawn addition where he recently purchased a fifty foot frontage from Ewing-McDaniel.

Among the late real estate transactions made of city property by Ewing-McDaniel are the following, a residence in the eleven hundred block on R street to Mrs. Mae Clark. A new bungalow to H. C. Dotzman on La Salle street near Blackstone avenue and of another new bungalow on McKinley and Thomas avenues to Morton Hanson.

This same real estate firm also recently sold twenty acres of unimproved property six miles north of Fresno on First street in Perrin colony No. 2 to R. F. Davison and L. N. Patterson.

10 ACRE VINEYARD SELLS FOR $2,650

Andrew Payne recently sold his ten acre vineyard in Victoria colony for $2,650. The property was planted to Muscats and Muir peaches, five acres of each. It also contained a house in good condition and several outbuildings.

WILL SOON BID ON SOLANO CONTRACTS

Buildings Held Back While Street Work Is Being Rushed

Contractors are now studying the specifications for nearly a half million dollars worth of street, sidewalk, curb and sewer improvements in Solano City and an early award of contracts is expected. The beginning of building operations is awaiting the settlement of street grades and the installation of the streets and walks in the business district.

The engineers, in presenting their plans, have looked forward to the future growth of the city. The sewer system is laid out with a view to future connection with an outfall system that will be necessary when the population passes the 5000 mark. The same rule applies to the water piping. At present a six inch feed from the filtration plant to be located at the reservoir, will enter the city at the head of Main street, and serve the first residence section and all of the business district, but the plans now include ten and twelve inch feeds to come in at other points and, with additions to the filtration and storage systems, eventually supply a city of 75,000 people.

Advocates of the uses of filtered river water are making gains in many communities. Dallas, Tex., has such a supply and Denver, in spite of the mountain source of its water, puts it all through a filtration plant.

The Solano street sections are following Mark Daniels' original plans for a city beautiful. In all of the wider streets parking strips are provided for either in the middle of the roadway, or on each side of the street. These are to be planted with shade trees. The street surfacing will be of five inch oiled macadam, rolled as smooth as asphalt.

The service of the Oakland, Antioch & Eastern to Solano City, making the run on schedule time to the minute and with seven trains a day each way, has proved a boon to prospective lot and land buyers. The running time from San Francisco, via the Key Route ferry is now two and a half hours. Crossing the straits at Chipps Island on the train ferry Bridgit takes just six minutes, with no delay in getting on and off the boat. With the completion of certain work on the road bed the time will be cut to two hours and the engineers say that now they would, if permitted, be able to make sixty miles an hour between Solano and Sacramento.

A long dining hall, floored, screened and canvas covered has been installed by A. J. Rich & Co. at Solano station and the removal of the field sales office to the same point will be undertaken this week.

The company's plans are maturing for the resumption of canal and ditch construction as soon as the rains come. The work will involve the movement of 450,000 cubic yards of earth and will be completed in time to turn the water on all the lands in March.

PLAN SALES COMPAIGN FOR FALL AND WINTER

Employes of Dodson-Orr Company Express Ideas Of Business Getting

In order to prepare for a large sales campaign for the coming season and do so in a systematic manner and to receive suggestions from various members of the firm, the realty firm of Dodson-Orr last night held a meeting at the home of L. M. Dodson at 816 Dudley street. The meeting was preceded by a banquet.

One of the most important discussions that came up before the gathering of real estate men was the plan for an adequate sales campaign to be carried out during the fall and the coming winter. The majority of this will be carried on in the newspapers and will be followed up by various salesmen of the firm with personal calls.

L. M. Dodson stated in a short address that the outlook for business this year was good and pointed out the success being made by the Solano farms people.

"The way for us to make good," he said, "and I am sure that we can, is to get in and hustle. The prospects for a good season are bright but business will not come to us, we must meet it and meet it more than half way. From what I have seen from my various trips around the country, the people as a whole are in good condition financially in spite of all this talk of a so-called stringency in the money market. We must boost for Fresno and the San Joaquin Valley and show the people here and elsewhere that Fresno city property is a good investment and that our country land is superior to any other and that they do not have to go to Sacramento valley to get a suitable place."

Among those members and employes of the firm who were present were the following: L. M. Dodson, F. N. Wright, C. H. Yearian, E. W. Williams, E. H. Hulbert, J. H. Burniston, T. C. Brazill, Lloyd Cornfield, J. W. Corley, C. W. Harlow, C. L. Meracle, G. E. Lavine and Lee R. Duncan. George B. Hibbard, secretary of the Fresno Realty Exchange, was also in attendance.

NEW ORO LOMA WELL FLOWS 1,500 GALLONS

The fourth well on the Oro Loma property has just been completed and is giving an average flow of 1,500 gallons of water a minute at the present time. A. B. Gatewood, the local agent for the property, estimates that this is sufficient water to irrigate 500 acres of raw land that surrounds the well.

The well itself is located in a new subdivision that was recently opened by the firm, adjoining the main property on the west.

Plans have been made for several additional wells so that when they are all completed there will be sufficient water produced to irrigate most of the property.

FRESNO BUNGALOW CHOSEN AS MODEL $2,000 RESIDENCE

As a result of the publicity given by the Republican to new houses that are being constructed in this city by the various real estate firms and individuals, the "Building Age," a New York publication given over to buildings of various sorts, has requested full information regarding the new residence of E. J. Palmer so that a cut and a descriptive story may be run in the next issue showing a typical Fresno bungalow erected at a cost of less than $2,000.

The Palmer residence was built in conjunction with several others at a cost of less than $2,000 each by the Sunset Realty Co.

The communication recently received from the Building Age by the Sunset people is as follows:

September 3, 1913.

Sunset Realty Co.,
Fresno, Cal.

Gentlemen:

In a recent issue of the Fresno Republican appeared a half tone cut, illustrating types of attractive low-cost bungalows which are being erected by your company in Fresno. One of these was said to have been erected for E. J. Palmer. This house is so attractive for the money that I would be glad to run a descriptive article about it in the Building Age, if you care to furnish me with the necessary data.

I will need a photograph of the house, together with the blue-print plans and elevations and the specifications. All material loaned will be carefully preserved and returned to you in good condition and I will see that you get a copy of the issue containing the article.

The Building Age, of which I am sending you a sample, is one of the best known home building papers in the country.

Of course, credit will be given in the article and I am assuming that publicity will be of sufficient value to you to warrant you in extending the courtesy requested.

Thanking you for any consideration which you are disposed to show in the matter, I am

Yours very truly,
E. R. SHERBURNE,
Editorial Department.

GOEHRING PURCHASES 20 ACRES OF BULLARD

Stanforth & Sowles Also Sell East Elmhurst Lot to J. C. Forkner

A twenty acre tract in the Bullard lands was sold during the week to John G. Goehring of this city through the agency of Stanforth & Sowles. This property is known officially as lot 23, section 25, township 13, range 20, and was formerly owned by Peter Iverson, also of this city.

It is not known as yet whether Goehring will improve his latent realty acquisition or hold it as an investment.

Another real estate sale culminated by this same firm recently was that of lot 10, East Elmhurst, on Del Mar, between Floredora and Hodges streets, from W. W. Stanforth to J. C. Forkner, both of this city. The purchase price was $550.

TRADE PROPERTY VALUED $65,000

A. Schlotthaner Gives Los Molinos Ranch for 160 Acres At Barstow

Property valued as a whole at $65,000 was recently exchanged between the Meeker Company of Alameda and A. Schlotthaner of this city by the real estate firm of Stone & Greenwood.

The property received by the Meeker Company consists of a 200 acre ranch and several head of stock located near Los Molinos in Tehama county.

It is the intention of this company to improve a portion of their new property to citrus fruits and to make a large dairy fitted up with modern conveniences out of the remainder.

In exchange for this property Schlotthaner received a 160 acre ranch in the Barstow district. He intends to plant it all to alfalfa this fall and to put on a few other improvements.

BIOLA ROAD GRADE NEARLY COMPLETED

All But Half Mile Finished; Plan To Lay Ties and Track Next Week

According to word received here yesterday all the grading for the road bed of the railroad to Biola has been completed but a half mile stretch about a mile this side of the townsite.

From the Southern Pacific tracks to within a mile and a half of Biola the road bed has been finished, including the installation of cement culverts and bridges. The road bed from Biola toward the line of the Southern Pacific is practically completed for a distance of one mile, thus leaving but a gap of a half mile yet to complete.

It was stated last night that the actual construction of the new railroad, such as the laying and bedding of the ties and rails would start sometime next week.

Nearly all the material for the road has been received in this city and the rest of it is arriving daily.

In order that the road will be completed by October 1 as planned, work of all kinds is being rushed by the various heads of the line.

SAYS INEXPENSIVE BUNGALOW MOST SENSIBLE

"All On Ground Floor" Type Declared Best for All By T. B. Ackerson

"Don't Get Too Large a Garden If You Intend To Work It Yourself"

The mistake that most people make when thinking of, talking of or actually buying a bungalow or a garden plot is either to get too large a bungalow or too large a plot of ground for profitable gardening, says T. B. Ackerson in the Brooklyn Eagle. The small, inexpensive "all on the ground floor" bungalow is the sensible thing for the housewife, as well as for the man of the house, who pays the bills.

A bungalow conveniently planned means a saving in servant hire. If not an absolute relief from this troublesome feature of housekeeping, for in most bungalows it is easier to do the housework than cater to the whims of a servant.

MISTAKE IN TERMS

The term "bungalow" is usually associated with a summer proposition; this is also a mistake, for the bungalow resident who can avail himself of the perpetual comfort and economy of the year-round residence in a bungalow has an added benefit. He saves expense and labor of moving from city to country and back again each year, he becomes a permanent resident in the one place, and it is the bungalow where the living expenses of his family are reduced and where the style and other exactions calling for expenditure are minimized as against living in the crowded city, where these influences are more or less a fashion and call for added expense.

In a bungalow community, anywhere outside the crowded city, the saving of taxes alone is an item that goes a long way in contributing to the comfort of the family and saving money instead of merging the householder in debt.

LOWER TAXES USUAL

An ordinary city house, valued at from $6,000 to $10,000, will not give the family as much comfort as the bungalow of today in the bungalow community at one-half the investment and in the case of the city house the taxes will run from $120 to $200 a year, while the ordinary bungalow will escape with a tax of $10 to $50 a year at the most.

The true type of bungalow is, of course, built as near as possible on one floor, and is better with a cellar. It is well ventilated and easily heated in winter. The log fire in the great, big open fireplace is the hearthstone and center of attraction in the late autumn and early spring.

NEW $3,200 BUNGALOW UNDERWAY IN K. B. H.

Wells Realty Co. Reports That Business Is Gradually Picking Up

The Wells Realty Company reported yesterday that business for the past week showed a slight improvement over the previous week and that the outlook for the fall season, which is partially under way, is good.

A new bungalow in Kearney Boulevard Heights was started underway during the week on Stephens, between Fresno and Merced streets, by this same firm. The house consists of a six-room modern story and a half bungalow, two sleeping porches, a large cement porch and a garage on a lot 57½x150 feet. It is being built at a cost of $3,200.

Two new five-room bungalows in Fairmont Park were also started recently, one for Mrs. Marie Knudsen on the corner of Tehama and Cowan streets at a cost of $1,500, the other is for W. P. Modoc near the junction of Cowan and Modoc streets at a cost of $1,500.

Five pairs of lots in Fairmont Park were also reported sold during the week.

The furniture and fixtures for the Kearney Boulevard Heights school are now being received in the tract and preparations are being made to care for thirty-eight scholars. The teachers are here and are enrolling students at the present time. The school will open September 22.

Fresno and Merced streets and Kearney avenue are being graded, oiled and put in first class condition so that they will be ready for winter travel. The palms and blue gums along Kearney avenue are being trimmed and cleaned up so that the road will present a good appearance.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has just finished putting up a new cable out Fresno streets to K. B. H. This was deemed necessary as the electric power wires were continually interfering with the telephone wires.

The Wells Realty Company also reports the sale of four lots at Biola.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE OF GRIFFITH-M'KENZIE BUILDING THIS MONTH

Plans are now being made by S. N. Griffith for the cornerstone laying of the ten-story Griffith-McKenzie building that is under construction at a cost of $225,000 on the northwest corner of Mariposa and J streets.

Griffith stated yesterday that he had not definitely set the date for the laying of the cornerstone of the tallest building in Central California, but that the ceremony would probably take place some time this month. He suggested a holiday, preferably Admission Day, September 9, 1913, as the date. He afterwards remembered that Admission Day for this year had already been celebrated.

Preparations for the laying of the cornerstone have already been made by Griffith. It will be placed on the southeast corner of the building. Space has been left for it by the contractors.

START EXCAVATION FOR GREEN BUILDING

Various Construction Contracts Will Be Let Separately

The excavation for the Green building on the southeast corner of Kern and I streets was started yesterday, the contract for it being let the early part of the week by A. D. Greene, who is to erect a three story modern building on the site at a cost of approximately $35,000.

The plans for the building have all been completed by Architect Mathewson and everything is practically in readiness for the various contractors to start work on the structure as soon as the excavation is completed.

A general contract for the construction of the building will not be let, instead A. D. Greene, the owner is buying all the material that will be used in the structure and estimate on the various pieces of work such as bricklaying, carpentering, painting, plumbing, electrical installation, finishing are being received at the office of Architect Mathewson in the Forsyth building.

SAYS INEXPENSIVE BUNGALOW SENSIBLE

The bungalow does away with climbing of stairs, and no measure of this relief can be estimated. Doctors tell us fully 90 per cent of the troubles our women folk have to endure come from climbing stairs.

PLEASANT FEATURES

What a blessing it would be if the dwellers in city apartments and flats could chop out their own flat or apartment and cut loose from the other twenty or more families in the same house and suddenly land their abode in the center of a separate plot of ground, with light and air on all sides and no family over or under them. That's what a bungalow means, for in them nowadays all the flat and apartment house comforts are installed, no neighbors' kids on the stairs, no baby carriages in the hall, no garbage on the elevator, no onion or other offensive orders in the air shaft, no discordant notes from some one of many of the other tenants, no inebriated husband trying to make his key fit the lock of your hall door, none of the hundreds of other flat house or apartment annoyances, but real life and health in the bungalow.

And now for the garden feature of bungalow life. Remember, not too large a garden if you intend working it yourself; it is the small garden with no hired help that spells economy; just enough vegetables, fruit and flowers for the family table and less meat and other hearty food means more health and more money saved. The ordinary family uses from $1 to $5 worth of vegetables and fruit a day. Think of the difference in cost and quality in raising from your own garden these necessities and luxuries as compared with the daily outlay of money paid your grocer, fruiterer or peddler for vegetables and fruit the family use.

BIG GARDEN A WORRY

Again, remember the small gardens, just enough for your own family is what will count for good, save you money, make you enjoy its production; it's the too large garden that makes you tired and disgusted; too much work for the result aimed at will discourage anybody. A little garden of 25 by 50 feet will raise all the vegetables one family can consume. Keep down to these small proportions and you will be well paid for the little work of keeping a small garden.

The modern irrigation system does much to force early spring growth, enrich the product and hold against dry weather. The irrigation is simply a perforated pipe held horizontally in position three to four feet above the ground by posts with rings at the top through which the supply pipe is threaded. By a slight roll of the pipe to right or left the spray or small jets will saturate the ground like the gentle rainfall of an April shower. The cost of irrigation plants is very small; their use simple and the benefit beyond estimate. With an irrigation plant there is no such thing as drier up crops, every vegetable, fruit or flower is healthy, fresh and rich in its natural kind, color and quality.

SELECT NEW HEAD FOR WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Mrs. M. R. Ford Entered Upon Duties Yesterday; Clubs To Try for Prizes

Mrs. M. R. Ford, a recent arrival from Louisiana, has consented to take charge of the woman's department at the Fresno District Fair, and took up her new duties yesterday. Mrs. Ford is experienced in fair work, having been connected with the woman's departments at the Louisiana State Fair held at Shreveport. With the additional prize of $300 added to the woman's department, making a total of $616 in prizes, it is likely that this particular department will be one of the best at the fair. According to present information of the fair association offices many clubs will enter exhibits in the woman's department, this being permitted under the new rules.

NEW TRAFFIC RULE TO BE ENFORCED TODAY

Patrolmen At the Principal Crossings Will Be Armed With Whistles

To regulate the steadily increasing volume of traffic, the police department will put a new rule into effect today. Officers at the principal crossings of the city where the traffic is most congested, were instructed yesterday that one whistle is the signal to stop while two blasts means to go ahead.

This is only the beginning of a new set of rules for the traffic regulation in the city.

FRESNO COMMISSION INVITES INYO TO SHOW

R. L. Peeler Will Consult With Supervisors Regarding 1915 Advertising

An invitation to exhibit jointly with the San Joaquin Valley Exposition Association in the state building at San Francisco in 1915, was tendered the Inyo county board of supervisors yesterday by the Fresno County exposition commission. The invitation was sent by telegram. Should the Inyo county supervisors consider the matter, R. L. Peeler of the Fresno commission will make the trip to Independence to consult with them.

By uniting the counties of the valley into one large association, it is believed that a great deal more effective advertising and boosting can be accomplished than by working separately.

EXPECT LARGE ISSUE OF HUNTING LICENSES IN PRESENT SEASON

The county clerk's office looks for an issue of 8,000 hunting licenses during the present year in this county as against 6400 for last year. Up to Thursday evening but not counting the licenses issued by District Game Warden Ferguson the total issue was 3250 which is 3150 under last year's total. This total number is regarded a remarkably good showing, considering that it is so early in the season and with the duck and quail open seasons yet to be heard from, when with these license applicants then coming forward it is hoped to break the record of last year.

EXCHANGES 20 ACRES RANCH FOR BUNGALOW

C. F. Collins Takes Over Clinton Residence On Lewis Street

C. F. Collins exchanged his ranch on California avenue for the residence of D. C. Clinton, near the junction of Lewis and Clark streets, recently through the efforts of Farnsworth & Cluck. Both pieces of property were valued in the trade at $5,000 each.

The residence property consists of a modern six-room story and a half bungalow, together with four lots with a 100-foot frontage. A large sleeping porch is also contained in the house.

Clinton is making preparations to improve the twenty acre tract on California avenue that he received in the deal to alfalfa and establish a dairy on it. The ranch is located ten miles west of here.

BARN IS FIRED BY LIGHTNING; THREE HORSES ARE BURNED

Rancher Finds Structure In Flames Following Big Crash

Fire supposed to have been started by lightning last night destroyed a barn on the ranch of C. S. Hardwicke, 1 1-2 miles from the city limits on Jensen avenue, 20 tons of hay, one buggy, farm implements and burned to death two work horses and one driving horse. Hardwicke stated late last night that his loss would reach $1,500 and that it was partly covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is a mystery although Hardwicke is under the impression that the fire was started by lightning. He cannot think of any other way for the fire to have originated. Hardwicke was in his yard for about half an hour before the fire was discovered. He was near the barn.

About 10 minutes after entering his home he heard a crash of lightning and upon looking out the window he saw the barn in flames. The hay burned like paper and Hardwicke was unable to save anything from the flames. The fire illuminated the sky for miles and could be plainly seen from the tops of the high buildings in Fresno.

ROBBERY CHARGES ARE REDUCED TO BATTERY

Owing To Fact That All Were Drunk Theft Charge Is Dismissed

The charges of robbery against Thomas Galloway and Thomas Wright have been reduced to battery. The men were accused by Alfred Allen of robbing him of $2 on the Biola road. The sheriff's office investigated the matter and owing to the fact that all three men were intoxicated, it was thought best to change the charges to battery. New warrants were sworn out yesterday afternoon before City Justice Graham.

Allen was given a terrible beating. His face is badly bruised.

AUTO DEALERS TALK OVER TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Recommend Cars Be Permitted to Stand On Street for Thirty Minutes

Suggest Money Fine As Well As Imprisonment For the Violators

The traffic ordinance, which was framed by City Attorney Smith for the purpose of overcoming the congested condition of the streets in the business district, was submitted to the members of the Automobile Dealers Association at a meeting last night and after considerable discussion several changes were suggested in the ordinance.

The first of those was in relation to vehicles being allowed to stand on the streets in the congested district and it was the opinion of the members of this association that 30 minutes should be the limit between the hours of 8 A. M. and 8 P. M.

According to G. S. Waterman, who is also a member of the board of trustees, several complaints have come from the merchants that machines belonging to other business men are left in front of their places of business for hours at a time making it necessary for customers to seek other places for their machines while making purchases. As a result much trade has been turned to other stores. This will be overcome by forcing each machine to move at the expiration of a half hour.

The ordinance also provides that every vehicle shall carry a light at night and this was opposed on the ground that it worked a hard-ship on the man from out of town who used the streets only occassionally at night and would be forced to purchase a number of lights for his various vehicles. Automobiles are required by the state law to carry light and it is believed that this is sufficient.

As the ordinance is drawn now there is no provision for a money fine for its violation and only a jail sentence is fixed for the violation of any one of the sixty odd provisions. This is considered too severe and they will ask that this feature be modified. The other provisions of the ordinance were approved.

HOLD AUTO SPACE

Owing to the fact that all of the dealers of the city were not present at last night's meeting the matter of drawing space for the coming Fresno District Fair was passed over until next Wednesday evening when an effort will be made to have every one present. A contract was entered into between the Dealers and the Fair Association for 5700 square feet of space in the main automobile building which will be apportioned among the several members. This is practically all of the floor space available in this building and will mean that other dealers from San Francisco and elsewhere will be forced to exhibit in temporary buildings on other parts of the grounds. It will also mean that the local dealers will stage the most elaborate display of motor cars ever shown in this city.

Wm. R. McKenzie, a recent arrival in this city who is representing the Pathfinder car, was elected to membership and a committee was appointed to interview the three dealers in this city who are not members of the association in an effort to induce them to join. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, September 17th.

SUGGESTS RAISIN EXCHANGE UNDERTAKE TO GAIN CONTROL OF WATER OF KINGS RIVER

Editor Republican: Perhaps the enclosed letter from Mr. H. A. Ross, a well known grower between Fowler and Del Rey, may be of interest to thousands of your readers using Kings river irrigation water rights. Mr. Ross suggests that the Raisin Exchange take up next the matter of securing control by and for the people, of all the water-rights, canals, ditches, etc., of Kings river, for their own benefit. My impression is that the new Public Utilities law and our present very efficient California State Railroad Commission may make this a very favorable time for the water users to buy the water system if they wish to, and that the Raisin Exchange would like to help organize everything for that purpose,—if the ten or twelve thousand water users want to combine to control and distribute the water themselves, for their own profit, instead of continuing the present system.

May I ask through the columns of the Republican, all in favor of this proposition to let it be known, either through the Republican and other newspapers, or at the Raisin Exchange offices, 356 J street, Fresno.

W. R. NUTTING,
Manager.

W. R. Nutting,
Manager California Raisin Exchange:

I have been thinking over the proposition that I spoke about to you some time back and it occurred to me that since the exchange has been so successful in promoting the Million Dollar Associated Raisin Company—a feat that had been in seem almost impossible—that the exchange would be the proper and only reliable agency to handle this proposition.

In regards to this I will attempt here to explain my ideas more fully.

In the twenty-five years that I have been on my ranch north of Fowler there has been very few seasons that I have had sufficient water at the proper time and of late years conditions have been getting worse and this year the water level on my place has gone down eight feet. I attribute to the lack of water in the ditches. This year the water did not come to the ditches until May and was not by July, and during the late high water while the papers were reporting the river as high at times during the spring when we had water in our ditches we could get no water.

I have been told that at that time the ditches in the vicinity of Fresno were full of water and that large tracts of land southwest of Fresno which had been ruined by irrigation and did not need more water were supplied at this time while our orchards were suffering from the lack of water.

If all the users of Kings river water would get together and form an irrigation district to control and distribute all the Kings river water these things could be equalized.

Four years ago while in Washington I asked the chief of the reclamation service what could be done towards getting the control of the water in Kings river. He said that the government would help all it could but the people of the district had to make the first move.

The water and the snow in the mountains certainly belong to the people and the people ought to own the water company instead of the water company owning the people.

As the timber in the mountains is cut down it tends to let the water come in floods which will decrease the permanent supply unless reservoirs are built. Under the present laws the private corporations are not willing to make these improvements. If the water-users owned the ditches it would be to their interests from all standpoints to issue bonds of sufficient amount to make the necessary reservoirs. It might be possible to make use of this water in other ways—the generating of electricity or the reclamation of other lands.

In my opinion a bond issue of from eight to ten dollars per acre would be sufficient to carry this project through.

The California Irrigation District laws safeguard the rights of the bond holder and also of the water-users, and the system is now so well known that I should think popular opinion in this Kings river country would be strongly in favor of such a proposition.

How would it do for the exchange to take this up for its next great work to carry on through the coming year?

HIGH SCHOOL LADS WANT ATHLETIC GROUNDS

Secure Board of Education Support for Project; To Interview Trustees

Ten Teachers Are Named for Service From the Unassigned List

For the purposes of securing the co-operation of the board of education in obtaining an athletic field east of Fresno on property belonging to the city, two representatives of the high school student body, Malcolmn Crawford, and Ed A. Williams, appeared before the board last evening submitting estimates of improvements necessary and winning the members to their own belief in the necessity of the proposed grounds.

A committee composed of H. T. Humphreys, H. D. Carver and Superintendent C. C. Starr was appointed to take the matter up with the city trustees to see if the grounds might be obtained, and to report at the next meeting. The board expressed itself as heartily in favor of granting the high school students an athletic field, and pledged support of the lads in the proposed project.

The grounds the young men referred to are a part of the city playgrounds near Arlington Heights on Tulare street and are generally designated as the "carbarn diamond" when baseball games are played there. The entire grounds are 600x350 feet and the high school students desire 450x350 fenced in for their purposes. In this space the boys would contrive to place a football field, a baseball diamond and a cinder track. This would leave, they state, three-quarters of a block for city playground purposes.

The grounds are particularly necessary this year as the boys find they will not be able to use either Zapp's nor Recreation parks for their purposes. Also, Prof. H. H. R. Hunt, one of the instructors employed in the commercial department of the high school this year, has played on the 'varsity team of the University of California recently and will make an excellent athletic trainer and Rugby coach, which duties he will assume this coming semester.

The entire cost of improvements which would be necessary at first would be nearly a thousand dollars, though the grounds might be secured free. From estimates received by the students the cost of plumbing for the sewer connections, six showers, one oil heater and a fifty gallon tank would be $240. Also the cost of fencing the grounds, and erecting a suitable clubhouse—might total $750. The estimates were thought reasonable by the board and the committee was appointed to take the matter up with the city officials.

There is now no money in the school funds available for the purpose of making the improvements desired but it may be incorporated in the proposed bond issue, which, Chairman Sunderland is anxious to take up at the next meeting in two weeks.

Four teachers in the city school department who have completed courses in the Normal in the period in which they have been teaching here by working afternoons and Saturdays, and in summer school work, appeared before the board with the request that they be allowed the five dollars a month bonus which is offered by the school department to Normal graduates who enter teaching in this city. The opinion was expressed that summer work was commendable but there was doubt as to whether or not leisure moments devoted to Normal work during the periods that teachers are employed to give their energies to the city school department were to be encouraged. The matter was left to the Teachers' committee, of which Dr. J. R. Walker is chairman for investigation, a report to be made later to the board.

The request of Miss Pearl Hagerman, teacher at the Webster school for a leave of absence for half a school year was granted.

Because of numerous resignations on one plea or another and the increase in teachers made, ten teachers were last night chosen from the unassigned list for assignments in the city schools. They were the following: Misses Mabel Wallace, Leona Mayo, Laura Smallin, Sophia Andrews, Ethel Boyers, Victoria Cutten, Myrtle Church, Lydia Re-Metts, Mae Hazelton and Bess Davison.

The request of the board of supervisors that the present arrangements in regard to the detention of delinquents at the Parental school be continued for two or three months until the county has provided new quarters for them was granted with the proviso that the county supply additional equipment necessitated by this arrangement.

Miss Elizabeth Craig of York, Pennsylvania, was offered the position of art instructor in the high school, and will be elected upon acceptance. She furnished excellent recommendations and has had considerable experience in the east.

The resignation of F. Hutchinson as janitor of the Franklin school was accepted and Lee Kleemeyer elected to the vacancy. Harold Maxwell was elected as janitor of the Poppy school.

MALE CHORUS HOLDS ITS FIRST REHEARSAL

New Organization Plans To Give Program Sunday, September 28th

A male chorus of fifty voice, formed under the direction of A. G. Wahlberg and Prof. John H. Molineux of San Diego held its first rehearsal at the First Presbyterian church last evening. The chorus which has just been organized will begin practice on a program to be given Sunday evening September 28th.

The singers are not affiliated with any particular church for it is intended to make the chorus a Fresno chorus expanding into a larger organization including the best male voices in the city. Steps toward such a project have been made repeatedly but unsuccessfully until now and the prospects are that a successful season will be enjoyed by the newly formed chorus. Rehearsals will be held frequently and the organization rounded into excellent shape.

LIGHT SHOWERS FELT, NO DAMAGE

Light showers of rain yesterday afternoon and during the night alarmed raisin growers of the county but they were met by the assurance of the weather bureau that no heavy rain was anticipated and that the sprinkles of rain would not be severe enough to do any damage. No rain is looked for in the next thirty-eight hours though some may develop later this week. Stacking raisins is not necessary yet, according to the weather reports.

"No use for an encyclopedia," eloquently responded the book agent. "Why, my dear sir, everybody has use for one."

"Yes, they're all right in a way," deliberately admitted the farmer, "but ye see, young feller, I'm afeared I'm too old now to ride the darned thing."

"How do you spell it?" he asked, poised above the proper place.

NEW STANDARD GUSHER STREWS OIL ALL OVER FIELD

Came In With 3,000 Flow, Broke Loose and Increased to 20,000

Efforts to Bring the Well Under Control Are Unsuccessful

TAFT, Sept. 10—The No. 6 well of the Standard, which came in early in the week with a flow of 3000 barrels broke loose yesterday and is now spouting at the rate of 20,000 barrels, and is running wild, throwing oil all over the gap on the Bakersfield road. Oil is flowing in two streams, and all efforts to place the well under control have been without success. The superintendent has decided to allow the well to blow off till the heavy gas pressure subsides sufficiently to allow workmen to bring the well under control.

Situated as the well is, in the heart of the gap, it is almost entirely surrounded by small hills, which keep the oil in and enable the men working around it to save the greater part of the production. The big sump less than 100 feet away, which was built by the Kern Trading & Oil Company last November, to save the production of the No. 39 well on section 1, is being pressed into service to care for the flow from the gusher.

From it two 4-inch lines and two 3-inch lines are now running, the oil being backed up by the heaviest of pumps. The two gauge tanks just completed by the crew of the Standard Oil Company were hardly finished in time for the caring for the oil. Neither were well caulked, with the result that they are showing leaks in several places.

The temperature of the oil as it comes from the well is very high, being in the neighborhood of 120 degrees and being light oil, and of a high temperature, it flows like water and is in no manner sluggish.

Four small rivers of oil are flowing from the derrick to the sump, and because of the well being on the side of a slight incline, it is impossible to get close to the derrick from the gap side without wading through the streams.

Many visitors were attracted to the scene of the well today. Some of the less timid ventured close to the rig and in most cases were given showers of oil for their curiosity. Mrs. Clendenon Stubbs, Miss Rose Bradfish, Earl Grist and Charles West, of the Clendenon Photo Company were among those who suffered with a change of the wind. All endeavored to escape from the shower of oil which was suddenly turned their way but before they could get beyond its limits their clothes were in need of a dry cleaner.

The well came in with a slight production, Saturday and Sunday it increased to 3000 barrels per day. It was allowed to blow off through a 2-inch pipe. Late Sunday evening this wore away, allowing the oil to go into the air.

Tuesday the well was capped, a gate valve being put over the drill pipe which was lost in the hole when the heavy flow came.

An effort was made Wednesday to place a capper over this, to be connected to the 8-inch, but the pressure of the gas and oil was too heavy to permit it, the well breaking away.

No effort is now being made to overcome the flow, it being allowed to blow that the gas pressure may subside before the flow is put under control and the oil turned into the lines.

TO UNITE IN FIGHT UPON STANDARD OIL

Federation Organized to Reduce Gasoline Price, Or Find Substitute

PITTSBURG, Sept. 12.—Organization of the American Petroleum Society, which has been under way since early in July, was perfected at a meeting held at the United States Bureau of Mines yesterday.

Thirty-two American national societies had been invited to send representatives to the meeting and most of them responded and had members in attendence. The society will oppose the combination system of the Standard Oil Company.

The new society, to judge from the list of officers, extends into almost every state in the Union, several of the officers elected being from the Pacific coast, and it has already made plans for several years ahead. The only oil interest not represented was the Standard Oil Company.

One of the first objects of the society will be to secure a lower cost of gasoline or a substitute for it in some other by-product of petroleum. The membership includes all branches from the chemist and technologist, the producer, refiner and others to the driller.

Dr. Irving C. Allen of the United States Bureau of Mines, who was appointed secretary and who has been very active in promoting the society, believes that the membership will grow to great proportions.

TWO CALIFORNIA DIRECTORS.

The officers include well known oil men from all parts of the United States. Ralph Arnold of Los Angeles, and Edmund O'Neill of the University of California are on the executive committee.

TO MEET AT EXPOSITION.

The first annual meeting may be held at some convenient place next spring and the second annual meeting will be held at the Panama-Pacific Universal Exposition at San Francisco in 1915. At the 1915 meeting it is expected that all petroleum societies in the country will meet in the one great session.

An official invitation has been sent from the president of the exposition at San Francisco to the president of the International Petroleum Commission, which meets next January in Bucharest, Roumania, to hold its annual meeting for 1915 in San Francisco. This meeting will be part of the congress of the petroleum industries of America where the foremost petroleum technologists and scientists of the world will congregate. Plans are already being formulated for this 1915 meeting. The Bureau of Mines will soon issue a report on the formation of the society. Invitations were sent out in July to the secretaries of twenty-four of the national societies of the United States, inviting them to be present and to co-operate. Eighteen of these societies responded at a meeting on August 1 at the Bureau of Mines. A similar invitation was sent out in August to eight additional societies, making a total of thirty-two societies that were invited to attend.

SECTION FIFTEEN FINISHES UP WELL

Company Has Placed Six On Producing List and Starts In On No. 7; Is In Shallow Territory

TAFT, Sept. 12.—The No. 6 well of the Section Fifteen Oil Company, in the valuable shallow territory in the North Midway, which has been attracting the attention of oil men throughout the state, has been finished and is now on the producing list, it having been equipped with a motor for pumping. Temporarily, drilling operations have been suspended with plans made to start on the No. 7 in the near future.

The six wells have been put down in but little more than two months, a record having been made in this drilling because of the rotary being apparently adapted to the territory. Heretofore cable tools have been used almost exclusively in the North Midway, the hard formation making the drilling in this way exceedingly slow.

With a flow of oil estimated at 20,000 barrels per day, the No. 6 well of the Standard Oil Company, on section 36, 31-23, which came in Sunday and was controlled, broke loose yesterday and is now going wild, covering the gap on the road to Bakersfield with a coating of 23 to 25 gravity oil.

The oil is flowing through an 8-inch pipe, and because of this is in many ways different from the other many other gushers of the Midway. The heavy gas pressure is apparent as in the other wells, but there is no deafening roar because of the oil having plenty of space through the 8-inch pipe to escape into the air. Neither is there the nozzle effect which is usually apparent, the oil coming from the pipe in a heavy stream which spreads instead of shooting straight up.

The No. 3 well of the Maricopa Oil Company, on section 36, 12-24, which is being deepened for the Jim White sand, which was struck by the No. 6 well of the M. J. and M. and M. Oil Company, on the same section, was cemented yesterday at a depth of 2350 feet to shut off the top oil from which it formerly produced. The 8¼-inch casing was cemented. The hole will be continued after the cement is drilled in with a 6¼-inch pipe.

Bright prospects are being held out for that section since the striking of the last pay sand, which shows signs of beating any other oil strata in the district for production of oil as well as gas. S. G. Tryon, who had charge of the cementing, will deepen other wells owned by the company if the Jim White sand is reached successfully by the No. 3 well.

FINAL RULING ISSUED IN OIL LAND ACTION

Case of Carl Brown On Land Near McKittrick Decided In His Favor

VISALIA, Sept. 12.—An interesting case has just been disposed of in the Visalia land office. The land involved has been in litigation for more than twelve years, and a mineral application, non-approved, for patenting has been pending for eight years. The land involved is embraced in lots 1 and 2 and the south half of section 1, 30-21, near McKittrick. All of section 1 was patented under an old survey to the Southern Pacific railway. A later survey added a considerable area of land to the section, including that described above. On December 30, 1899, the register and receiver permitted one Carl Brown to make a forest lieu selection of said land and other tracts. The Southern Pacific, on January 10, 1900, presented an application to select the land, which was rejected by the local officers. The commissioner of the general land office reversed the local office and rejected both applications.

On December 15, 1900, the commissioner recalled his decision of the previous month and affirmed the action of the local office in rejecting the railroad selection. The secretary of the interior on March 29, 1902, reversed the commissioner and the local office and allowed the railroad selection to stand. Brown's selection was finally cancelled June 25, 1902, because of failure to comply with regulations after his selection was filed.

The McKittrick Oil Company in 1904 presented an application for a patent for a mining claim for the land. This was rejected because of the awarding of the land to the railroad company by the secretary of the interior. After appeals to both the commissioner and secretary of the interior the latter on December 11, 1908, allowed the mineral application and the register and receiver on May 16, 1910 holding that all conditions had been complied with, issued a final certificate.

The commissioner of the general land office on June 27, 1913, held the entry for rejection and referred the matter to the secretary of the interior for instructions. The decision of the secretary, dated August 12, 1913, just received, reverses the commissioner, upholds the action of the local office and approves the entry for patenting.

SAN LUIS OBISPO TO CO-OPERATE ON ROAD

Will Join With Kern County In Proposal for Road From Coast to Valley

MARICOPA, Sept. 12. — Another proposition for a road from the great oil fields in Kern county and from the heart of the San Joaquin Valley to the coast was started last night when Secretary H. H. Bell of the Maricopa Board of Trade read to the members of that organization a communication from the supervisors of San Luis Obispo county in which was included a certified copy of the action of that board on a motion of Supervisor Peter Tognazzini in the matter of a highway from Kern county through San Luis Obispo county to the Pacific ocean.

The clerk of the board was directed to communicate with the board of supervisors of Kern county and with the Chamber of Commerce of Maricopa, advising these bodies of the willingness of San Luis Obispo county to co-operate with said bodies in the opening and laying out a public highway leading from Kern county through San Luis Obispo to the Pacific ocean, over the most practicable route to be hereafter ascertained and determined upon.

After giving the matter due consideration the board decided to have the secretary notify the supervisors of San Luis Obispo county that their action was appreciated by people living on the West Side and that as the consummation of the road from Maricopa to Ventura was about to be had all interest was centered around the success of that proposition. However at a later date the matter will be taken up again and a movement started for the second outlet to the Central California coast.

The action being taken by the Ventura people especially the committee of seven acting for the Ventura Good Roads Club, on the Maricopa to Ventura road was discussed and commented upon. Many of the members made plans to meet the committee from Ventura when they arrived at that point on their trip over the proposed route.

BRIEF OIL NOTES OF SUNSET FIELD

MARICOPA, Sept. 12—Preparations are being made by the Kern Trading & Oil Company to deepen their No. 27 well, on section 5-11-23, and work will be started on the drilling within a few days. The well has been producing for the past two years from the upper sands which were the only producing sands known in that territory up to within six months ago.

The No. 3 well of the Maricopa Northern, which was started only last month, is now down to a depth of 500 feet. The well is being put down to the gusher sand from which the Maricopa Queen and Midway Northern companies have recently secured big producers.

The Pacific Midway Oil Company is installing a rotary outfit on the No. 5 well, and will make an effort to "mud off" the gas which has been stopping work on the well so much in the past month. The same method will be used in shutting off the gas as was used in the Oklahoma fields by the government experts in charge of the conservation of gas. John Pollard, of the government service, has been communicated with and every effort will be made to carry out the experts methods as laid down for the mudding of gas veins.

The No. 2 well of the same company, on section 32, 12-23, is standing cemented. The cement was placed at a depth of 1708 feet, and the 8-inch pipe was set.

The No. 9 well was also recently cemented, and is standing to harden the plug before drilling is re-commenced. It was cemented at a depth of 1660 feet. The 10-inch casing was used to cement with.

DEVELOPMENT NEWS OF MIDWAY FIELDS

TAFT, Sept. 12.—The excellent high gravity sand on section 32, 12-23, which was discovered by the Maricopa Queen Oil Company, is being cared for by the operators in that neighborhood at no matter what the expense may be, that water may not break into it and the brightest spot in the Sunset field ruined.

The General Petroleum Company on its Annex division on this section is redrilling the No. 3 A well that the water may may be shut off entirely, it having been found to be leaking. The 6-inch casing has been shot off at a depth of 1950 feet in order that the pipe may be pulled and work of redrilling facilitated.

A lost 12-inch baller in the No. 5 well of the Kern Trading and Oil Company, on section 5, 32-23, has been delaying the drilling for the past month and causing the drillers no end of trouble. Fishing tools of nearly every description were found to be of no avail, the baller keeping out of the way of all. Saturday a shot of dynamite was put in the hole at a depth of 1730 feet and the baller side-tracked, it being blown entirely to one side so that the tools went down with ease.

The heavy production of its wells on section 12, 32-23, has made it necessary for the Standard Oil Company to place more gauge tanks at hand. A contract has been let to the Los Angeles Manufacturing Company to erect four 1250-barrel holders on the lease at once. Field Manager George Todd with a crew is now putting up the tanks.

The No. 21 well of the Kern Trading and Oil Company, on section 27, 31-23, which has been drilling with a rotary under contract by the W. D. Head Drilling Company, is making excellent progress, it having reached a depth of 855 feet.

FOREMAN KILLS SELF AFTER DISCHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12—George L. Tucker, for twenty years foreman of the famous Santa Anita ranch of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, committed suicide at the ranch early today, following his discharge by Mrs. Anita Baldwin McClaughry, Baldwin's daughter, and present owner of a large part of the estate.

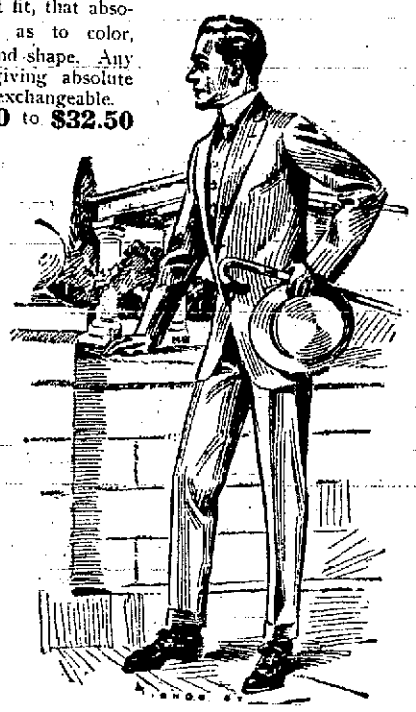

Tucker, who had passed his entire working life on the ranch, shot himself at Mrs. McClaughry's gate. He is survived by a widow and seven children, the youngest of whom is only a month old.

Increasing Your Efficiency

If you want to make yourself more efficient at your desk—to get in line for a raise—don't spend your leisure hours fighting the heat, but invest in a heat fighter.

Put an electric fan on the living-room table or mantel and it will surround you with a refreshing breeze that fences you off entirely from the heat.

That means the kind of rest that makes you fit for work the next day.

If the night is too hot to sleep, take the fan to your bedroom. Two or three cents' worth of electric current will keep an eight-inch fan going all evening and all night.

Buy an electric fan and it will last long enough to make the cost per day of owning the fan less than the cost of current to run it.

FASCINATING PICTURES ON EDISON PROGRAM FOR MATINEE AT BARTON TODAY

Nursery Favorites—Edison Talking Pictures—Barton this afternoon

The Edison talking motion pictures, an extraordinary production, will be seen at the Barton for only four more performances—matinee today at 2:30 p. m., tonight, matinee tomorrow and tomorrow night. For the remaining performances there is an entirely different program from the first four nights of the engagement, and includes the late Mayor Gaynor of New York City and his cabinet; "Nursery Favorites," taken especially to please the little folks; the Edison Minstrels, "The Suffragets," "The Musical Blacksmiths," "Julius Caesar," "The Jolly Bachelors" and others.

Edison, who is hailed as the wizard that has caught Nature napping, has given to the world one of the most extraordinary inventions of the age in these talking pictures. They are not a mere representation in the ordinary sense, it is the thing itself or near so as anything can be, and causes the common or garden variety of the familiar moving pictures to appear ancient and inadequate, in fact, there is no comparison.

Anyone who would have predicted a few years ago that it would be possible to exhibit talking motion pictures in the leading theaters of New York City and secure crowded houses at one dollar and a half scale of prices, would have been looked upon as a dreamer. Yet this prediction has come true at last, to the amusement of the theatrical world. The Edison Talking Pictures were presented at the fashionable Palace Theater in New York and created such a sensation that the newspapers and the men of science were lavish in their praises.

There are no reserved seats to the matinees, admission to any seat being 25 cents. Reserved seats for the evening performances are now on sale, prices 25 and 50 cents.

EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE AT PRINCESS

—WILL GIVE MATINEE THIS AFTERNOON

Noble and Brooks in comedy act at Princess

The concluding performance of the present program at the Princess theater will be given this afternoon and tonight. The fact that it is one of the best bills that has been shown since the opening of the theater should induce all who have not seen it to attend before it is closed. Particularly interesting on the program is Miss Dixie Southern, a San Joaquin Valley girl. Miss Southern resided with her parents in Hanford for nine years before they moved to San Francisco, where she entered the theatrical profession. She is a charming little woman in appearance and manner and her songs and stories are excellent. The crowning feature of her act, however, in her stump speech on suffrage. Every line, almost every word, is good for a laugh.

Noble and Brooks, fastidious dressers, are an important comedy act on the bill. They do their act on a special carpet to keep Miss Brooks' magnificent gowns from becoming soiled. They have some clever songs, new patter and an altogether amusing act.

It remains for Dell and Company to properly balance the bill with their dramatic sketch, "The Picture." It is deeply dramatical and gives the talented players excellent opportunity for emotional work. Mahoney Bros. are unusually pleasing in their work, while the comedian's work is distinctly original. Their clever little dog, "Daisy" hogs the applause. Fitzgerald, sensational acrobat and barrel jumper, lends thrills and gasps to the other pleasures of the show.

Mr. Melbourne Macdowell, the well-known American star, has been secured by the management of the Princess for three days only. Starting Sunday matinee, September 14. In the great fourth act of Sardou's play, "Latosca, in which Mr. Macdowell portrays the character of the Barton Scarpia, which character has made Mr. Macdowell famous throughout the United States. Mr. Macdowell's support is the best and no expense will be spared by the management of this theater in presenting this sketch absolutely true to detail, which has been characteristic of the Princess management. The public will certainly appreciate the fact that the management has shown great enterprise in securing an actor of Mr. Macdowell's ability. In conjunction with Mr. Macdowell the Princess' regular policy will be maintained in presenting high class vaudeville features which has made the Princess the most talkative of places of amusement in Fresno.

HOLDS HINDU CASE CIVIL; IS DISMISSED

Holding that the controversy is one for adjudication in a civil court proceeding in an accounting, Justice Hayward dismissed yesterday the charge against Natha Singh, a Hindu, accused by K. Sepend, also an East Indian, of the embezzlement of $331 in money in his hands to pay off a grape-picking crew. Singh admitted having the money, $180.40, due to twenty-four men including the complainant and $131.40 to fifteen others, but that he would not pay off until after Schand had made settlement for sub-contracts. Singh was arrested in Fresno, whither he had come to consult an attorney with regard to the disposition of the trust fund, the claimants jumping at the conclusion that he was about to Levant.

DEMAND FOR SPEED DEMORALIZED SERVICE

Committee of Engineers Makes Report To New Haven Officials

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 12.—An official committee of locomotive engineers told the management of the New Haven Railroad today what they considered the trouble with the road. "Too much pressure for speed" is their complaint. The committee's statement in part is:

"Why does not the New Haven go back to the conditions prior to the fall of 1911, without attempting the proposed radical changes in relation to its engineers? Under the same rules of operation the New Haven from 1901 to 1911 was as safe as any in the country. The present 'seniority rule' was made in 1901. The personnel of the engineers is virtually the same today as immediately prior to 1911.

"For eight years, or thereabouts the New Haven was operated safely. It carried more than 500,000,000 persons with only one fatality. In the fall of 1911 came a change. Henry J. Horn, general manager, ordered that engineers make time. 'Time must be made' the order read. If an engineer was a minute late he was hauled up. The first time his engine run by a signal the engineer was summarily dismissed.

"The ambition was to make a record of trains on time over any railroad in the country. The orders put out in the fall of 1911 made New Haven travel unsafe and demoralized the esprit de corps."

Bender Breaks Into Game With a Long Triple; Twelve Straight

(Special to the Republican.)

WATSONVILLE, Sept. 12.—Fresno took another game this afternoon after a hot battle, which was not decided until the ninth. Watsonville made an uphill battle to a tie score in the fifth and then took the lead, only to be nosed out in the final frame by the visitors. Errors on both sides had an important bearing on the result.

Fresno scored two in the third. McKenny drew a pass and Pierce singled to center. Wheeler's out advanced both men. Meusel flew to right but Priest dropped the ball, permitting both runners to score. A double by Wheeler to left and Meusel's drive to center added another in the fifth.

Watsonville tied it in the last of the fifth. Williams went safe on an infield tap. Gay singled to center, sending Williams to third. Gay stole second. Priest flew to right and Williams beat the throw to the plate. Christensen went safe on a hit to short, Gay going to third. Christensen stole second and Kuhn singled, scoring Gay and Christensen, the latter going safe at the plate when Hoffman dropped the throw from the outfield.

The Pippins took the lead in the sixth on Devereaux' double, Eagles' sacrifice and Sawyer's muff of McKenny's throw to third.

Fresno tied the score in the eighth. Sawyer beat out an infield tap and scored on Bender's triple to right. McKenny scored in the ninth, when he singled, went to second on Pierce's sacrifice, third on Wheeler's out and home on Meusel's single. Score:

FAMOUS UMPIRE IS HELD IN OAKLAND ON INSANITY CHARGE

PORTLAND, Sept. 12.—Bull Perrine, famous American league umpire, is held at the receiving hospital on an affidavit of insanity sworn to by his sister, Margaret Perrine. Perrine was stricken last winter with an attack of locomotor ataxia and blindness resulted only a few months ago. His afflictions have reduced him to a mental wreck.

Perrine received his training as an umpire on the Pacific Coast league circuit. His work attracted the attention of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who gave him a position on the major league staff. Perrine attributes his affliction to a sunstroke received in a game at Cleveland in 1911.

Twirler Bats Out Single In Eighth for the Winning Run

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—In a game that kept the fans on their tiptoes from start to finish, San Francisco won today from Portland by a score of 1 to 0. Overall pitched air tight ball for the Seals, and then in the eighth batted out a single to left that brought in the winning run. In the seventh inning when Portland had three on bases, he retired them scoreless by steady pitching. James was in the box for Portland and his exhibition fell but little short of Overall's. Each was touched for six hits. Overall struck out eight men and James six. Score:

SPORTING NOTES

The Packers made it twelve wins in a row yesterday by defeating Watsonville for the fourth time this week. Today Fresno will try for the thirteenth victory and if they win it, there seems to be no reason why a good sound record should not be established. Two more games from the Pippins and the opener from Stockton would bring the number of consecutive victories to fifteen. With Harkins and Stewart on the mound for the locals today and tomorrow, Fresno has every chance of annexing the total series from Watsonville.

Pete McKenry continues his winning. Yesterday was his fourth victory since signing with the Packers. Mac has started five games and won four of them, the defeat for the other going to Harkins. This gives the big slabbist a clean sheet. McKenry is also driving the ball about the diamond in a very worthy manner.

Dutch Leonard is evidently back in old form. He won his game again yesterday from Detroit, defeating that team 13 to 5. Boston secured twenty-four hits.

Stockton and Fresno will play a post-season series of five games at San Jose the first week in October, according to information sent out from the Garden City. This means that Wheelers barnstorming trip through the San Joaquin Valley has been abandoned.

Considerable interest has been aroused in the forthcoming baseball contest between Hughson and the famous Modesto Reds, at Modesto tomorrow. Hughson has already defeated several teams which have floored Modesto and the fans of that thriving community are confident they can hand the Reds the same dose of medicine.

Al Reich of New York, amateur heavyweight champion, made an auspicious debut last night as a professional at Madison Square Garden. His bout with Sailor White of Brooklyn being stopped by the referee in the fifth round to save White further punishment. White had been substituted for Fred McKay of Canada, who was unable to go on because of an injured knee.

Otto Berg and Frank Logan signed articles today for a ten-round bout to be fought in Oakland on Wednesday night. They are to weigh in at 160 pounds at 8 o'clock the night of the fight. Jim Griffin will be referee.

One of the surprises of the second round of play in the intercollegiate individual golf championship tournament at Noble yesterday was the defeat of C. B. Webster, Jr., the University of Pennsylvania star, by D. R. Douglas of Princeton, 3 up and 2 to play. Douglas went out in 36, one stroke below par, and made the returning nine holes in the same number of strokes. The best Webster could do was 38 out and 38 in, which in ordinary circumstances would have been a winning score.

Tim McCade, 16 years old, an amateur pitcher of Graniteville, Mo., who Thursday struck out sixteen men on an opposing semi-professional team of St. Louis ball players, was signed yesterday for next year's season with the St. Louis Americans.

OLDFIELD'S RECORD AT BAKERSFIELD STANDS

Contest Board of A. A. A. Reconsiders Action of Week Ago

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12—Barney Oldfield received recognition today for a world record he made last April at Bakersfield where he drove one mile on a circular dirt track in 46 2-5 seconds. This mark had been thrown out by the contest board of the American Automobile Association.

The decision was reversed today, according to a telegram received by E. Y. Boothe, chairman of the Southern California contest committee of the A. A. A. The local committee had succeeded in altering the stand of the national board which had rejected the new mark on the ground of insufficient evidence.

The record has not since been broken. The former mark was made by Bob Burman who did the mile in 47.35.

OAKLAND HOLDS SENATORS TIGHT

Munsel's Erratic Pitching Gives Commuters Five Run Lead

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12—After Munsell's erratic and ineffective work in the pinches had given Oakland a 5 to 1 lead in eight innings, the Sacramento Wolves staged a near-winning rally. Pruitt had allowed only two hits up to the ninth, but when an error and a walk put two men on, he started to weaken. With two out a wild pitch and three hits in a row put over three Sacramento runs. With one run needed to tie the score and with men on first and second, Lohman, replaced Pruitt on the mound and Moran ended the game with a grounder to Gardner. Score:

How to Get Rid of Eczema

If you bruise your hand, you will notice that a scab forms, and when it falls off, new skin has formed. Did salve do it? No! Skin is the same as muscle, bone, sinew, ligament. All are made from the blood, from the materials that your stomach and intestines convert from food into what we call blood. And this blood circulates in the myriad of tiny blood vessels in the skin. Start from your stomach, where blood materials begin, and it won't be long before you are free of eczema. Use S. S. S. for a short time, and not only will eczema disappear, but the entire blood will be renewed.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy, judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and you will not only feel bright and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 189 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Beware of any attempt to sell you something "just as good."

ANOTHER FEMININE BECOMES CLUB OWNER IN MAJOR BASEBALL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Blanche W. Locke, widow of the late William P. Locke, became today a part owner of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, of which her husband was president at the time of his death on August 14. The will of the late Mr. Locke was probated today and it leaves his entire estate to the widow, who is named executrix. The estate is valued at $28,500.

THIRTY PORTERVILLE RUGBY MEN REPORT

Coach Pomeroy Will Again Handle Training End; Candidates Fast

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 12. — Thirty sturdy members of the Porterville high school are out for light Rugby practice this week, including eleven of last year's championship team. There is every indication that the squad will include forty candidates by the first of next week.

H. L. Pomeroy, who has coached the three winning teams of the Porterville Hi, has reconsidered his determination not to act this season and will probably take charge of the work again.

Pomeroy is a great believer in general condition and for the present the boys will be given the lightest of work to improve wind and speed. There is every confidence locally that the Porterville team will annex the pennant.

Tulare is looked upon as a dangerous contender this season. Last year Tulare had some splendid material and as it is understood that the team is to have a competent coach this year, the Tulareans may prove to be worthy rivals for the flag.

Bakersfield, as usual, has a strong squad in the field and Coach Griffith already has his charges at hard work. Visalia is as yet an unknown quantity, although it is said that their team this year will be the strongest in the history of the school.

ERRORS BY BEARS DEFEAT ASH POPE

Stocktonians Hit In the Pinches for a 7 to 3 Victory

(Special to The Republican.)

SAN JOSE, Sept. 12. — Pope's two errors in the first inning paved the way for the defeat of the local's star pitcher by Stockton this afternoon. Towards the close of the game Stockton hit him hard in the pinches and won, 7 to 3. Boeckel's hitting and a three-base hit by Hap Smith with two on bases featured the game. Stockton players announced today that they will play a post-season series of five games the first week in October on the local grounds, their opponents being the Fresno team. Score:

President of Boston Reds Covets St. Louis Pitchers

Leverenz (left) and Baumgardner

What team in the American league has the best pitching staff? Fans and critics all summer have been discussing this interesting question. Now comes along one Mr. James Richelieu McAleer, president of the Boston Red Sox, and settles it. He says the lowly St. Louis Browns have the prize pitching staff of the whole league.

"George Stovall has the best pitching staff in our league today," said McAleer during a recent fanning bee. "He has four pitchers who comprise the best balanced staff in the American league and measure up to equality with any in the rival body.

"Give me Hamilton, Leverenz, Baumgardner and Mitchell, not to speak of Stone, too, and the Red Sox would have carried home this race in a grip. If Birmingham had that quartet the Naps would have torn through the Macks by the Fourth of July. If Griffith had this staff, with Johnson, the battle for the flag would have been a walkaway for the Washington team.

"And if Connie Mack had Hamilton, Leverenz, Mitchell and Baumgardner along with Chief Bender and Eddie Plank there wouldn't have been any race at all once the season started, with the other teams weakened by injuries.

"Now, here's what makes that staff a grand array; Hamilton isn't beaten by any southpaw in the country. Give him a ball club behind and the games that he would win would make him the sensation of the league. Leverenz is a topnotch youngster, too, and would win a barrel of games with a first division club.

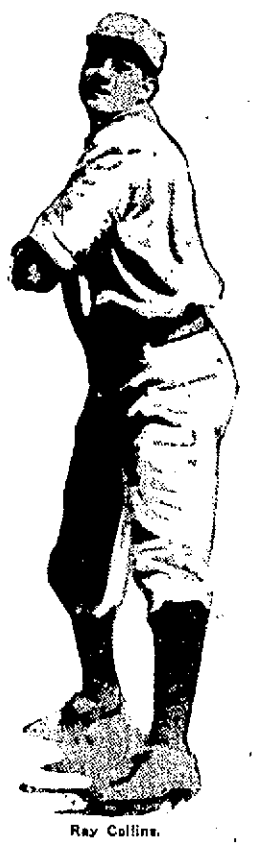

"Baumgardner, when he settles down to pitch, is a tough fellow to beat, while I believe that Roy Mitchell today is just as good a right-hander as we have found breaking into the league since it started. Two swell southpaws and two corking right-handers—you don't beat that.

"I only wish that the Red Sox next season started out with four men like the Browns' pitchers. With Joe Wood and Bedient in shape, and Collins going good you would need a pair of marine glasses to discover any race after the last of June."

Battle Grows Hot When Baker Meets Big Walt Johnson

Ray Collins.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.— There's always a shutout when Walter Johnson of the Senators and Ray Collins of the Red Sox clash. It is always a battle worth seeing, too, and it looks as if Collins is the only pitcher in the American league who can play winning ball against the Idaho giant.

Up until last week Thursday Walter had won fourteen in a row, setting a new mark for 1913. He had it in his head to smash Rube Marquard's row of nineteen, the modern record. Then he met Collins. Walter went down to defeat.

The Collins-Johnson duel started on April 23 at Washington. Johnson was in fine fettle that day, and Collins was out of his stride. As a result, the Washington speed king walked away with a 6-0 victory. On May 30, at Washington, however, Collins obtained revenge, scoring a 1-0 shutout in nine rounds.

The two met again on July 3, at Boston, and Johnson worked his most notable triumph of the season, downing the Red Sox in fifteen innings, allowing no runs. Last week's victory was a 1-0 victory for Collins.

The work of the two hurlers has been remarkably even in the four games, Johnson holding the Boston batters to an average of .187, and the Senators, despite their slugfest in the first of the quartet, finding Collins only for a .299 mark. By virtue of their easy victories in April, the Senators have scored seven runs against two for Boston, but the brace of Red Sox tallies have won as many games as the seven counters for the Senators.

Boston and Washington are booked for one more series this season. If Johnson are almost certain to clash in the rubber engagement.

WINTER BASEBALL FOR FANS OF OIL FIELDS

Big Leaguers Want to Spend Several Months In California Climate

MARICOPA, Sept. 12—Local baseball fans will organize a winter league on the West Side with possibly four teams. Manager Frank Fields of last year's team announced that he had already received several letters from players of note asking that arrangements be made for them to play on Maricopa's team if one is organized. J. C. Hulihan also has communicated with players who will be glad to don a Maricopa uniform should a West Side league be formed.

At the present time a league to include teams from Taft, Standard Oil Company at Taft, Maricopa and Bakersfield is considered. The arrangement of the games to be played are one in Bakersfield every Sunday and only one on the West Side, these to be played alternately in Taft and Maricopa.

Among the players who have signified their intention of playing with Maricopa are Ruddy Schwenk, pitcher for Houston, Texas; Fred Dressan, pitcher and shortstop of the Lincoln team; Jack Kelly, also of the Lincoln team; Bert Whaling, formerly of Sacramento Coast league team but now with the Boston Nationals; Happy Myers, the crack first baseman for the Boston Nationals; Tom Downey of the St. Louis team, and Big Charley Swain, who has a Coast record for home runs.

RITCHIE WILL GO EAST FOR FIGHTS

Promoters At Vancouver Challenge Champion to Prove Statement

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 12. — The promoters of the Ritchie-Welsh match scheduled for September 20 and broken by the departure of Willie Ritchie from Vancouver, today challenged Ritchie to prove his statement that the promoters had repudiated their agreement. Chet McIntyre, representing the syndicate, said he was authorized to deposit $5,000 with James Woods of San Francisco, Ritchie to deposit a like sum, and Woods to hear evidence to be submitted by both sides and turn the $10,000 over to the person who was in the right.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. — Willie Ritchie smiled as he read the offer from Van Couver of Chet McIntyre to bet $5,000 that the articles of agreement for a Welsh-Ritchie fight had not been repudiated by the promoters.

"No," said Ritchie, "that's not the way I want to make money. Word fights do the game no good and cheapen the men who take part in them.

"My attitude is straightforward enough. I got out of Vancouver because I could not find any one person whom I could pin down as responsible for the articles of agreement. If I can be convinced that conditions have changed, I will return to Vancouver and step into the ring two weeks after $10,000 has been posted and the articles signed as I stipulated them."

Ritchie plans to go east about the twentieth of this month, probably for one or more ten-round bouts in New York. Or he will fight Packey McFarland at 135 pounds ringside at Milwaukee, if a bout there can be arranged. He will not fight again on the Pacific Coast in a 20-round bout before Thanksgiving day.

RACING STALLION DROPS DEAD AT END OF RACE

READING, Pa., Sept. 12.—"Go-Between," the famous racing stallion, winner of the Suburban Handicap in 1908, fell dead under the wire as he won the mile running race at the Berks county fair here yesterday. Jenks, a colored jockey, fell with the horse but was not hurt. The stallion was owned by A. W. Kline of this city and was formerly the property of Henry W. Shoemaker of New York. Go-Between's time for the mile yesterday was 1:50.

LIKE SANDWICH ISLANDERS.

The Sandwich Island costume for street wear in Chicago is advocated by Alexander A. McCormick, president of the county board. He said he thought the abolition of clothes would greatly better the morals of the community.

"From what I have seen of the newer fashions for women," he said, "I think Miss September Morn's costume will soon be the popular style in Chicago, and I believe it would be a good thing for the morals of the city.

"Imagination and curiosity account for much vicious thought. Clothes are designed to excite the imagination rather than to subdue it. If clothes were abolished there would be no such stimulus to the imagination.

"Morals could not be much worse, so almost anything in the way of dress changes would have to work an improvement."—Chicago Dispatch to the New York World.

APOLOGIZED FOR LEAVING

When Earl De Mott escaped from the jail at Forest, Miss., where he was serving a sentence for carrying concealed weapons, he left a note of regrets.

He said he disliked to leave without even saying "good-bye," but that the unbearable heat forced him to go. He also promised to pay what remained of his fine—that is, if he could make the necessary money.—Jackson (Mich.) Dispatch to the Boston Post.

PLACE ORDER FOR NEW CUP DEFENDER

New York Syndicate Decides to Enter Race for the Boating Trophy

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 12. — That members of the New York syndicate have placed with Nat Herreshoff the order for a yacht as a candidate for defender of the American cup, became definitely known tonight for the first time. The men who have agreed to subscribe the funds for the yacht are Cornelius Vanderbilt, Frederick G. Bourne, G. P. Morgan, Henry Walters, Arthur Curtiss, James and George F. Baker. All are members of the New York Yacht Club.

The name of the managing director of the new yacht came as a surprise in local yachting circles. It is Robert W. Emmons II of Boston. He is a member of the New York Yacht Club, although up to this season he has been connected more prominently with the Eastern Yacht Club. Emmons has been sailing Harry Payne Whitney's fifty-footer, Barbara, in the races of that club this summer and has had much previous racing experience as owner and skipper of the old sloop Avenger.

That there will be a second syndicate, largely if not wholly composed of New York Yacht Club members, to back a second candidate for cup defense honors is practically certain, according to a man closely connected with the syndicate already formed. A third syndicate is talked of.

BRITISH MOTORBOAT WINS RACE TROPHY

Maple Leaf IV Defeats American Craft In Finals For Harmsworth Cup

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The British motorboat Maple Leaf IV, owned by E. McKay Edgar and representing the Royal Motor Lacht Club, won the British International motorboat trophy, popularly known as the Harmsworth Cup, in a series of races concluded today over a course in Osborne Bay, Isle of Wight. The finish for the course of 32.4 nautical miles was: Maple Leaf IV, 40:10 2-5; Ankle Deep, 43:25; Crusader, 46:50 2-5.

The Maple Leaf IV, by winning two of the three races in the series, retains for Great Britain the trophy which she won on Huntington Bay, Long Island, last year. Ankle Deep, an American representative owned by Count Castmir Mankowsk I of Lake George, is the second boat to cross the finishing line today. H. Hollingsworth's Crusader, a British entry, was third.

COMPLIED WITH HER REQUEST

The father and mother and eight-year-old Willie were taking a short ocean voyage for the first time. Both parents were exceedingly seasick, but not so Willie. He was having the time of his life. In low, weak tones the mother said:

"Father, I think you ought to speak to Willie."

Soon Willie came romping in and between seasick moans the father said:

"H-o-w-d-y—d-o.. W-i-l-lie."—July National Monthly.

WHO AM I?

Last year I did not want to embarass my best girl to make her propose to me, so asked her to be my wife, and she said: "I'd rather be excused," and I like an idiot excused her. But I got even with the girl. I married her mother. Then my father married the girl. Now I don't know who I am. When I married the girl's mother, the girl became my daughter, and when my father married my daughter he is my son. When my father married my daughter she was my mother. If my father is my son, and my daughter is my mother, who in the thunder am I? My mother's mother (which is my wife) must be my grandmother, and being my grandmother's husband, I am my own grandfather.—National Monthly.

DR. CHAS. HOWELL SUCCUMBS TO ANEMIA

Prominent Reedley Resident Passes Away While At Los Gatos for Health

REEDLEY, Sept 12. — News of the death of Dr. Charles Franklin Howell, which took place at Los Gatos Thursday evening, was conveyed in a telegram to relatives here this morning, and caused expressions of regret from residents of this city, where he has been prominent in social and business circles for four years. He came to this city in 1909, and became associated with his uncle, J. B. Moomaw, in the jewelry and stationery business, and later purchased the business, and added an optical practice. He has been singularly successful, and had built up a lucrative practice and was considered one of the progressive citizens of the city. His taking away will be keenly felt. He was also interested in business pursuits at Dinuba.

Deceased was born at Alamosa, Colorado, May 25, 1883, and graduated from Sidney high school in 1904 and from the Colorado college in 1908. From that time until he came to Reedley he filled reportorial positions on the Denver News and Times and Colorado Springs Gazette. He was also a graduate of the Los Angeles College of Optometry.

On November 7, 1910, he was married to Miss Maud Mallory, daughter of M. V. Mallory, of this city, and to this union a son was born two years ago.

The direct cause of Dr. Howells death was a form of anemia. He was first taken ill about three months ago when it was thought he was suffering from an attack of malaria. His condition gradually became worse and late in July he went to Los Gatos in the hope of regaining his health. The change at first was of some benefit, but soon after he again began to decline.

Upon his departure for Los Gatos he was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. B. W. Howell, and later was joined by his wife, both of whom were present at his death. Besides his wife and little son, he is survived by his mother and brother, Clyde H. Howell who has been associated with him in his business since the latter part of last year.

The remains were brought to Reedley this evening and will be given burial at the local cemetery Sunday afternoon. Services will likely be held at the Methodist Episcopal church and Reedley Lodge, F. & A. M., of which the deceased was a member, will have charge of the services at the grave.

PHYSICIAN CLAIMS FINDING OF SPRING

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 12.—Dr. W. F. Smith, now of San Francisco, writes to Porterville friends that the new soda spring which it was stated had just been discovered in the foothills on Upper Tule river was as a matter of fact found by him nearly a decade ago by accident when he was running cattle in the Springville district. Dr. Smith says he discovered the water seam quite by accident. At that time he called the attention of several of his friends to it, and the water was even then remarkable for its high percentage of carbonic acid gas. It is believed here that analysis of this water will show that it has no superior in California, and that it is of a character which will make its extensive marketing a profitable enterprise.

EXETER CARNIVAL IS NOW IN FULL SWING

Streets Are Brilliant In Colored Lights; Immense Crowd Expected Today

EXETER, Sept. 12. — The big carnival at Exeter is on in full swing. It opened in a blaze of glory Thursday afternoon at 2:30, with a band concert on the main street. For many days the different carnival committees have been working day and night, and they have reason to be justly proud of their results. In the start it was determined to have this carnival a strictly Exeter affair, and everything was to be free, and all participants in the sports were to be residents of Exeter. To this end the finance committee worked, with the result that the business men and boosters of Exeter rallied to their support and more than enough money was paid to them in cash to insure the success of the carnival. The sports committee have succeeded in arranging a very attractive program for every day of the carnival, and every entrant will be home talent. Cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded to the winners in each event, and from the interest shown on the opening day and the one following it is predicted that the crowds for Saturday will be the biggest in the history of Exeter.

The decoration committee have reason to be especially proud of their work. Large columns, appropriately decorated, were erected on Main street, and strings of electric lights attached to grapevine runners, were draped from column to column, making a very pretty and effective lighting effect. At the street intersections, long strings of lights radiated in all directions, adding very materially to the effect. In addition to the lighting scheme, every store front and office is tastily decorated, each merchant vieing with the other, to have the best effect.

The merchants are offering special inducements for trade on carnival days. From the number of people on the streets yesterday, it would seem that everyone, for a radius of twenty miles around, was in Exeter, seeing the sights and taking advantage of the special trade prices of the merchants.

Many people from outside towns were seen on the streets last night, and all expressed themselves as being well pleased with the show.

Following is the special report of the sports committee of the events for Thursday:

Robert Mixter won the mile bicycle race, with Carnall Balaam second. Will Stewart won the 10-mile motorcycle race with Lon Adams second. The time was 17:57 3-5. Ralph Lloyd won the free-for-all 10-mile motorcycle race in 12:45. In the pushmobile race Robert Kutt was the winner, with Nari Bishop as the power factor. The East Side fire company won the race between the two fire companies.

In the evening the ladies race was won by Miss Austin. The auto slow race was pulled off and it is to take place this evening.

In the afternoon of today there was a 20-mile motorcycle race, water fight, and quarter-mile bicycle race, 100-yard dash for fat men and quarter-mile saddle race, the afternoon program concluding with a large water melon feed free for all. In the evening another band concert took place together with street races and a big ball, free to all visitors. The program for Saturday is as follows:

AFTERNOON

2:00—Band concert.

2:30—1-mile motorcycle race (flying start) free for all. Prize $10.

2:45—50-mile auto race; first prize $100; second prize $35; third prize ten gallons of oil.

COALINGA SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

COALINGA, Sept. 12.—The grammar schools of this city will open Monday, September 15th, with Miss Mary Laird, owing to the illness of the regular principal, Miss Anna Steele, who will be unable to attend to school matters for a month or si xweeks. Mrs. L. A. Covel will act in the place of Miss Laird as assistant principal, and have charge of the Polk street school. The teachers are practically all here and in readiness for the opening. The enrollment is expected to be fully as large as last year, which was 536.

CUTS FOURTH CROP OF NEW ALFALFA

TULARE, Sept. 12—R. Orsi is cutting the fourth crop of alfalfa from a field which was seeded on last February 4th. This is believed to be a record for the valley from first year alfalfa. He has forty acres of the alfalfa, which has been irrigated from a pumping plant.

TURLOCK INJUNCTION SUIT COMES ON TODAY

Judge Rector of Merced Is To Hear Case; Board Is Seeking Principal

TURLOCK, Sept. 12.—The injunction suit to restrain Principal W. E. Hester from entering upon his duties at the high school next Monday will be tried tomorrow in the Superior Court at Modesto. Judge E. N. Rector of Merced county will hear the case for Judge Fulkerth.

A telegram was received here today from P. Bowdish, secretary of the high school board at Kerman, stating that the Kerman board had refused to release R. W. Broecker from the principalship of that school. This practically eliminates Broecker from the situation. The latter has left town.

The majority of the board is now considering Franklin L. Talbot, formerly principal of the Livermore high school, as an "emergency" candidate. Talbot was here several weeks ago, when there was talk of both Penfield and Hester withdrawing from the fight in order to select a new man. At that time, however, the dominant faction of the board refused to consider Talbot and the latter left without filing an application.

Following the locking up of the school building and the restraining order against Hester, the work of registering students has ceased. Only fifteen students had been registered by Hester up to the time that he was locked out.

HORTICULTURIST TO RESIGN HIS OFFICE

Commissioner Schulz, of Tulare, After Serving Eight Years, Will Retire At End of Term

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 12—A. G. Schulz, who has acted for the past eight years as horticultural commissioner of Tulare county, states that when his present commission expires in November of this year, he is through for all time with public office. Schulz states that the reason for his retirement is the need of a long rest. His friends insist, however, that constant friction between his office and the majority of the supervisors is the cause for his determination to quit.

When he was appointed commissioner four years ago Schulz agreed to serve only after great pressure was brought to bear on him by officials of publicity organizations and members of fruit growing associations of the East Side. He finally agreed to act although stating that it would be at a sacrifice to his own interests.

Schulz's work is known throughout California and has repeatedly brought him to the notice of state horticultural officials.

LOS BANOS MAN IS SENTENCED TO PEN

Manuel Rodriguez Gets One Year At San Quentin for Cutting Joe Nunez; Pal Is Given Jail Term

MERCED, Sept. 12.—Manuel Rodriguez was given one year in San Quentin prison and A. Martinez received six months in the county jail today for cutting Joe Nunez with knives during a fight at Los Banos ten days ago. The charge against both was assault with a deadly weapon, but in the case of Martinez it was reduced to simple assault. Both men pleaded guilty before Judge Rector.

WILL PROVIDE NEW REPAIR MACHINERY

Tulare Supervisor Is Equipping Shop to Keep All Machinery In Shape, and for Road Building.

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 12.—Complete machine and blacksmith shops for the repair and maintenance of road machinery are now in course of completion at the road district gravel pits near this city. When this equipment is completed it will give Supervisor Horbuch one of the most extensive outfits of the kind in this valley, including traction engines, sand spreading wagons, road oilers, smoothing and shaping machines, as well as a great array of small tools. All repair work for the district will be done here at a considerable saving in expense to the county. Supervisor Horbuch is now in San Francisco purchasing the machinery which will arrive here as soon as buildings are completed.

IS FOUND GUILTY ON FELONY CHARGE

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 12. — James A. Thompson, aged 17 years, was found guilty of rape yesterday. Fred Bevan, a witness called in the lad's defense, also 17 years of age, was ordered into the custody on a similar charge, because of implicating testimony he gave on the stand. Thompson's offense was committed against Leota Batt, who was aged 13 years, 6 months; when the crime occurred. Young Bevan, placed on the stand to prove he and Edith Gross were with Thompson and the Batt girl when the impropriety happened, testified that the two couples were separated for a short time. He frankly admitted he was guilty of the same offense against Edith Gross, and Deputy District Attorney Scott told the sheriff in attendance to take Bevan into custody.

Pauley, a prominent resident of this city, who has been confined to the Coalinga General Hospital for the past thirteen weeks with a severe attack of typhoid fever, is reported to be on the road to recovery. TO ENFORCE SPEED LAW.

DINUBA, Sept. 12—At the last meeting of the city trustees here the board ordered the city marshal to secure assistance and enforce the speed and muffler ordinance to the letter. There has been a general disregard for the law for some time, but it is proposed that hereafter violators will be apprehended. The little skatemobile on the sidewalks will also be prohibited

TRUSTEE LOSES HIS OFFICE BY MOVING OUTSIDE OF LIMITS

MERCED, Sept. 12.—Because he has removed his residence outside the city limits, Walter Crasad is no longer a trustee of the city of Merced. Casad recently moved into his new home a block or two outside of the city. This automatically invalidated his position as trustee. Casad said today that he would present his formal resignation next Monday night, at which time the other four members of the board are expected to choose his successor. Casad was elected for the short term of two years at the regular municipal election of April, 1912.

FOWLER WOMAN IS HURT IN RUNAWAY

Horse Became Frightened and She Was Hurled From Buggy; Mexican With Malaria Is Thought Insane

FOWLER, Sept. 12.—Mrs. F. W. Cole, wife of a well known rancher, living one mile east of Fowler, met with a very bad accident today, when a horse that she was driving, became frightened and threw her out of the buggy. She sustained a broken arm, a broken hip, and other injuries which threaten to leave her in a crippled condition for many months. Mrs. Cole was driving a horse that was supposedly very gentle, but an inverted covering over a manhole where the sewer was being flushed frightened the animal and it turned squarely around, overturning the buggy and throwing Mrs. Cole forcibly to the ground. She was taken to her home by a passing rig, and the doctor called. He pronounced it a very severe case, and fears that she may be crippled for all time.

Marshal Ford was called hurriedly to the west part of town this morning to catch a supposedly demented Mexican. When he arrived he found the Mexican wandering about the street clad in a woolen sleeping blanket, and with a huge bandage around his head. He was suffering with malarial fever and was out of his head. He was finally induced to return

COALINGA PLANS FINE EXHIBIT FOR FRESNO

Specimens of Fossils From Hills to Be Shown; Also Oil Products of Field

COALINGA, Sept. 12.—It is an assured fact that Coalinga will have a creditable exhibit, both at the Fresno county fair and the Panama Pacific International Exposition, according to the enthusiasm and manner in which the local boosters are going about it. Yesterday several prominent business men, headed by Gen. R. L. Peeler, Carl Baker, R. S. Haseltine and S. H. Hain, made an automobile excursion through the oil fields and vicinity, securing specimens for the Coalinga exhibit. In the Kettleman Hills district they secured a great number of fossils and geological specimens, silent reminders of other remote ages. The display consists of rocks and shells of different geological periods, and also petrified animals, wood and other substances of great diversity. No little interest will be evinced in the study of these articles, for to a practiced eye the ancient history of this portion of the country will be revealed. The specimens are being assembled at the office of the Coalinga Gas and Power Company, where they are being classified and arranged for the exhibit. Those in charge of securing the specimens are sparing no pains and will endeavor to make the Coalinga exhibit one of the attractions of the fair. Besides these specimens, samples of the different grades of oil are being prepared, and minerals, gems and agricultural products from this district will be included in the exhibit.

SUES TO RECOVER PATENT AND LAND

Norviel-Scraper Company Brings Action Against Levi A. Norviel, Member of Firm to Keep Contract

VISALIA Sept. 12.—The Norviel-Compton Scraper company, doing business at Pixley, has filed papers in the county clerk's office to recover a patent and deeds to certain lands and shops in Pixley, which were deeded to Levi A. Norviel in return for said patents and lands amounting in value to about $12,711.

On January 10, 1912, James Compton and Levi Pixley made an application for a patent covering a land scraper. This was granted. The plaintiff agreed to sell to Norviel certain property and shops, including tools, in Pixley, 5100 shares of the stock of the company. The defendant agreed to assume all liabilities of the defendant, amounting to $7,864.—Plaintiff maintains in his complaint that the defendant has failed to keep his part of the contract in any way shape or manner, and asks the court to compel the defendant to keep his part of the contract, which is the returning of the title to the patent and deeds to the lands.

FOWLER, Sept. 12.—The hearing on application of A. A. Webber for a gas franchise at Fowler is postponed until Sept. 18th, on account of A. A. Secures Position In Name of Another; Is In Serious Trouble

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 12. — C. M. Hargrove is in serious trouble here, having recently obtained employment with the Southern Pacific, as foreman, under the name of P. R. O'Dowd, the real Mr. Dowd arriving on the scene two days ago. Hargrove appeared at the S. P. offices a few days ago, and presented credentials under the name of O'Dowd, which gave him immediate employment. Yesterday the genuine owner of the name applied for a position, and was informed that a man with his name was recently hired. An investigation followed, the real O'Dowd proved his identity, and the District Attorney was appraised of the case. It is said Hargrove had trouble in Salt Lake City, which prompted him to assume an alias.

SCHOOL BOOK FAMINE IS EFFECTING SELMA

Teachers Ask Scholars to Bring Any Book In Their Possession for Use

SELMA, Sept. 12—Although it has been ruled in connection with the free text book law that teachers can not even hint that pupils furnish their own books, the Selma teachers are literally begging the children to bring books not only for themselves, but any books they may have that can be used by others. This is brought about by the failure of the state printer to furnish a supply for the Selma schools. The announcement is also made that it will probably be two months before any will be sent to the Selma schools. As there will be nearly 600 children affected by this failure, the local situation is a very serious one, and every possible effort is being made to overcome the difficulty and start the term work next Monday.

All of the teachers have reported ready for the coming year, and a faculty meeting was held today, at which assignments were made and schedules adopted. This afternoon all of the teachers engaged in the work of gathering text books together. An attempt is being made to get word to the heads of every household to gather up all old ones and to send them to the schools for use until the new copies arrive. An announcement will also be made from the several pulpits of the city next Sunday, and it is hoped that the combined efforts will relieve the bad situation.

According to the assignments of teachers and locations of the different grades all pupils eligible to the first, third and fourth grades, who reside on the east side of the railroad, will attend at the East Side school. Pupils on the same side of the railroad who are eligible for the second grade will attend at the Park school building. All pupils of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades residing west of the railroad will attend at the West Side building. All of the work of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be conducted at the East Side building.

Departmental teaching will be employed in all of these three grades. Vice Principal, Walter Bachrodt, will have charge of manual training and agriculture. Miss Edna Clark and Miss Parkus will teach English and Grammar. Miss Nellie Randall will also teach grammar and assist in other grade work. Music and drawing will be under Miss Leta E. Bare, recently from Berkeley, and Principal L. E. Richards will have charge of the classes in arithmetic and history.

The buildings have been completely overhauled and fitted with a new heating system. One new building has been added, with four class rooms, and an assembly hall, and the seating capacity has been increased about 20 per cent to care for the attendance which is anticipated.

WORK IS RESUMED ON STATE HIGHWAY

MODESTO, Sept.—12. — The delayed work on the state highway, from a point two miles north of Ceres to the San Joaquin county line, was begun today by the road contractors and will be completed by the first of the year, by which time it is expected the last link between Fresno and the San Joaquin county line will have been completed.

REPUBLICANS ATTACK CURRENCY MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Progress on the currency bill through the debating stage in the House was marked today by vigorous Republican attacks upon the way the measure was prepared by the majority and a defense from Representative Hardwick of Georgia, who, though he declared the bill was far from perfect and pointed out what he considered were defects in structure announced that in spite of its faults he expected to abide by the judgment of his party and vote for its passage.

Speechmaking continued throughout the day and into a night session with many of the orators addressing a handful of members.

IDEN IS BOUND OVER TO SUPERIOR COURT

Tulare Realty Man Is Held For Trial for Sale of Mortgaged Cattle

TULARE, Sept. 12—W. A. Iden was bound over to the Superior Court this afternoon by Judge De Witt on the charge of selling mortgaged property placed against him by E. A. Stellar. The evidence in this case presented by the prosecution and the cross examination of the witnesses has taken up the past two days. The defense did not offer evidence in the preliminary hearing.

The court room was packed again this morning before the hearing was resumed. Iden appeared to be in good spirits as he entered and bowed and smiled. J. C. Thomas conducted the case for the defense today.

Clashes between the attorneys were as much of a feature as yesterday, and the court repeatedly found it necessary to call them to order.

John Morris, who was placed on the stand late yesterday afternoon, was the first witness called this morning, the purpose being to get a correction on part of his testimony.

Morris was followed by E. A. Stellar, who continued this morning to be the star witness in the case. He was asked by the defendant's attorney if he had visited the Costa ranch near Hanford, where the mortgaged cattle were found, since yesterday. He stated that he had in company with Sheriff W. W. Collins, for the purpose of identifying cattle in the herd specified in the mortgage. Following this statement there was a long series of questions regarding the identification.

M. A. Costa was next called and testified to having dehorned all of the cattle that had horns when he purchased them.

M. V. Mattos was called and the defense endeavored to impeach parts of the testimony offered by Stellar. The arguments of the attorneys began immediately following the noon recess.

Immediately after Judge De Witt had bound the defendant over to the Superior Court on the first charge, the second charge, that of W. B. Cartmill, was taken up. This will probably occupy the attention of the court for the rest of the week.

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

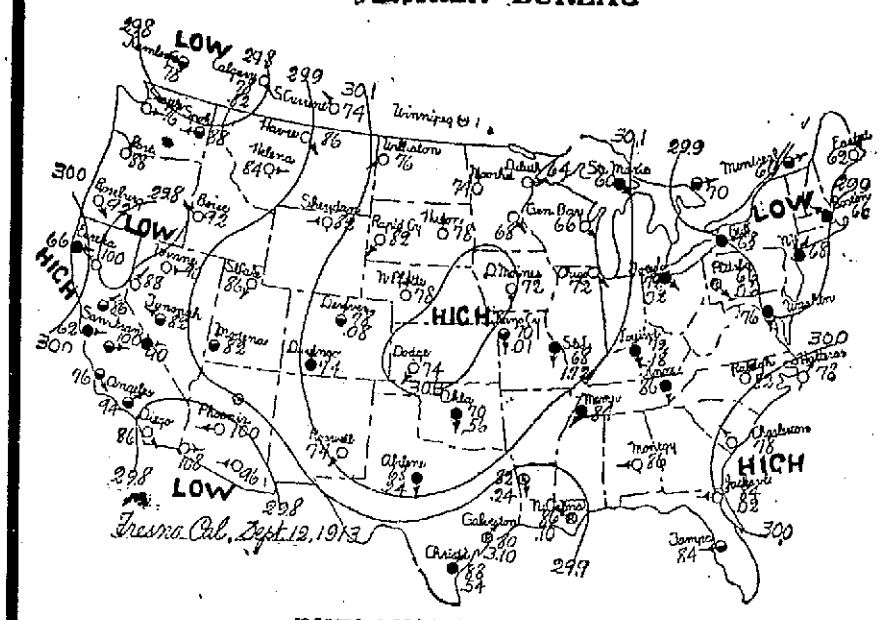

Baltimore, Md.—"My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work."—Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

GENERAL CONDITIONS.

Fair weather has prevailed generally over the Western half of the country during the last twenty-four hours, although it is slightly unsettled over this state. The shallow trough of barometric pressure is moving inland from the coast and partly cloudy weather is reported from several California stations, but no rain occurred except the light showers in this vicinity. Rain has continued in Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana and the Ohio valley. It has continued to fall in excessive amount at Galveston, where a fall of 3.10 inches during the last twenty-four hours has brought the total for the last three days at that point up to 10.04 inches.

The Western low pressure will center over the plateau on Saturday and local weather will remain somewhat unsettled but measurable rainfall is not probable. The barometer is rising along the coast and present indications are that conditions will improve rather than become more threatening. It will be cooler Saturday and Sunday.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Evaporated apples, firm. Prunes, firm. Apricots, firm. Peaches, steady. Raisins, unsettled.

NEW YORK.—Raw sugar, steady; refined, steady; prices unchanged.

CHICAGO. — Unexpected strength at Liverpool and a surprising development of export demand here more than overcame today the effect of heavy sales of wheat. The market closed nervous ⅛@¼ to ⅜ higher. Corn finished ⅛ to ⅛ down. Oats varying from a shade decline to ⅛@⅛ advance and provisions unchanged to 7½ off.

Severe storms in Argentina counted decidedly in later turning the wheat market up grade. It was explained that the strength at Liverpool was the result of an ultimatum of wheat being diverted from that port to the continent.

Corn was easier most of the day because of selling pressure which was largely from speculators, but the market showed good power to recover. Rains that meant much help to pastures formed the principal movement for the bears.

Oats reflected the action of other grain, easing off early, and then making a rally.

Provisions gave way under selling by a western packer and on account of a decline at the yards. Offerings, though, were finally absorbed by other packers and new investors, so that in the end losses were partly wiped out.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Union Pacific whose performances have kept the stock market on edge for several days, outstripped itself today by rising over 5 points. The price came within a shade of 160 showing a gain of 10½ points since rumors of a cash distribution to stockholders gained currency and the upturn began. Although the advance in this stock much exceeded the average movement the market in general made a striking showing of strength.

The day's advance was more impressive by the fact that there was no bullish news on which to base it. The rise apparently was due to the inherent strength in the market in its present condition. Coppers advance has been interrupted recently, but was resumed today. Canada benefited by glowing reports of the Dominion's crops was strong.

Forecasts of tomorrow's bank statement indicated that the week's movement had not been important and that either a small gain or a small loss would be shown.

Bonds showed an improving tendency. Total sales, par value, $1,935,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Bradstreet's will say tomorrow:

The events of the week spell progress along generally favorable lines. Chief among features were the expansion in fall jobbing trade, breaking of the drought in the corn belt, too late to enlarge the yield, but checking further deterioration and helping to late forage crops, pastures, stock, water supplies and fall seeding, the ending, generally speaking of the tariff uncertainty by the passing of that bill in the Senate; the realization, through the government report, of a record yield of wheat and of average yields of most other crops except corn; lower temperatures, stimulating retail trade; and enlarged movements of cotton and spring wheat, which tend to improve collections in sections affected, though room for further improvement is still ample. Enlargement in jobbing trade is reported from all leading markets.

Business failures for the week were 258, which compares with 231 in 1912.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week aggregate 4,473,358 bushels against 4,161,612 bushels last year.

Bank clearings at the leading cities in the United States this week amounted to $2,664,228,667, a falling off of 1.9 per cent compared with last year. The total at New York City is 2.8 per cent smaller than last year.

Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

Restraint upon business through tariff uncertainty is virtually at an end and merchants and manufacturers appear to be of a hopeful disposition. Expansion is not general as yet but signs of trade revival are gradually becoming more apparent and less hesitancy is shown in providing for forward requirements.

The low position of merchandise stocks throughout the country is one of the most encouraging features as the growing demands necessitate increased purchases to replenish depleted supplies. With the approach of the fall season advices from the leading centers record a quickened wholesale and retail movement, the volume of sales in most instances being in excess of last year.

Failures this week numbered 278 against 236 last year and 27 in Canada compared with 31.

"JOHNNY IN THE CELLAR"

In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Holland a cup called "Johnny in the Cellar" was to be found in nearly every house hold. It was of silver, and was used in the following circumstances. When a young wife was about to become a mother, her husband arranged a festive dinner, inviting all their relatives to assist. Towards the end of the dinner the cup, filled with wine, was presented to the guests, when Johnny, floating on a little piece of cork, came out of his cellar, and in this way the guests were informed of the happy news. If Johnny came out quietly and without difficulty it was considered that the child would be prosperous and healthy.—From the September Strand.

MISUSE OF TERM IMPEACHMENT

The whole difference of opinion comes from a use of the word "impeachment" in two senses by a careless drafting committee when the Constitution was prepared for adoption. Strictly speaking, the word "impeachment" means merely accusation. But the Constitution loosely speaks of the range of penalties for impeachment of an officer, when it means penalties in case of conviction after the trial of impeachment charges. Even well informed men of legal knowledge habitually use the word "impeachment," meaning conviction and removal from office. The New York Constitution defines the circumstances under which the Lieutenant-Governor might take the place of the Governor. These include death, absence from the state, such automatic causes as conviction of crime in court, and "impeachment" is mentioned as the first in the list. Since elsewhere in the instrument the word "impeachment" is used in the sense of conviction after an impeachment trial, it would seem entirely plain to a candid student of the subject in all its bearings, historical and otherwise, that it has not recently been the intention of the state of New York to allow a hostile majority in one branch of the legislature to deprive the Governor of his office, and to install the Lieutenant-Governor on a moment's notice under suspension of rules by the mere passage of a resolution to bring impeachment charges. The present Constitution of New York was made by a sane and intelligent body, with the Hon. Joseph H. Choate as its president and the Hon. Elihu Root as one of its foremost members. This convention would never have permitted itself to do such an eccentric and ridiculous thing as to depart from what had become the well-established American rule (national and state), and to allow high executive officers to be deposed, in advance of an impeachment trial, by the mere whim of a political majority in one branch of the legislature. The framers of the present Constitution of New York, in our judgment, meant to protect the office of Governor as against the Goths and Vandals of a Tammany majority in the legislature, precisely as the Constitution of the United States meant to protect the high office of President against the fury of a hostile majority in the House of Representatives. If the present Tammany doctrine in New York were sound, and could have been applied at Washington, not only would Andrew Johnson have been deposed from office, but Grover Cleveland would more than once have had charges preferred against him for the mere sake of having him suspended from the exercise of his functions as President. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for September.

NO ESCAPE

"I am tired of the city," he said,
As afar to the country he fled;
"With delight I will browse
In the fields of the cows,
In the scent of the genuine hay."
But the very first sight that he saw
In the street of the town of Paw-Paw
Was the tavern made bright
With electrical light,
And a sign that announced
"Cabaret!"

He remarked: "I will fly to the wild,
By no thought of a shave
I will dwell in a cave
And will gather my food from the limb."
But he found that the hermit close by
Had an auto of power quite high;
And the fellow came in
The next day with a grin
And a long wireless message for him!

Then he went to the highest of peaks
After climbing for several weeks,
And he chuckled, "At last
In this solitude vast
I have found a desirable clime."
But he shook with unspeakable dread
When he saw on a crag overhead,
At that Andean height,
A big sign, "Eight tonight!
Our New Movies! Admission, One
Dime!"

When he went on a liner at sea,
They'd a vaudeville performance, (ah, me.)
With the dialect Jape
He had hoped to escape
And a lady assassin of songs.
So he hurried right back to N. Y.,
And was heard by the waiters to sigh,
"Since it's certain I've got
No escape from this rot,
I will face it just where it belongs!"—John O'Keefe, in the New York World.

SHARKS AS PRISON GUARDS.

Shark skin, shark teeth, shark oil, shark meat, and several other by-products of the dead shark are articles of greater or lesser utility, but I have never heard of but one instance where the living shark was put to a practical use. This says Lewis R. Freeman in the September Wide World Magazine, was when they used him as a prison guard in the old days when British convicts were transported to Australia, the monsters serving this purpose for many years at the Port Arthur settlement, ten miles south of Hobart, the present capital of Tasmania. The prisons at this point, some of which may still be seen, were situated upon a peninsula whose only connection with the mainland was by a long, narrow strip of sand called, from its configuration, the "Englishawk's Neck."

The convicts were allowed considerable liberty on the peninsula, but to prevent their escape to the mainland half-starved bloodhounds were chained all the way across the narrowest portion of the "Nerk." Several prisoners having avoided this "bloodhound zone" by swimming, the authorities adopted the effective but gruesome expedient of feeding the sharks at that point several times a day. In a few weeks the place became literally alive with the voracious maneaters, and from that time on the only convict who ever escaped accomplished his purpose by rolling himself up in kelp and working along, inch by inch, timing his movements to correspond with those of the other heaps of sea-weed that were being rolled by the surf.

MARK TWAIN'S BELIEF IN HEAVEN.

Theology was a frequent subject of discussion, so we can safely refute the many mistakes made as to his beliefs, says Marion Schuyler Allen, writing of Mark Twain in the September Strand. His ideas on religion were different from any conventional ones, but he could not truly be called an agnostic, for he firmly believed, and as a result of the deepest thought, in a Supreme Being. The following passage, marked by him in a book read during the winter, gives an insight into his thoughts on Heaven and a hereafter. "I do not think of Heaven as a glittering place with streets of gold and walls of pearl, but more like the quiet woods, where the grass is green and the little brook sings all day. I have thought of Heaven as a place where those who love shall be together, free from all thought of parting."

SEWING HUMAN HEARTS.

Probably the most daring chapter in modern surgery is that which treats of operations on the heart. "The road to the heart is only 2 or 3 inches long, but it has taken surgery nearly 3,600 years to traverse it," is one writer's striking remark. How recent this work is, is made plain from the fact that a book published by Stephen Paget in 1895 contained a chapter on "Surgery of the Heart," the words being contemptuously inclosed in quotation marks. The scientist as well as the layman looked upon the heart with an almost superstitious awe. Any injury necessarily implied death; any interference with such an injury could only hasten the end. Yet many shrewd observers in the course of the ages had noted that all heart wounds did not result in instantaneous death.

It was not until ten or fifteen years ago that surgeons began to act upon this knowledge. In exceptional cases death did not result immediately from a heart wound; there were intervals of a few minutes, a few days, or a few weeks. Why not utilize this interval in an attempt to sew up the wound? Medical history now reports many successful operations of this kind. An especially note-worthy one, performed upon an Alabama negro boy in 1902, illustrates the resources of modern heart surgery. This boy had been the victim of an especially nasty stab wound. The knife had penetrated the apex of the heart and passed into the left ventricle, making a wound nearly half an inch long. When the boy was placed on the operating table, in a little negro cabin, the signs of death had already appeared. His feet were cold, and his face showed signs of the utmost distress. The surgeons made a little window-like opening just above the heart. Through this they could readily see the injured organ, the blood spurting from the wound at each pulsation. One surgeon put in his hand, pulled the heart upward, and held it while another sewed the wound with a catgut. The operation—performed without an anesthetic—lasted 55 minutes; on the sixteenth day the boy was sitting up; in a short time his heart was as good as new—From the World's Work.

WHERE EVERY MAN HAS TWO SOULS

It is an article of belief among the people of West Africa that every man has two souls, one of which always animates his human draught, the secret of which has been handed down for untold ages, can leave the term in which it usually dwells, and float invisibly into the depths of the forest, where it takes on its were-shape. The Calabar River is supposed to be the home of many such elephant and crocodile souls—"Ebumi," as they are called.

Near the bank where the main traffic crosses the river lies a great oval-shaped stone, half embedded in the ground. Behind it a ju ju tree has been planted, and in front a heap of leaves may be seen. This stone is one of the altars of Nimm, the great Nature goddess of the Ekol people and the chief object of devotion to the women of this region. To insure her protection leaves must be plucked, rubbed on the forehead, and then thrown upon the heap with the prayer: "I am coming across the river; may crocodile lay down his head."

LONG TRIPS FOR DEAD

After being carried four times across the Atlantic, a distance of more than 12,000 miles, the body of Mrs. Johanna Strich, who died at 635 Amsterdam avenue, New York on July 5, will be buried at sea on Friday at sunset from the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm.

In her will Mrs. Strich directed that her body should be buried in the Jewish cemetery in Breslau, Germany, her native city. Her daughter, Mrs. J. Reinshauser, took the body to Germany and brought it back again as the charges for a grave were too high. Mrs. Reinshauser thought. Relatives persuaded her to go again and carry out the instruction in the will. On the second visit it was found that there was no more room in the cemetery at Breslau. The body was brought back here, and yesterday Mrs. Reinshauser sailed on the Kronprinz Wilhelm from Hoboken to bury her mother's body at sea.—New York Times.

NORTHERN COUNTIES REAL ESTATE

SACRAMENTO VALLEY

Is attracting the attention of wise investors everywhere. The development there in the last year has been remarkable. Lands that were made exceedingly rich by overflow years ago are now fully reclaimed and under cultivation. This year such lands raised 50 bags of grain per acre, and 12 tons of alfalfa per acre, all with sub-irrigation. You can farm twice the land by this method, and you save all the money usually spent on leveling, checking, ditching and developing water. The latest of the big ranches to be subdivided is the Famous Fair Ranch

Which has just been placed on the market and which is selling faster than any land in the entire Sacramento Valley. There are 10,000 acres in this ranch, and 2,000 acres have been sold in the past month. The land is perfectly level, thoroughly subdued and ready for the next crop. Roads are graded, landings are being made at convenient points along the river, and work will soon begin on the new extension of the Northern Electric Railway right through this ranch. All you need to do to put in your crop of alfalfa, grain, beans, etc., is to plow and harrow. Dry as this season has been, one team will pull a plow right through it, for the ground is moist just a few inches below the surface.

Riversarden Farms
Is the name given this very fertile tract of land, and if you will but go and see it you will admit it is rightly named. It is rich river sediment soil, 35 feet deep, with absolutely no hardpan. It is good for not only alfalfa and grain, but the best of land for pears, prunes, walnuts, almonds and most tree stuff, for grapes, berries and most vines, and for all vegetables. In fact, it is "all around" farming land, which is so hard to find in most districts. Ten acres of this land a man would make more money than on 40 acres most places, and with much less work, for you must remember that on this land

Alfalfa Sub-Irrigates
Thus cutting down to a minimum the work of getting in your crop, as well as tending it. If you are now farming alfalfa where the water is short you know the work it requires as well as the worry waiting for the water; water that sometimes never comes. Our land is selling fast, so if you have any notion of buying a place in the best tract of general farming land in California, take the first train to Sacramento and see it. We maintain an office and salesman at Woodland, and have our own autos to show you the land. Come in and ask us about the low round-trip rates Sept. 12 to 20.

THE IDEA FOR THIS NOVEL & PRACTICAL DESIGN WAS ORIGINATED BY "WINIFRED WORTH"

DESIGN FOR CHILD'S DRESS

TO BE WORKED IN EMBROIDERY

HAVE used this pattern because its extreme simplicity is pleasing. It may be used on white, or colored fabrics. It is prettiest in all white, then one does not run the risk of seeing fine work faded.

Eyelet work is indicated by circles. These are made by puncturing the holes to their extreme edge. Flowers are embroidered with one thread the better to insure the perfect diamond shape. All foliage leaves should be made in satin embroidery.

A handsome example of embroidery is done in white floss upon tan, brown or yellow linen. Butternut brown crash embroidered in white is strikingly beautiful in a dress worn by a little brown-eyed miss.

Sincerely yours,

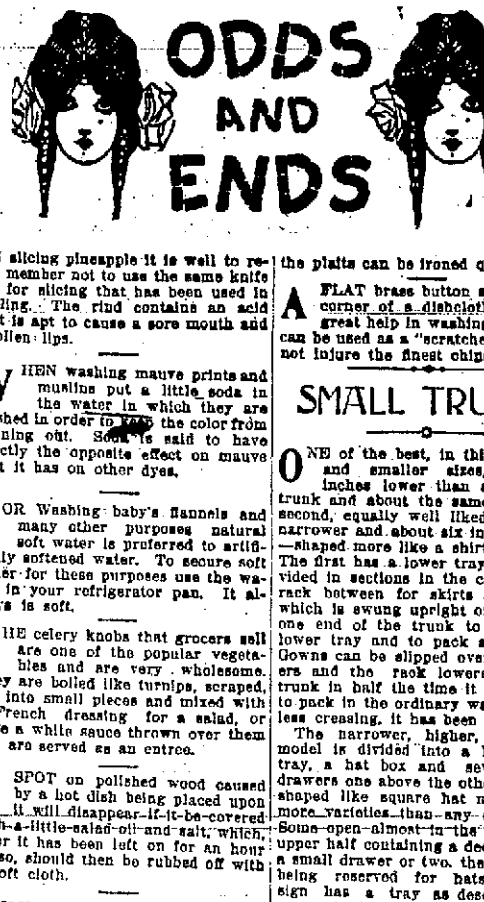

Winifred Worth

ODDS AND ENDS

IN slicing pineapple it is well to remember not to use the same knife for slicing that has been used in peeling. The rind contains an acid that is apt to cause a sore mouth and swollen lips.

WHEN washing mauve prints and muslins put a little soda in the water in which they are washed in order to keep the color from running out. Soda is said to have exactly the opposite effect on mauve that it has on other dyes.

FOR Washing baby's flannels and many other purposes natural soft water is preferred to artificially softened water. To secure soft water for these purposes use the water in your refrigerator pan. It always is soft.

THE celery knobs that grocers sell are one of the popular vegetables and are very wholesome. They are boiled like turnips, scraped, cut into small pieces and mixed with French dressing for a salad, or have a white sauce thrown over them and are served as an entree.

A SPOT on polished wood caused by a hot dish being placed upon it will disappear if it be covered with a little salad oil and salt, which, after it has been left on for an hour or so, should then be rubbed off with a soft cloth.

SILK stockings will look their best if they are washed in bran water, not with soap. To each quart of water allow two heaped tablespoonfuls of bran, boil it for about five minutes, then strain out the bran.

TO polish amber rub it with whiting moistened with water, and lastly with a little olive oil laid on, and well polished off with a piece of flannel.

WHEN roasting meat in an open pan, wet a clean white muslin cloth and lay over the top of the meat. It will keep from getting hard and does not require basting so often, and the meat is much nicer.

WHEN ironing box-plaited waists and the plaits are twisted together with the starching, take a stick of wood and insert in the plait to open it up, and you will find the plaits can be ironed quite readily.

A FLAT brass button sewed on the corner of a dishcloth will be a great help in washing dishes. It can be used as a "scratcher," and will not injure the finest china.

SMALL TRUNKS

ONE of the best, in thirty-six inch and smaller sizes, is several inches lower than an ordinary trunk and about the same width. A second, equally well liked, is longer, narrower and about six inches higher—shaped more like a shirt waist box. The first has a lower tray, a tray divided in sections in the cover, and a rack between for skirts and waists, which is swung upright on hinges at one end of the trunk to get at the lower tray and to pack and unpack. Gowns can be slipped over the hangers and the rack lowered into the trunk in half the time it would take to pack in the ordinary way and with less creasing, it has been found.

The narrower, higher, week end model is divided into a long, lower tray, a hat box and several small drawers one above the other. Trunks shaped like square hat moxes show more varieties than any other style. Some open almost in the middle, the upper half containing a deep tray and a small drawer or two, the lower half being reserved for hats. One design has a tray as described and one end of the hat box is partitioned off for shoes.

FOR A RAINY DAY

FASHIONS and customs have changed overwhelmingly in the past ten years, but in no other respect more than in the rainy day garb. Every one remembers with many a hearty laugh the way people used to look out of the window and say, in a resigned way: "Well, it's raining." That meant very positively that good looking clothes were not in decent taste in such weather and one must wear a mackintosh—was there ever a more hideous garment made?—heelless rubbers, dark clothes, shabby shoes and one's oldest hat. And who ever did enjoy anything in her oldest hat! Nowadays the girl who looks on the cheerful side of things and rather enjoys the rainy day for a change has a bright red or purple hat that, of course, has no feathers, but is plain and serviceable, but which she knows is most becoming. She wears her tailored suit, but it has a short skirt and is protected by a good looking raincoat. Her shoes are high and thick, but they are just as good looking as those she keeps for sunny days, and often, to add another bit of color, she carries a red or purple silk umbrella. It keeps the rain off just as well as a black one and it just makes you feel better. It is wonderful what a becoming hat and gay umbrella can do toward chasing away the blues on a stormy day.

A NEW AND USEFUL KITCHEN ACCESSORY

SCORE CARDS

IF you want to make inexpensive and handsome score cards, buy some floral wall paper. Roses and carnations are both very effective. One way is to paste the floral paper smoothly on water color paper, which costs 5 cents a sheet. When the paste is thoroughly dry, cut into odd shapes so that a flower is on each card. Attach a pencil, and letter with a small brush. No one would ever suspect that they are not hand-painted.

EXERCISES BEGET MORALS

BY MRS. McCUNE.

A REALIZATION of this fact is at the bottom of much of the agitation for parks and recreation grounds in the larger cities that is so conspicuous an element of modern municipal improvement. Indoor life is productive of all the ills induced by ozoneless and vitiated air—the most extreme manifestation being tuberculosis, that scourge of the sunless tenement—and the white-faced multitudes to be met with everywhere should be encouraged for the sake of their morals as well as their physical health to seek the green field and the seashore, and go in for athletics of some kind.

No movement of modern times interests the far-sighted more than the village associations, just beginning to be operative, which have for their object the establishment of communities (with schools, churches, manufactories, and opportunities for agriculture on extensive tracts of land) for the purpose of giving the poor classes a chance on the one hand to get away from the unhealthy and immoral conditions of life in a crowded city, and on the other to escape the barrenness and isolation of the usual type of country life. Such garden associations, as they are called, deserve the hearty support of all who are concerned with the spiritual and material well being of their fellows.

The wealthier class in the community have for some time shunned the city for fully six months of the year, and the middle classes remain out of town later and later in the autumn. But these classes constitute only a very small minority compared to the aggregate populations of cities and towns, and it is to these millions of little leisure that must be preached the gospel of fresh air and outdoor exercise as a way of physical and moral regeneration.

In this propaganda the parson and the school teacher should help; in fact, they are the main medium through which such teaching can be presented for more than any other classes they can thin out the overpopulation of cities, through the presentation of purer and simpler ideas than those of the complex "packed" life the majority lead. The school teachers have their opportunity in the nature study department, and the preachers theirs in tactful endorsement of the garden associations and similar enlightened movements. If they would but encourage Sunday outdoor recreations, such as country walks, or picnics after morning service, instead of frowning upon efforts at out of door pleasuring, they would surely accomplish much in weaning population pent up in shops, offices and factories for six days in the week, from the questionable attractions and less moral amusements of life in the poorer sections of cities.

BE OPEN MINDED

BY EDNA EGAN.

WHETHER you have gone to school or not, whether you have had the advantages of book learning or not, there is one test that will mark you as an educated person. Are you open minded? Are you free from trailing prejudices around you? According to John Van Dyke, the art critic, "raising ourselves above prejudices is not easy of accomplishment. It is what is broadly called education—a difficult attainment to many—an obsolete impossibility to some."

If you have never taken stock of your prejudices, it may be that you do not know how many are clinging to you. You may have one against the person with a foreign accent. Or against a certain author's whole collection of works, merely because you disapproved of a certain remark found in one of them. It may be against the profession of the actress. Certainly, any one of these marks you as provincial. It places you in a narrow set. With these feelings you can never hope to rank in the class of the one or two great men and women in the world. It is significant that the word "welt-kind" has been applied to this type. In English—a child of the universe.

Ridiculous as it sounds, the following story is true. A friend of mine was motoring through a small southern town. "Can you tell me where the B's live?" she asked of a kindly looking woman sitting on a porch.

"The minister?" the latter asked, with interest.

"No," said my friend. "These are business people."

"Oh!" came her frigid response. "They must be so and so," mentioning a different denomination of religion than hers. "I do not know them." And she refused to give any more information.

Now, that was a small town. She could not help knowing where any one in her social class lived. But because she had a prejudice against this family's religious denomination she refused to acknowledge their existence. No matter how much book learning she had, no matter what her superficial culture, it would be difficult to call her an educated woman in the broadest sense of the word. Yet, doubtless, she considered herself such. Every prejudice is a veil between you and the reality of life.

IN housecleaning times it is often difficult to handle mattresses and get them out into the open air for a thorough beating. One housekeeper has overcome this clumsiness by sewing strips of canvas belting, about six inches long, to each side of the mattress to serve as handles. With these two women can carry the heaviest mattress with comparative ease.

THE "FAIRY"

BY WILL SEAT.

GENA looked wistfully after the limousine that was carrying her aunt and cousins to the house party at Southbridge.

"I feel like Cinderella," sighed Gena with a whimsical smile at her charming reflection in the hall mirror. "Only there will be nothing so delightful as a benevolent fairy godmother and a handsome Prince to rescue me.

"Well, poor relations—must be poor relations. I know I should be thankful that Uncle Silas has employed me as his secretary. Ah, there is his bell—I had quite forgotten him."

She hastened to the somber brown library where Silas Bond's dome-shaped head was bent over his treasured volumes of genealogical reference. He glanced up as his niece took her seat on the opposite side of the long table.

"I missed you, Gena," he said reproachfully.

"I am sorry, uncle—I was saying good by' to the girls and I forgot to come back."

"Ha! Where are they off to now?" queried Mr. Bond, just as if his daughters had not dinned their plans into his ears every day at table.

"They have gone to Southbridge—the Dellains have a country place there. There is to be a ball tomorrow night." Gena could not keep the eagerness out of her voice.

If Silas Bond noticed it he made no sign. He picked up a pencilled memorandum and compared it with the printed page of his book.

"I've found it, Gena," he cried excitedly.

"Found what, Uncle Silas—not the missing link in the Freemer line?" asked the girl with excitement almost equal to his own.

"The very thing, my dear. Now, listen carefully. We have always argued that Abel Freemer died a bachelor, while his brother Adam married Susanna Rice of Bolton and their—"

Mr. Bond's voice droned on while he explained the matter to Gena. Together they pored over note books and ponderous volumes until the waning light brought their labors to a close.

When a servant entered the room with a telegram for Mr. Bond, Gena switched on the lights.

"My dear, a most unexpected thing has happened. Here is a message from Ralph—he has been called to San Francisco and wants me to meet him in Chicago to talk over the Colgan matter. I cannot lose the opportunity of seeing him and yet," he smiled anxiously at her, "and yet I do not like to leave you alone here with the servants."

"It can't be helped, Uncle Silas," said Gena cheerfully, though her heart sank at the very thought of the loneliness.

"Why were you not invited to the Dellams' party?" inquired Mr. Bond, suddenly voicing his latent curiosity. "I am sure you are much prettier than Edith or Sadie."

"Thank you, uncle, dear," and Gena swept him a laughing bow. She had never seen Uncle Silas in the role of flatterer and it was very sweet in one so unbending and grave.

"I shall take a royal holiday," she went on gayly as she tucked the valuable documents into the great steel safe. "I shall not even touch one of these tedious books—I shall read novels all day long."

Silas Bond smiled indulgently. He had grown very fond of this orphan niece who so faithfully and efficiently assisted him in his researches. He regretted the careless, good natured indifference to Gena's welfare that marked the attitude of his wife and daughters.

When Gena had superintended the packing of his bag and had ordered the car that he might leisurely catch the evening train for town, he bent and gave her an unexpected kiss.

"You are a good girl, Gena. Good-by, little Cinderella."

"Goodby," cried Gena cheerily, and when the motor had disappeared down the long drive she went in to eat a lonely dinner.

"A Cinderella without a fairy godmother or a princely suitor," she smiled the next morning when she looked out at the steadily falling rain.

It was a gray lonely day. Gena sat by the pleasant wood fire and alternately dreamed over a book and over her future.

She wondered if all the coming year would bring sadness and loneliness such as she had felt since the sudden death of both her parents.

As the afternoon closed in it seemed that the quiet old house was shut from the world by a wall of silver rain.

After dinner she sat by the glowing fire, a charming sight in her pale gray gown with soft lace ruffles at throat and dimpled elbows. Her pale gold hair was smoothly tucked behind her little pink ears and the curve of her rosy cheek was most alluring.

So absorbed was she in her book that she did not hear the sound of wheels on the muddy drive nor the slight confusion of an arrival.

"Good evening, my dear," said a quiet voice from the doorway.

Gena jumped up and looked around. Standing before her was a very quaint little old lady gowned in a long black velvet cloak. A tall feather in her white hair gave the impression of a fairy godmother's pointed hat. She leaned on a gold-headed cane.

"I MUST GO TO CHICAGO TONIGHT."

"O," cried Gena, "you startled me at first—I really thought you were a fairy godmother! Won't you sit down?"

She drew forward a deep chair and the little old lady sank into its depths and unfastened the diamond clasp of her velvet cloak.

She was a magnificent fairy godmother. There was a black velvet evening gown embellished with fine old lace; there was the glittering sparkle of many gems at throat and corsage and on her ungloved fingers.

Instead of a magic wand she wielded a gold lorgnon. But her dear, sweet face outshone the value of lace and velvet. Gena loved her at once.

"You will be so disappointed," she cried when she caught her breath, "but Aunt Ella and the girls are not at home; and Uncle Silas has been called away to Chicago."

The fairy godmother laughed comfortably. "I know all about that, my dear," she chuckled. "I came to see you, Gena."

Gena's blue eyes grew round with wonderment, then she clapped her hands and broke into a rippling laugh. "Then you must be a fairy godmother," she declared.

"A really and truly one, my dear," agreed her visitor smilingly. "I've come to take you to the Dellains' ball—and I hope you will find the prince there."

"O, dear—I hate to wake up," sighed Gena, pinching her round white arm.

Fairy Godmother laughed. "You will understand when I tell you that I am Mrs. Keelson—and I really am your godmother, my dear. I have been abroad for many years and lost tracy of your dear parents.

"I met your Uncle Silas last night at the Wingfield, in town, and he gave me a strong hint that a Cinderella was waiting here for a fairy godmother—so here I am in spite of the muddy roads.

"After the ball is over and you have given Mr. Bond due notice—why you can come to Fairyland and be my dear daughter if you want to—so there." She leaned over and kissed Gena's happy bewildered face.

"How did you get here?" asked the girl.

"Came from town in my own car and the roads are simply frightful. Now give me a cup of tea and then you must get ready for the ball."

"O, I am sorry, godmother, but I haven't a decent thing to wear," faltered Gena. "Nothing except an old white Cina silk and—"

"Hannah!" called Mrs. Keelson, and in response there entered a capable looking woman bearing several large boxes.

"Please unpack the ball gown I brought for Miss Bond," and then to Gena, Mrs. Keelson explained, "Here are all the pretty things for Cinderella—Hannah will fit the gown if it is too large. This is the nearest I could find to glass slippers," she smiled mischievously as Hannah laid a pair of jeweled white satin slippers in Gena's lap.

Gena laughed and cried over the beautiful peach satin gown and its accessories; then they went upstairs where supper was served to Mrs. Keelson in Gena's own room.

When at last they started for the ball the servants crowded into the hall to marvel at the sudden magnificence of sweet Miss Gena.

The moon came out and turned the hanging rain drops to diamonds, for it was a magical night and nothing was ever the same afterward. Life became beautiful and bright and full of love and happiness for Gena.

Mrs. Bond and her daughters were surprised to see such a splendidly arrayed Gena, but they were kind at heart and exerted their utmost to give her a good time.

There came a moment when the prince appeared and was presented and he turned out to be Mrs. Keelson's handsome son. It is needless to say that he fell in love with Cinderella, and before June came around the prince and Cinderella were married and Mrs. Keelson had a real daughter and Gena a devoted mother.

As for Silas Bond, who had been the instigator of all these interesting happenings, he said he was very glad because it might be very convenient to have a fairy godmother in the family.

HIS HOBBY

BY ELSIE ENDICOTT.

MRS. MADISON looked forlornly at her sister as Barbara entered the room.

"What is the matter, Alice? asked Barbara quickly.

"Barker hasn't sent the roses for the table tonight."

"Well, it is only 5 o'clock—perhaps—if you call him on the telephone—"

"My dear," Mrs. Madison spoke rather petulantly, "I've called and called and the only reply I can get is, 'They do not answer.'"

"There is only one thing to do, then," said Barbara with her customary decision: "I will go up and dress and if the roses are not here by that time I will go after them myself."

"You will get so mussy," sighed Mrs. Madison. "But it seems the only way. I will have Clark get the runabout around. I would send him only he is so stupid—doesn't know the country around here."

"He has been in Westlawn two days," excused Barbara; "I've only been here a day and a half myself, but I believe I have covered every square inch of ground in the county."

"Well, hurry along—and if you bring my roses on time I promise to send you in with Forbes Baker, although I was saving him for myself."

"Don't bother about any reward, Allie. Let me see ,what was your order?"

"Two dozen American Beauties. He has plenty for he told me so yesterday when I ordered them."

The runabout slid noiselessly down the incline to the smooth road that wandered here and there among the beautiful Summer homes perched on the green hills of Westlawn.

"Turn to the left," murmured Barbara when she reached the foot of the hill.

The left-hand road wound around a wooden knoll dropping down to the river. On one side was the sloping descent to Ripple river and the other was a blank stone wall inclosing acres of field and meadow and woodland.

"First gate on the left." Barbara reminded herself of her sister's last instructions, and presently she turned in between two rustic pillars draped in Virginia creepers.

A laborer trudging his homeward way stepped out of the path of the car.

"Is this Barker's?" asked Barbara pleasantly.

"Yah," nodded the man carelessly, and went on.

"Barker has taste," commented Barbara as she whirled up the driveway under drooping elms.

One arm of the drive swept around to the front entrance of a long gray-shingled, old-fashioned house half hidden under Virginia creepers and honeysuckles. The other arm led straight ahead past the west wing of the house, and ended at a row of greenhouses set in several acres of a glowing garden.

Near the path that bordered the garden was a huge wooden tub which held a magnificent American Beauty rosebush. Barbara paused before it with a little cry of delight. Perfection of form, color and texture of leaf, together with its crown of 20 beautiful roses, made it worthy of a prize exhibition.

THE WALK BROUGHT THEM FACE TO FACE.

Time was flying and Alice was waiting for her roses. Barbara hammered at the green house door, but the door was locked. She sped over the quiet old gray house and knocked at the closed kitchen door. There came no response.

Back she flew to the rose garden, picking up a pair of shears from a bench in passing.

A search of the garden showed that the tub contained the only American Beauty rose bush. A hurried peep into the different hothouses merely disclosed long rows of empty benches.

"Well, here goes," said Barbara, recklessly, and she carefully snipped the 20 roses from the big tree, feeling a pang of remorse as she looked at its denuded branches.

"I wish people wouldn't cut flowers," she murmured, conscience-stricken as she entered the car with her fragrant burden. "Now, if Alice had only ordered the whole tree transported to the dining room and let us gaze upon it—well—it's too late now!"

As she turned out of the avenue into the road Barbara heard a shout behind. She turned and saw a man running from the veranda of the house.

"Stop!" he called authoritatively.

"You are too late, Mr. Barker," smiled Barbara saucily to herself, and the little car darted forward and was soon out of sight around the bend of the road.

Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Madison embraced her sister and the huge bunch of roses in an ecstatic hug.

"You are just in time—all here except Mr. Baker. He is always late, but he is such a dear we don't mind. I will give these to Haksuo while you put on your gloves and slippers."

Flushed and lovely, Barbara entered the drawing room just as Haksuo announced that dinner was served. At the same moment a cool-looking dark-eyed young man was introduced as Forbes Baker.

It was not until they sat at table that barbara stole a glance at the man who had taken her in. His eyes, blazing with wrath, were fixed on the great out glass vase of roses. His face was white and Barbara noted with an odd tremor of her pulses that his hand was shaking as he raised his napkin to his lips.

A man addressed him across the table in gay reproof.

"Don't glare at Mrs. Madison's roses that way, Forbes; of course we all know you are eaten up with jealousy because they are bigger and handsomer than anything you can produce on your place."

Forbes Baker smiled grimly.

"How about your wonderful tree, Forbes?" asked Mrs. Madison. "It is ready for the exhibit? We are all dying to see it with its twenty magnificent blooms—Forbes has talked of nothing else for weeks—roses are his hobby," smiled Alice at her sister.

But barbara sat in a frozen silence. A great fear had come over her. The meal seemed hours long.

Forbes Baker uttered a few commonplaces but it was evident that his mind was on other matters. Barbara was glad that she did not have to talk.

She knew Mrs. Madison would scold her afterwards for her stupidity—but she didn't care—nothing mattered any more. She had committed a crime—a theft. She had stolen Mr. Baker's prize roses from his bush. It was her own fault—to take it for granted that that lovely old place was Barker's. She knew that Barker was a "gentleman-florist" and she had not been surprised at the surroundings.

Forbes Baker found her in the garden, wandering drearily among the paths. They came face to face and Baker tossed away his cigar and turned to walk beside her.

Before his lips could form a sentence regarding the beauty of the dusky, moonlit garden, Barbara had turned to him with outstretched hands and beautiful pleading face.

"I am so sorry—O, so sorry", she said shakily.

"Sorry?" he asked a little vaguely.

"About your roses—you—you—recognized them?"

"Yes. Then it was you—I saw someone in a motor car leaving my place—then you took them?"

There was carefully suppressed anger in his tone, but there was wonderment in the blue eyes fixed on Barbara's tearful face.

"Why did you take them?" he asked gently.

Barbara told him frankly; related the plight of her sister over the delinquency of the faithless Barker—told of her own hurried search for the 'gentleman florist'—of the stolid laborer who had undoubtedly misunderstood her inquiry—and in a sudden floor of shamed tears she told how she had cut the 20 beautiful blooms from the rose tree.

"You should have turned to the right at the foot of the hill and Barker's place is the first place on the left. It is not worth one tear from your eyes, Miss Ware. I'm afraid I've acted like a beast over the whole thing. That's the worst of having a hobby—one becomes such a fool over it. Please—please—there, that's better," he smiled down at her with tender eyes.

Barbara smiled wanly.

"But you will be so disappointed at not exhibiting the tree," she said forlornly. "You can never grow just such another splendid bush."

"Never mind—I'm rather thinking of cultivating another variety of roses," said Forbes gravely, and something in his eyes brought wave after wave of lovely color to Barbara's cheeks until she looked like a fragrant pink rose herself.

CAPTURING A LOVER

BY WALTER GREGORY.

DON'T move, or I shall shoot!"

The clear girlish voice rang out with unmistakable emphasis.

"How careless that would be," replied the man in a tone of gentle irony.

He paused in his efforts to get himself and a pair of saddlebags over the rude fence, and turned calmly in the direction of the voice.

A black-haired, black-eyed girl of about 20 stood at the edge of the clearing, not two rods away. She had on a serviceable brown suit and leggings, her cloth cap was slightly askew—and she was pointing straight at him a light but businesslike rifle.

"Excuse me for referring to it," he said quietly, standing motionless by the fence, "but if you keep up that careless, unsociable way of pointing guns at people, some day there'll be an accident."

"If you resist, or try to draw your gun, I'll shoot you sure as fate," exclaimed the girl, "and I can shoot straight, too. Put up your hands!"

"Before you get utterly foolish, and do anything you may be sorry for," said the man, disregarding the order, and still leaning easily against the fence, "stop and think whether you hadn't better tell me what is on your mind, and why you threaten to murder an unarmed stranger."

"As if you didn't know, and you standing there with the saddle-bags themselves—my own saddle-bags, and the money probably still in them."

"O, as for these saddle-bags, well, perhaps there is more method in your madness than there seemed to be at first. Do these belong to you?"

"Of course they do; and you are the robber who stole them from our stable last night; and there is my silver monogram on them; and what have you done with my horse? And, O, you robber and murderer, I ought to shoot you anyway. But if you will keep your hands up and walk ahead of me, I will take you back to Clinton and give you up. I don't know but they will hang you as soon as you get there. They ought to."

"My dear young lady," said the man, with unruffled calm, to the panting girl, whose eyes blazed anew at this address, "I can see that there is some reason back of your mistake. But you are making a complete blunder. I am no robber. And these saddle bags I found—"

"No doubt!" said the girl, with ragging sarcasm; "found them growing on a huckleberry bush probably. And you didn't shoot at the cashier of the Clinton bank; and you didn't steal my horse and saddle last night to escape with; and there aren't 100 men with guns looking for you this minute. Now, I tell you what, I mean business! Will you surrender, or shall I shoot?"

"Well, on reflection, I think I'll surrender."

"Put up your hands then. I shall make you walk ahead of me and carry those bags."

"How can I carry them with my hands above my head?"

"Well, you know what I mean. You must, aren't you a horrid villain! You smile as if it was all a joke. Take up those bags at once and go ahead; and remember, my rifle will be pointed at you all the time. And I shall be close behind you."

She started toward him. But she had not fully counted on the difficulty of keeping a steady aim and at the same time walking over the very rough ground. Her foot caught in a root; and she fell flat, the rifle going off as it struck.

In three leaps the man was at her side, one hand grasping her weapon, and one held out to assist her. She sprang to her feet; and her brave, bewitching little face went deathly white.

"Now, fortunately, you will be compelled to listen to me," said the man in the same quiet, commanding tone that he had used throughout. "See, my mistaken young friend, I have your rifle. You are powerless now. Pray, keep your self-control, and just listen reasonably to what I have to say. I wouldn't harm you for the world. And I am no more a bank robber than you are."

The girl stood white and motionless, her lips trying not to tremble.

"I am a lumber surveyor, a stranger in this part of Michigan. I walked over from Fort Coleman this morning. More than an hour ago, down the road, I met a riderless horse, a white horse, with one dark stocking. I tried to catch him; but he was shy. These bags I found while I was prospecting through the woods; they lay near the body of a man in that clump of bushes over there. You can go over and look at the body, if you don't believe me. I guess he is your robber all right; and I guess he didn't get away without carrying some lead in him.

"I looked in the bags and found they were stuffed with bankbills, and I guessed pretty near what had happened. I was trying to find my way to the nearest town when you suddenly hailed me."

The reaction was too much for the girl, who was, after all, little more than a child. She swayed unsteadily. The man caught her by the arm; supported her to a big log and she sat down.

"I guess I probably made a mistake," came at length, in rather a faint voice. "You don't talk much like a robber. And you don't look much like one," glancing up into the clean-cut, manly face.

"YOU KNOW I'M ONLY SIX YEARS OLDER."

"I ask you to excuse me. I was dreadfully excited. Father taught me to shoot; and I love to go around in the woods. But I had no idea of meeting the robber. They all thought he would strike toward the Canada line. When I saw those saddle-bags, I was dead sure you must be the robber."

"You couldn't very well think anything else. But my name is John Carleton, and I am in the employ of the Western & Northern. When you are sufficiently rested we will go to Clinton together, and I will introduce myself properly to your father. I am expecting to spend most of this season in the vicinity of Clinton."

Three months later, in the dusk of a beautiful, balmy evening, John Carleton and Vivien Larocha were talking together. He had seen much of her during these happy summer weeks, and was an honored guest at her father's house whenever he called.

"Miss Laroche, I often think of our first meeting, and what a brave, piquant little figure it was that ordered me to put up my hands."

"Let's leave that to rest in the past," The girl's flush was partly concealed by the gathering twilight. "At any rate, my horse, and the bank's money both came back, and nobody was hurt but the poor robber. You must have thought me a bloodthirsty child."

"Not so horribly bloodthirsty. I noticed how you trembled; and I noticed later how you shrank from the spot of blood on the saddle bag. Not very bloodthirsty, but just plucky—and bewitching!

"As for the child part of it, why, I am only 6 years older than you. Do you know, dear child, dear girl, dear woman, my thoughts have been very full of you the past few weeks.

"I did not know then that it was Fate that called on me to surrender; but it was not long afterward that it began to dawn on me, and I know it now. Dearest, come to me for life."

Without a single word the girl nestled close up to him in the eventide. Then his hand found her's, and her head rested on his shoulder.

"Darling," he whispered at last, "on that blessed day you did not, indeed, capture a bank robber, but you captured a willing servant and lover for the rest of your life."

The Fussy Bachelor.

"Yes," said the proud mother, "we are going to name the baby Theodore, but we feel confident he will make a name for himself before he is 25."

"He'll be lucky," growled the fussy old bachelor, "if he doesn't have two or three aliases by that time."

Same Old Story.

Mrs Howells—How much does your husband earn a week?

Mrs. Growells—Oh, anywhere from $15 to $25 more than he gets.

Pearl—Yes, our college had a female baseball team.

Ruby—Did you have any good catchers?

Pearl—I should say so. Five of them caught husbands the first season and broke up the team.

Not Much Difference.

CHILD DIES FROM BURNS; MOTHER IS DYING

Alcohol Stove Explodes and Sets Clothing Of Victims Afire

Mother, With Clothes Ignited Rushes With Child In Arms to Ditch

Tony Paviglianiti, 1 year and 9 months old, was burned to death, and his mother, Mrs. Rosie Paviglianiti, lies hovering between life and death as the result of an explosion of an alcohol stove yesterday morning in their home three miles this side of Clovis. Mrs. Paviglianiti was warming milk over the stove when the explosion occurred.

With her clothes on fire and those of the child also in flames the mother dashed to a tub in an effort to save the boys life, but there was no water in the tub. In desperation the woman, her garments afire, raced from the house to an irrigation ditch some yards away and submerged herself in the water.

Neighbors were warned of the tragedy by flames which shot upward from an awning made of dead limbs which was ignited when Mrs. Paviglianiti passed under it on her way to the stream.

An hour after the explosion the child breathed its last. Neighbors took charge of Mrs. Paviglianiti and took her into the house, while medical aid was summoned.

Dr. McMurtry of Clovis was the first to arrive and was later reinforced by Dr. Cowan of this city. The physicians said that Mrs. Paviglianiti had slight chances for recovery. From head to foot her body was covered with burns.

Paviglianiti, the husband, is a rancher and was away from home at the time of the explosion. The timely arrival of the neighbors prevented the house from being destroyed.

Deputy Coroner L. O. Stephens went to Clovis yesterday afternoon to conduct the inquest over the childs body. The verdict of the jury was "Death from accidental burns from the explosion of an alcohol stove."

LIEUTENANT MEYER OF MILITIA RESIGNS

Second Lieutenant Meyer of Company K of the National Guard in Fresno has tendered his resignation, owing to personal business interests. The resignation was accepted at a recent meeting and a successor will be elected within the next week. According to an order received by Captain Kelly from San Francisco, all officers must fill vacancies immediately. This bulletin was issued in order to have the state militia ready to move at a moment's notice. Several have been mentioned as probable successors to Meyer, although Captain Kelly refuses to give their names.

HOLDING SCHOOL IN PRIMITIVE FASHION

At Big Creek, Pupils Sit On Boxes and Bench and Haven't a Book

"I cannot well conceive how a young and inexperienced normal school graduate would manage under the conditions presented up there, and even as it is an experienced teacher as Mrs. Ethel Q. Porterfield is all up in the air and helpless," remarked yesterday Field Deputy School Superintendent Balch on return from his visit to the new Big Creek school which formally opened for the term last Monday.

Deputy Balch reported that the school has not a book, not a desk or seat, not a blackboard, not a piece of crayon, not even a sheet of paper among its supplies. The desks and seats have been ordered, are expected any day but for some reason have not yet been received. The pupils are seated on a wooden bench fastened up against the wall with the window ledge on a line with their necks so that they must sit in a semi stooping posture. Those that cannot be accommodated on the bench make themselves as comfortable as possible with packing boxes as individual seats. The teacher is doing the best she can with borrowed books under the primitive conditions that beset her.

The school has an attendance of 17 pupils, though this number has been reduced from 23 because of departures from the mountain. The Big Creek school will not be a summer school as are the others in the mountains but will continue through the winter season and as an eight-months term school.

At Pine Ridge below Armstrong's was found a school of 11 pupils, including two boys. At this mountain school, Mr. Balch says he found what he did not look for in such an out of the way place. This was a children's playground in the school yard, equipped with home-made apparatus constructed by W. H. Hauert the teacher of last term, the teacher for this term, Mr. Hollingsworth, taking equally as great interest in this feature of school work. They have three swings in the school yard, a 15-foot high "tetter board" swing besides several other pieces of apparatus.

At Shaver the school attendance was found reduced from 25 to 13 because of the departure of mill operatives. The school here will run two months longer.

FRESNO LABOR OPPOSES HINDOO IMPORTATION

Resolutions and Affidavits Will Be Forwarded To Caminetti

Delegates to the Fresno Labor Council went on record last night opposing the importation of Hindu laborers into California, when Secretary F. P. Lamoreaux was instructed to draw resolutions and forward them to A. Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration. The action was taken following the reading of a telegram from Paul Scharrenburg, secretary of the California State Federation of Labor.

According to the telegram, commercial interests of the west have filed a number of affidavits with Caminetti, which state that the people of California heartily endorse the importation of Hindus. Lamoreux will also obtain affidavits from Judges Church and Austin and different fruit men of the San Joaquin valley and forward them to Caminetti in rebuttal.

Credentials from William Hollingshead of Brewery Workers' union were received and the delegate obligated and seated.

LAWYER PARDONED.

SACRMENTO, Sept. 12—Harry McKee, a San Diego lawyer and Socialist who has been serving a three months' sentence in the San Diego jail under a conspiracy charge today was pardoned by Governor Johnson.

McKee was arrested during the recent Industrial Workers of the World disturbances in San Diego and when taken into custody was conducting a campaign to test the street speaking ordinance.

COMMITTEE OBTAINS $1000 FOR LABOR CONVENTION

Two Thousand Will Be In Treasury Before 20th Of This Month

Lamoreux Will Attend Meeting of Executive Board September 28

One thousand dollars, one-half of the amount necessary for the entertainment of delegates to the annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor in Fresno, October 6 to 12, inclusive, is now in the possession of the convention committee, according to the statement of Chairman F. P. Lamoreux last night at the meeting of the committee in Union Hall. The remaining $1000 will be in the hands of the committee within the next few days, as all money must be in the treasury before September 20. Plans relative to the convention were discussed last night at the meeting.

The entire $2000, the amount necessary to defray the expenses of the convention, will be raised by the unions. Several months ago an assessment of 33 1-3 cents a member, for three months, was levied on each union. There are approximately 3500 union men in Fresno, which will give the committee abundant capital to adequately handle the situation.

A contract for Old Armory Hall has been closed with the management and the labor sessions will be held in this building. Former plans were for the Rowell Auditorium but the convention hall will not be completed in time for the meeting. A complete entertainment program has been arranged. This includes various side trips to points of interest in and about Fresno. Kearney Park and estate will be visited by the delegates.

Lamoreux leaves September 23 for San Francisco, where he will attend the final meeting of the executive board of the California State Federation of Labor before the annual convention. Plans relative to the convention, as well as general labor matters, will be taken up at the meeting.

One of the principal things to be considered by the executive board is the program for the convention here in October. Already, the San Francisco labor men have received the designs for the badges and the program for entertainment but the order of the business sessions is yet to be worked out.

VALLEY DENTISTS TO CONVENE HERE TODAY

Business Session and Banquet Tonight, Dental Photo Play

The bi-monthly business meeting and banquet of the San Joaquin Valley Dental Association will be held tonight in the Sequoia Hotel. Valley dentists are gathering in Fresno for the express purpose of seeing the photoplay on the care of the teeth at the Fresno Photo Theater today. Twenty-five dentists are expected to attend.

Members of the association will gather in the Sequoia Hotel at 6 o'clock for the banquet. Directly following the repast, the business session will be held. No formal program has been prepared, the session to consist of short addresses by the various dentists. The meeting is more of a get-acquainted gathering. President George Hodges of Turlock will occupy the chair.

Under the auspices of the association, the dental film will be shown at the local theater for the first time this morning. Children will be admitted free of charge. The association members will attend in a body tonight.

EXTRA CUTTING OF ALFALFA IS MADE

Recent Rains Mean 12,000 Tons of Hay for Farmers Near Here

Over 12,000 acres of alfalfa will produce an extra cutting of hay this season as a result of the extra flow of water for irrigation purposes received from the Kings river. This added supply of water in Kings was due to the rains of last month, not only in the valley itself but in the mountains also.

It is estimated that this land will produce an average cutting of over a ton of alfalfa to the acre, or a total of over 12,000 tons of hay value at about $8 a ton. Some of this land in many cases produced at this cutting, which in most cases was the fifth for the year, (in some cases it was the sixth) two tons to the acre.

I. Teilman, manager of the Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company, said last night that 3,000 acres of alfalfa near Rolinda, 2500 acres on the Kearney estate and about 4,000 acres in various parts, not including the Sycamore ranches, produced an extra cutting this season as a result of the added supply from Kings river.

The Wells Realty Company of this city estimates that an extra cutting of alfalfa was received off of approximately 2,500 acres of land in the Sycamore ranch property. They also attribute this extra cutting to the recent rise in Kings.
